STATE COURT UPHOLDS TALMADGE ROAD BOARD AS BARNETT LOSES SUIT TO OUST MANGHAM

Power Firms Cited To Appear at Rate Cut Hearing

SWEEPING ORDER MADE RETURNABLE HERE NOVEMBER 7

Every Concern Ordered To Show Cause Why Commercial and Domestic Electric Schedules Should Not Be Slashed.

RULE NISI AFFECTS 90 PCT. OF USERS

Industrial and Municipal Consumers Not Involved in Service Commission's Unheralded Move.

In the most sweeping order it has issued since the ouster of the old board, the Georgia public service commission Wednesday cited every electric light and power company in Georgia to show cause why domestic and commercial electric rates should not be reduced.

The companies were commanded in the order to appear before the commission at a public hearing in the senate chamber of the state capitol here next November 7, but it is expected that the commission will consider cases of the various power firms one at a time.

The issuance of the rule nisi, or show cause order, against the electric companies follows action of the new commission recently in promulgating similar orders against all telephone companies and railroad companies to show cause why their rates should not be lowered. Only freight rates were included in the railroad order.

Talmadge Makes No Comment.

Governor Eugene Talmadge, who ousted the old commission from office recently on charges of neglect of duty, said he had no comment to make on Wednesday's action. "I've already done my talking about that," he said. Apparently referring either to his comments in speeches recently that the new public service commission would help electric customers or he would get a commission that would, or to his ouster of the old board or to his campaign promise of lower utility rates.

The order of the commission Wednesday came unheralded. It was made public by Jud P. Wilhoit, of Warrenton, chairman of the commission. In ordering the power companies to show cause why their rates should not be reduced, the commission aimed at both the charges for actual current consumed, and at any extra, or service charges. It cited the companies to show why "the prevailing rates for domestic and commercial electric service should not be reduced and all extra charges for services by whatsoever names they are called should not be reduced and/or eliminated."

Rate Revision Ridiculed.

Only a few months before the old public service commission was ousted from office it revised the rates of the Georgia Power Company, the state's largest power concern. The service charge form of rate was at that time eliminated, but the revision was ridiculed by prosecutors

37 MILLION GRANT TO BUILD TUNNEL

Allotment to New York Brings Public Works Total to $1,327,896,138.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A loan of $37,500,000 to the port of New York authority for a mid-town vehicular tunnel under the Hudson river today brought total allotments from the public works fund to $1,327,896,138.

This advance, to finance construction of a tunnel under the Hudson from New York to Weehawken, New Jersey, carried the public works administration's total approvals for the day from the $3,300,000,000 fund over the $55,000,000 mark.

Earlier, it announced allocations of $15,415,000 for construction work on 14 irrigation projects in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Oregon and Utah, and $2,250,000 for the naval hospital at Philadelphia.

Loan.

The allotment for the tunnel was on the basis of a loan and did not contain the proviso that 30 per cent of the total would be made as an outright grant upon completion of the project. Such grants are authorized under the law creating the public

Wife-Beater Is Slain In Attack on Officer

Oscar F. Johnson, about 50, of 698 Bryan street, was shot and killed at about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by Patrolman C. V. Lee, who was called to the house by a report that Johnson, a night watchman, was beating his wife. In his official report Lee said Johnson had barricaded himself in the house after chasing his wife from the place and that as he was calling the police station for reinforcements Johnson ran out with a pistol in his hand.

The policeman reported he grappled with Johnson and tried to take the pistol from him. Johnson broke away Lee said, and aimed the pistol at him, whereupon he fired at him. The policeman's shot took effect in Johnson's chest. He was taken to Grady hospital and was pronounced dead.

Johnson is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. W. T. Cato, and Mrs. D. D. Patrick; and a son, Leanard Webb, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Harry G. Poole.

ROOSEVELT GIVES GENERAL JOHNSON FORD NRA PUZZLE

Three Courses Open to Administrator in Case of Auto Manufacturer Not Under Code.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A nearly completed bituminous coal code, disputes over price-fixing in the charter for retailers and the question of dealing with Henry Ford's attitude tonight awaited Hugh S. Johnson's attention as he sped back from Boston.

The administrator's chief deputies were pushing the two major codes toward completion—with indications that the retail agreement would not be ready for President Roosevelt's approval before next week—but the chief executive had placed the Ford matter squarely before Johnson.

Mr. Roosevelt asked his recovery chieftain for a full report on the failure of the Detroit motor magnate to affiliate himself with the code promulgated for the auto industry. While word from Hyde Park, New York, indicated the president was considering action before he starts his cruise back to the capital tomorrow, he asked only for full information.

Long known as an independent in the automobile world, the Ford Motor Company never has affiliated with the national automobile chamber of commerce, whose members drafted the code. The Lincoln Motor Company, also operated by Ford, is a member, however.

Three Alternatives.

If Ford declines to sign the code, there are three alternatives that might be adopted by President Roosevelt should he decide upon direct action.

First, under the recovery act he might license the automobile industry and the owner of any firm then operating without a permit would be subject to a $500 fine and six months' jail sentence, with each day's operation considered a separate offense; second, by withholding the blue eagle and singling Ford out for criticism he might direct public opinion against the manufacturer's products; and, third, he might permit Ford to submit a separate code.

Johnson said yesterday, however, he would not take this last course and added:

"I think the American people will crack down on him (Ford) when the blue eagle is on other cars."

The administrator said even should Ford pay higher wages and work his employes fewer hours than provided in the code, he would not receive the NRA insignia without co-operating to the extent of signing the agreement.

Marketing Planned.

As the final drafting of the bituminous coal code went forward, based upon the agreement between operators and miners reached Monday night, plans for co-operative marketing of the product were proceeding apace.

Under the intentions of the operators, the entire Appalachian coal industry will be blanketed with selling agencies modeled on Appalachian Coals, Inc., whose legitimacy within the anti-trust laws was established last year by the supreme court.

It was understood separate agencies would be worked out for commercial operations in northern West Virginia, western Pensylvania and central Pennsylvania, the marketing to be under government supervision.

Appalachian Coals, Inc., was created to stabilize the industry and the government co-operated in a test case to determine whether it violated the anti-trust laws.

Since then the recovery act has suspended temporarily the full operation of the anti-trust laws, although Attorney-General Cummings still is watching all combines closely to prevent monopolies or oppression of small enterprises.

Anthracite Next.

Completion of the bituminous coal code is expected within the next few days, and the administration has received information that a charter for the anthracite industry soon will be forthcoming for hearings.

Work on the intricate retail code was assuming increased importance at the NRA, and officials were endeavor-

Federal Grant Sought For Gulf-to-Sea Canal

T. Guy Woolford Heads Group of Georgians and Floridans Requesting Public Works Money.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—An amended application was filed with the national public works administration today by T. Guy Woolford, of Atlanta, as chairman of the Atlantic ocean to the Gulf of Mexico canal commission, asking for a loan of $125,000,000 to build a ship canal across lower Georgia and the upper Florida peninsula.

Previously Mr. Woolford and his associates on the commission had proposed only a barbe canal costing $49,000,000.

The decision to seek the larger project was reached after a conference with President Roosevelt held at the time a delegation from Georgia came to Washington recently to present the original barge canal petition. Mr. Roosevelt himself is said to have suggested amending the application.

At the same time the commission revised its engineering plans for the project giving the proposed canal a terminus on the Gulf of Mexico some 10 or 15 miles below St. Marks, Fla., whereas the barge canal would have touched the gulf farther north. The St. Mary's river, forming a part of the boundary line between Georgia and Florida, was retained as the Atlantic terminus.

Designed to save shipping upwards of 500 miles passage around the Florida keys, the ship canal would have a depth of 38 feet, sufficient to accommodate regular ocean vessels.

Mr. Woolford, who has been urging the project for a number of years, said data had been presented to public works officials showing that the expenditure was capable of providing employment for 20,000 to 30,000 men. Six years would be required to complete the canal, which would have a total of seven locks spread out over 166 miles, the length of the project.

After presenting the amended application to the public works administration, headed by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, the Atlanta man conferred with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. Robert, a member of the public works board, and Major General Lytle Brown, chief of the army board of engineers. Both Mr. Robert and General Brown promised their co-operation in advancing the project, Mr. Woolford said.

President Roosevelt is known to have expressed a keen interest in the Atlantic to the gulf canal and is reported to have gone so far as to promise its adoption provided a survey now being undertaken by the army engineers pronounces the project feasible from an economic standpoint. Already the engineers have reported on its physical practicability. The economic survey will be ready within a few months at the latest, it is asserted.

Several routes have been suggested for the canal and it is understood that civic organizations from Florida have prepared briefs for presentation to the public works administration urging that it adopt an all-Florida course if the project is finally approved. Advocates of the St. Mary's and St. Marks route are prepared to show, however, that their project would cost upwards of $20,000,000 less than any Florida route proposed.

In filing an amended application, Mr. Woolford laid before officials today an elaborate series of charts prepared by the engineering firm of W. S. Lee, of Charlotte, N. C., who has been retained by the commission to present technical details.

Later it is proposed to ask for a formal hearing on the application after officials have had an opportunity to give it preliminary consideration.

THOUSANDS GIVEN WORK IN ATLANTA

NRA Canvass Shows 3,081 Have Obtained Jobs. Pay Roll Gains $3,000,000

Thousands of new jobs have been created and increased wages and salaries in Atlanta running into millions of dollars annually is the result so far of the NRA, according to records compiled by the campaign committee and 460 Junior Chamber of Commerce workers who this week are canvassing the city, calling on every employer.

Workers gathered after the day's canvass to report that 131 new firms had been signed under the blue eagle and that 674 firms called upon were previously operating under the NRA.

Figures totaled through Tuesday show that annual pay rolls have been increased by $2,921,544 and 3,081 new employes have been added by the 2,930 firms called upon. Announcement today of figures gathered Wednesday is expected to swell the total to near the $4,000,000 mark in increased pay rolls and show new employes above the 4,000 mark.

Campaign leaders were optimistic regarding the success of the drive and pointed out that hardly one-half of the firms in the city have been called on so far. They expect to see every employer by Friday night and end the campaign. The number of employes added by reporting firms through Tuesday approximates an 11 per cent increase.

100 New Firms Signed.

The number of concerns called on Tuesday was 1,175, a figure smaller than the 1,755 calls made Monday, the first day of the canvass. It was shown that many firms who have not signed the NRA agreement have added a total of 123 new employes, a fact which campaign leaders said indicated that nearly every employer is doing his best to co-operate in the drive back to business stability. More than 100 new firms were signed up Tuesday.

Since the campaign began, work-

BOARD TO RECEIVE SEWER FUND PLEA

City, County Will File Joint Application Today for Loan of $8,910 000.

Mayor James L. Key, George F. Longino, chairman of the Fulton county commission, and W. E. Mitchell, chairman of a citizens' commission which has passed on all public works projects for which federal aid has been sought planned Wednesday to head a strong delegation of Atlantans at 10 o'clock this morning to appeal to the Georgia public works board to provide $8,910,000 for sewer modernization for metropolitan Atlanta.

Key and Longino scheduled meetings of city council and the commissioners for this afternoon, but planned to as kthe Georgia board to approve the loan for this area contingent on approval of the suggested joint application which the board has pointed out would strengthen the posliton of both governments.

The council will meet at the city hall at 2 o'clock, and the board at the courthouse at 2:30 o'clock. Longino has tentatively set a board meeting for 2:30 Wednesday but changed the day when it was found several members could not attend Wednesday.

Several members of city council, including Alderman Frank H. Reynolds, chairman of council's sewer committee, will accompany the mayor, and Walter C. Hendrix, chairman of the public works committee of the Fulton county commissioners, will back Longino in the request to the public works board. Mitchell will be supported by all members of the citizens' commission.

All officials will pledge that their respective governments will approve the joint application which the Georgia board suggested, and will urge immediate approval by the latter in order that transmission to Washington may be expedited.

UNIV. OF GEORGIA ARMS THIEF HELD AS BANK ROBBER

Bank of Brewton Held Up With Machine Gun Taken From Arsenal at Athens.

DUBLIN, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A posse tonight captured a man who said he is Frank W. Elmore and identified him as the bandit who robbed the Bank of Brewton of $7,000 today, and also as a fugitive sought for theft of arms from the University of Georgia arsenal.

The man ran into a trap laid by officers in a swamp near here. Seeing the game was up, he scattered the bank loot through the swamps and discarded his guns.

Officers recovered all but $300 of the loot by retracing Elmore's trail. They also recovered a machine gun which they said was stolen from the University of Georgia several weeks ago.

Elmore said he is 31 and an aviator. Police at Americus said he had an airplane at Miami.

At time of the university theft, when arms and ammunition were stolen, it was reported that the equipment was taken for sale to Cuban rebels. Three youths were arrested for the university robbery, but a fourth escaped.

The Bank of Brewton was robbed today by a bandit who covered the cashier—J. B. Herndon—with a machine gun and forced him to pack $7,000 to a waiting automobile. The cashier was kidnaped and taken two miles out of town, where the bandit released him.

The car was found later and officers surrounded it. Elmore came to the car tonight and was captured without violence.

Elmore formerly lived in Americus. His wife and two children have been in North Carolina and were reported en route to Americus from Asheville.

Dublin police announced tonight that they also had arrested another aviator booked as Lewis Clarke, charging him with being an accomplice in the robbery. It was Clarke, the police said, who parked the second car along the Oconee river which they said Elmore admitted he was to use in making his escape.

VIVID HOLD-UP STORY TOLD BY BANK CASHIER

BREWTON, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A sudden command to "Stick 'em up" turned a routine day for the Bank of Brewton into one of excitement and resulted in the loss of some $7,000 to a robber with a submachine gun.

J. B. Herndon, cashier of the bank, was alone in the cage early today, working over some papers. Suddenly he was startled by the command, and found himself facing the machine gun.

The man was about 35 years of age, weighed about 165, and was coatless and tieless, Herndon later

650 Mill Employes On Strike at Rome

ROME, Ga., Aug. 30.—D. D. Towers, local manager of the Anchor Duck Mills, today refused to comment on a strike of 650 employes of the mill who have been out since Tuesday morning. He said he had made no statement to anyone regarding the matter and would not do so.

Tonight the workers were still congregated in front of the mill, but no disorders were reported. Last night the strikers were entertained by a string band and a street dance. They are picketing the mill to prevent any workers from entering.

It is understood a government official is en route here to settle the strike, but this could not be confirmed from either side.

REGISTRATION LIST AUDIT DEMANDED

Milam To Ask Thorough Probe; Sunday Baseball Referendum Is Denied.

Thorough purging of the city registration list of 21,000 names for the September 20 primary will be demanded today in council, it was announced Wednesday by Councilman Aubrey Milam, of the eighth ward, as the Fulton county grand jury prepared to investigate charges of irregularities and as the sub-committee of the city democratic executive committee voted not to ask a referendum on Sunday baseball and movies.

Milam's announcement came on the heels of additional charges that the names of non-residents—some of whom live as far as 40 miles from Atlanta—appeared on the list, in addition to the admitted fact that minors are included in the list of those eligible to cast ballots and that the names of deceased persons also are among those listed.

"I think council should take whatever steps are necessary to purge the list of every person not entitled to vote," Milam said. "No matter what action the grand jury may take in the premises, it is up to council to take every precaution to insure a fair and honest primary for the selection of municipal officials.

"It is my intention to ask council to take the name of every minor, nonresident, deceased person and every one who has not paid city and county taxes from the registration list. That is the least council can do."

Boykin Launches Probe.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin Wednesday afternoon turned his attention to the registration list, having virtually closed a probe of the police courtesy card matter in which cards

Extradition of Sapiro, Capone Transfer Linked

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman was told today that the state of Illinois plans to take Al Capone, gang leader, from his cell in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and put him on trial in Chicago with Aaron Sapiro for conspiracy in a laundry racket, if Illinois can extradite Sapiro from New York and get federal permission for Capone's return.

Ardent Courtship by Broker Described by Claire Windsor

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Claire Windsor, golden haired stage and screen player, told of an ardent courtship by Alfred C. Read, handsome Oakland broker, in the trial today of the $100,000 alienation of affections suit brought against her by Read's former wife, Mrs. Marion Read.

Miss Windsor informed the jury of seven men and five women that she had been deceived by Read's marital status when she first met him on a transcontinental train. She testified after her counsel, in questioning prospective jurors, had hinted they would attempt to show Read's affections possibly were alienated in another love affair before his asserted courtship of Miss Windsor.

While one of the many letters which passed between the broker and Miss Windsor was read into court records, Mrs. Read stared steadily at the actress on the witness stand. Mrs. Read charged in her suit that Miss Windsor was the aggressor in the affair and "inaugurated a campaign to alienate Read's affections."

The letter, written by Miss Windsor to Read three hours after he left New York on one of his numerous trips east, opened with "Darling" and ended with "My devoted love to you." It was signed "Claire."

"You have been gone only three hours," the letter said. "It seems so strange to come up to my room and not call you to let you know I am here, and in a few minutes I'll be eating alone—I won't go upstairs but to the little room below where we have breakfast every morning. Everyone seems to know you were gone for many came up to me and asked if I felt blue. I guess I must have looked rather gone and far away. I miss you dreadfully, my sweet. Give my best to Frank and my devoted love to you."

That letter, Miss Windsor testified, was written when she thought Read soon would be divorced. She said she was positive the broker told her the truth about his broken marriage be-

One Killed, One Dying After Fight on Train

NEWNAN, Ga., Aug. 30.—D. W. Wiley, assistant special agent of the Atlanta and West Point railway, was found shot to death in a car of a freight train when it stopped at Hogansville last night. A man, said to be Z. L. Hardy, who had been beating his way on the freight, was picked up in the yards here in a serious condition from bullet wounds. He is in the Newnan hospital, not expected to live.

It is believed that Wiley caught Hardy and two others stealing a ride on the freight train and attempted to put them off. Two escaped, but Wiley and Hardy evidently engaged in a gun battle.

Wiley has been with the A. & W. P. railway for about five years. His home was in Cheraw, Ala., and he is survived by his wife and one daughter.

Huge Still Is Raided, Three Men Arrested

One of the largest stills found by federal prohibition agents of the Atlanta office in several weeks was raided only 300 yards off the state highway near Dalton, Ga., Wednesday morning by Agents V. H. Hilton, J. W. Cole and M. M. Paradise. Rayman Connelley, Fred L. Dupree and Herman W. Parker were brought before Commissioner E. S. Griffith on charges of manufacturing whisky and were held for federal court under $1,000 bond each.

The still was one of the most complete found in this section in months. A steam engine furnished power and 100 gallons of whisky a day could be turned out, Connelley, who said he owned the still, told the commissioner. He added that he was paying Dupree $7.50 and Parker $5 a week for five days work. Several hundred gallons of still mash and 350 gallons of high grade whisky were destroyed.

Federal Powers for Police Of Nation Urged Before Bar

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A revolutionary plan to unite the nation's police forces into one huge army crusading against crime with the backing of the national guard and the regular army was placed before the American Bar Association today by the man in charge of the government's war on rackets and kidnaping—Assistant Attorney General Pat Malloy.

The suggestion from the official high in the Washington administration shouldered interest in the organization's official attitude toward the national recovery program out of the picture. Comment ranged from protests that the project would be impossible to tentative expressions of belief that it might work.

Federal Commissions.

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states. But the president—Clarence E. Martin—also had warned that the crime situation is getting out of hand and declared that "candor compels the admission that America is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Martin also had said that, in the absence of court decisions, the association should support the recovery program as a temporary expedient. He had no immediate comment on Malloy's proposal to put the national government above the states in law enforcement.

Malloy said the plan was his own, but had the endorsement of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings.

Speaking in crisp sentences, Malloy declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

Federalize.

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistants, every state

ONLY 50 MINUTES REQUIRED BY JURY TO REACH VERDICT

Haralson County Veniremen, After Three-Day Trial, Decide That Governor's Appointee Is Entitled to Chairmanship.

EX-CHAIRMAN FILES NEW TRIAL MOTION

Barnett Says He Will Carry Fight to Supreme Court, If Necessary. Judge Sets Hearing.

By BEN COOPER.
Staff Correspondent.

BUCHANAN, Ga., Aug. 30.—Governor Eugene Talmadge's administration, after repelling all assaults through federal courts upon the reorganization of the state highway department, was upheld by a state tribunal this afternoon when a jury in Haralson superior court decided that J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, appointed by Talmadge to fill the vacancy of highway board chairman, created by alleged abandonment of office by Captain J. W. Barnett, is legally entitled to the office.

Barnett, whose previous efforts to regain his position as chairman, included two unsuccessful assaults in federal court on Talmadge's martial law control, immediately filed a motion for a new trial and announced his intention of carrying the fight to the supreme court, if necessary. Judge James R. Hutcheson, of the Tallapoosa circuit, set the motion for a hearing at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in Douglasville.

Jury Out 50 Minutes.

Decision of the jury was reached after 50 minutes of deliberation, and was announced in court by E. O. Strickland, foreman. The jury retired to discuss the case after a 30-minute charge by Judge Hutcheson, in which the court told the jurors that actions of the governor were presumed to be legal until proved to the contrary, and that it was the duty of the highway board to consult the attorney-general in any legal action, under the reorganization act.

The famous John N. Holder case, in which the then chairman was removed by Governor Clifford Walker by a declaration that the office of chairman was vacated, figured prominently in the citations of legal authorities. Counsel for Mangham contended that the Holder and Barnett cases were different in that while Walker vacated Holder's job, Governor Talmadge appointed Mangham to a vacancy created by Barnett's "abandonment of office."

Judge Hutcheson told the jury in his charge that the governor was within his legal rights in refusing to sign warrants on the state treasurer to turn over money to the highway

Increased Response Is Shown On Second Ad-Writing Wednesday

By JAY ORR JR.

Without a doubt the $1,300 cash prize Ad-Writing Contest is going to be one of the most popular contests ever sponsored by The Constitution. This fact can readily be seen from the increased response on second Ad-Writing Day.

Three times as many contestants entered in the second week as did during the first, and more than five times as many advertisements were written for competition.

Contestants now seem to be getting the hang of the thing. And why shouldn't they, when it is all so easy? You do not have to be able to draw. You do not have to be able to print artistically.

What is wanted more than anything else is the idea.

Sit down and think. "What would cause you to go in a store and buy something?"

I am not speaking of daily necessities, but of something you do not need, but would buy because of an advertisement.

What would cause you to buy a new rug?

What kind of language would be necessary to tempt you to reach down in your pocket and buy a new suit of clothes?

There is some wording—some message which, if you read, would create a desire to own a new wrist watch or a set of silverware.

The kind of advertisement which would appeal to you is the kind of advertisement that would make others want to buy.

You can get official Ad-Writing paper at any one of the 27 stores cooperating in the Ad-Writing Contest, names of which are given three times each week in The Constitution. This paper is given to you absolutely free and you will find employes in the various stores willing to advise with you.

At Ad-Writing Headquarters at 137 Peachtree Arcade an experienced ad-writer will be glad to help you.

There are 21 prizes each week and you have just as good a chance to win as anyone. Eleven more weeks remain in which you can win enough money to do your Christmas shopping.

Get some Ad-Writing paper today so that you can enter next Wednesday. The first three prize-winning ads submitted Wednesday will be published in Sunday's Constitution, together with the list of the other 18 prize winners, as well as second choices and those who earned honorable mention.

Atlanta Decorator Urges Immediate Refurnishing

MRS. VIRGINIA WENTZ

Mrs. Virginia Wentz, interior decorator, now connected with Sterchi's, says that the last of August prices offer unusual savings opportunities to home-makers who are planning to refurnished at any time in the near future.

"Our present stocks offer the most beautiful selections for every room in the home—furnishings that were bought months ago when prices were so low. I have passed the word along to my friends, urging them to buy before August has passed," Mrs. Wentz said, "for once present stocks are sold, there cannot possibly be replacements as low as Sterchi's prices now are."—(Adv.)

NEW MEXICO OFFICIALS TO PROBE TRAIN WRECK

Two Rail Executives and Two Commissioners To Aid in Investigation.

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two members of the New Mexico corporation commission came here today to join railroad officials and others in investigating the cause of the wreck early yesterday of the Golden State Limited in a flooded arroyo with the loss of eight lives and injury to 42 persons.

J. D. Lamb, chairman of the commission, and Don Casados, another member, planned to conduct the inquiry with two railroad representatives and two disinterested persons.

Railroad officials expressed the opinion that the trestle through which the engine and six cars plunged apparently had been undermined by a diversion of water against the east bank of the stream.

All of the victims had been identified and those of the injured who were able to travel left by special trains. The bodies were held here pending word from relatives.

The dead were: C. J. Croft, of Tucumcari, engineer; James Randall, of Tucumcari, fireman; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Varley, of Quincy, Ill.; F. D. Cook, Southern Pacific employe; Sister Mary Cecilia, of Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. Katherine Sammons, of Pasadena, Cal., and Mrs. J. L. Whitten, of Englewood, Cal.

Wherever You Live, You Need Protection Against Accidents

Read the headlines!

"Four persons hurt as auto overturns."

"Woman dies as auto overturns."

"Two killed in crash on Waycross road."

"Woman badly hurt in auto accident."

"Sheriff is struck by hit-run driver."

Read the headlines, and almost daily you will see where one or more accidents have been caused either while riding in an automobile, on a railroad train, or walking the street or highway. They literally shout a warning to you to protect your prosperity and the future of your family against the ever-growing wave of disasters sweeping the country.

You cannot avoid wrecks. No matter how careful you are, the other fellow may crash into you. Pedestrians or motorists, city or rural dweller—you need insurance.

The insurance offered you through The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill. This company, during the last several years, has paid to Constitution subscribers and members of their families over $160,000.

The insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 69 on the one subscription going into the home at the small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance, to subscribers who live in Atlanta; and to subscribers outside Atlanta and suburbs the rate is $1 per year per policy in addition to the subscription price.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specific accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month. All this for the small fee, as stated above—just about 2 1-2 cents a week—and it is offered to old and new subscribers alike.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

works fund in cases where the public works administration sees fit to make them.

Public works officials explained the application for the loan did not request a portion of it as a grant.

By far the largest part of the total allotments made so far from the fund have gone for construction on federal projects, although the biggest single item was a $400,000,000 grant to the states for roads.

The navy department by an executive order received the second largest item so far from the fund—$238,000,000 for ship construction. Contracts for the vessels have been awarded, the last of which will be signed this week by Secretary Swanson. The navy also received $13,600,000 for construction and repairs at shore stations.

Other Large Ones.

The other larger allotments included $50,000,000 to the Tennessee valley authority; $100,000,000 to the farm credit administration; $40,000,000 by executive order to the civilian conservation corps; $25,000,000 under a provision in the law for establishment of subsistence homestead; $43,986,956 for flood control on the lower Mississippi river; $44,460,000 for reclamation; including $38,000,000 for boulder dam; $22,700,000 for the Casper-Alcova irrigation project in Wyoming; $11,500,000 for contiuation of work on the nine-foot channel in the upper Mississippi river; and $25,000,000 for forest highways, roads and trails.

In approving the expenditure today for work on irrigation projects the public works administration said it would not bring new lands into cultivation but would improve conditions on existing projects in order that the lands could be served better with water.

PAT HOGAN NEW HEAD OF PENN LIFE AGENCIES

Tech High Professor Put in Charge of Activities in 74 Counties.

Pat Hogan, of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, has been placed in charge of the activities of all the agencies of the company in 74 counties of the territory of this agency. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Hurd J. Crain, general agent of the Penn Mutual.

Mr. Hogan is a son of the late James R. Hogan, of Lincoln county, and his grandfather and one of his uncles have held the pastorate of one church in Georgia for the past 85 years.

PAT HOGAN.

He has been a resident of Atlanta since 1913, when he became connected with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

In 1921, Mr. Hogan accepted a position with the Atlanta Tech High school as professor of mathematics, from which he has resigned to return to the Penn Mutual in charge of the direction of the agencies in 74 counties. During his long service with Tech High he did not severe his connection with the Penn Mutual.

During his connection with the Tech High he was a leader in all student campaigns of the school. In his summer vacations he kept up his insurance sales. Recognizing his ability as a solicitor, and as a leader of men, the Penn Mutual gave him important assignments while with Tech High and so well did he perform the work assigned to him that the company persuaded him to take charge of the Atlanta unit of eight solicitors. The unit practically doubled its quota in a short time. Mr. Hogan writing himself $100,000 of life insurance policies in 18 applications.

It did not take the company long to realize that he was the man to take charge of all the agencies in 74 counties, and the announcement of General Agent Crain that this has been done will be pleasing to the many friends made by Mr. Hogan, not only in his long connection with Tech High, but in his work with the Penn Mutual throughout the state.

Conquest of Mt. Everest Was Missed By Matter of Hours, Climber Says

LONDON, Aug. 30.—How narrowly the 1933 Everest expedition missed the final success of reaching the summit is related by the two first members of the party to return home, J. L. Longland and P. Wynn Harris.

A slender time margin—three hours—divided the climbers from their last objective.

"No one knows how difficult the final cone may be," said Mr. Harris, "but had Laurence Wager and I, during our attempt, reached the rocks beneath the cone at 9:30 instead of 12:30, there is a strong possibility that Everest would have been conquered.

"Those precious three hours had been spent on a reconnaissance, however, and we had to turn back. When Fred Smythe later made his attempt, he reached the place we had got to with the three hours in hand—but the conditions were not then so good as they had been for us.

"The party is confident that Everest can and will be climbed, given reasonable weather conditions. But there is no doubt that the final 1,000 feet of 'cone' are more difficult than had been thought."

Both Mr. Longland and Mr. Harris were bronzed, and obviously in excellent condition and spirits. Of slight and wiry build, they appeared to have made a fine recovery from the great mental and physical strain of the expedition.

GUILTY PARENTS

have much to answer for in children's bad laxative habits

THEY think they are doing well by their children . . . these parents. They give them good food, good clothes, a good education. They are satisfied with themselves . . . because nobody has pointed out the wrong habits their children are already developing in the direction of constipation and its treatment.

Do your children's thinking for them—for a time at least, until they are on the right road! Tell them about the different kinds of laxatives and the dangers of some of them.

Tell them about Feen-a-mint. How it works the way your doctor would have it work if he compounded it himself. Thorough, of course. Gentle—and safe—because it's made in the one form that compels thorough chewing. And it's just plain common sense the way chewing insures even, natural distribution. It's the way you eat your food. Check up with your doctor or druggist. They'll tell you why Feen-a-mint is the universal laxative for grown-ups and children. Get a package of this delicious, mint-flavored chewing gum laxative today. You'll never go back to the old-fashioned laxatives.

CARRY A SMILE BACK TO WORK

Don't let shopping tax your energy or patience too far. Retreat from the crowd for just a moment. Step to the nearest soda fountain and refresh yourself with sparkling ice-cold Coca-Cola.

You'll bounce back to normal—alert and ready again to look and choose with your shrewdest eye.

An ice-cold Coca-Cola is more than just a drink. It's the drink that combines those pleasant wholesome substances which foremost scientists say do most to restore you to your normal self. Really delicious, it invites a pause, the pause that refreshes.

Three Boy Scouts Rescued After Night and Day on Cliff

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Rescued from the narrow ledge on which they had been trapped for two days, three Plattsburgh Boy Scouts were brought down through a wild Adirondack mountain trail tonight from the great cliff of Wall-face mountain.

They were hoisted from the two-foot shelf one at a time late today on the end of a 225-foot rope to a higher ledge from which there was a difficult but not impossible trail to the bottom of the gorge 600 feet below.

Under a physician's care, the boys, Robert Glenn, 17; Tyler Grey, 19, and William La Due, 21, were weak and exhausted from lack of sleep and food when they arrived at a lodge six miles away, some hours after dark tonight. They had passed 24 hours without food or water and had huddled together through a freezing night clad only in light hiking clothes.

Trapped early yesterday morning when they found themselves unable to proceed higher or to retract their steps in their effort to climb the perpendicular wall of the cliff, they were without foot until noon today when rescuers succeeded in lowering oranges, sandwiches and water over the shelf high above.

The ledge on which they were marooned is 400 feet high and veteran mountain climbers in this section had thought it inaccessible. Their predicament had drawn scores of volunteer rescuers, including state police, the United States coast guard, the state conservation department, airplane pilots and expert climbers from all over the Adirondacks.

The boys were lifted from their perilous position by five men who had made their way to a ledge above. They were George Reynolds, of Lake Placid, former Colgate halfback; Paul Steer, a Harvard student; Robert Downs, an experienced climber from Saranac lake; Trooper Robert Ward and Trooper Robert Lipton.

They lowered a one-inch rope, dropped to them by Fred McLane, Lake Placid pilot, and the boys, two of whom are Eagle Scouts, made the proper loops on the end of the rope. Bracing themselves against a boulder, the five men drew the youths to safety. All three had been lifted from their trap within a little over an hour after the rope was dropped from the plane.

They were placed under a physician's care and will be removed when their condition permits.

The rescue was made by three expert mountain climbers from the Lake Placid club, a few miles away, after more than 24 hours of constant work. The youths were lifted one at a time from the two-foot ledge where they had huddled together in the freezing wind all night.

Attempting to climb the almost perpendicular cliff yesterday morning, the Scouts found themselves stranded on the perilous ledge with a drop of 400 feet below them. They could not go higher nor retrace their steps. They are William La Due, 21, Robert Glenn, 17, and Tyler Grey, 19, all of Plattsburgh.

Efforts to hoist them up on a rope had failed earlier in the day when the jagged edge of protruding rocks gnawed into the rope, but a new rope was dropped from a plane by Fred McLane, Lake Placid pilot, who has aided in the rescue.

Miami Council Acts On "Bicycle Menace"

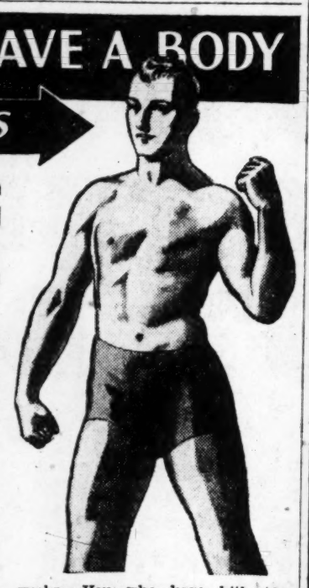

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Aug. 30. (AP)—Signs of the times!

The city council has had to pass an ordinance regulating the use of bicycles within its city limits.

So prevalent has become the use of the once outmoded vehicle that, in the words of the council, "Something had to be done about it." Rules and regulations were adopted, putting the bicycle under a sort of traffic code.

The bicycle colony, which numbers several hundred members, is headed by Mrs. James J. Walker, divorced wife of the former mayor of New York.

LAMSON SLAYING IS LAID TO STRIFE

Witness Says Editor Thought Wife Would Be Unhappy Till Separated.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A cry "why did I marry her!" came from the lips of David A. Lamson after his wife, Allene, was found dead with her head crushed last Memorial Day, a deputy sheriff testified today in Lamson's murder trial.

Other testimony that all was not as happy within the walls of the Lamsons' Stanford University campus home as pictured by the defense, was offered by the state as it sought to strengthen its contention that Mrs. Lamson, pretty campus Y. W. C. A. secretary, was slain because of marital strife.

A picture of Lamson seated in the patio of his home, his sister, Dr. Margaret Lamson, kneeling before him, was painted by Deputy Sheriff John Moore. Both were weeping, Moore testified, and then suddenly Lamson raised his hands to cry out—"My God, why did I marry her!"

Dr. Lamson, the deputy continued, put her arms about her brother and said, "David, don't say that."

Moore's testimony followed the declaration of another surprise state witness, Frank J. Taylor, Los Altos writer, that Lamson, Stanford University press executive, had told him three weeks before his wife's death that Allene Thorpe Lamson "could not be happy until there was a complete separation."

Moore declared Dr. Edith Johnson, medical associate of Dr. Lamson, was standing near by when Lamson cried out. Dr. Lamson arose, he said, and turned to Dr. Johnson:

"I want to talk to you in private," he said she told her associate. The two then walked to the other end of the patio. Moore declared, as he went inside the house, leaving Gordon Davis, campus traffic officer, to watch over the defendant.

Taylor said he had known Lamson for nearly six years in his capacity as associate editor of the Stanford Press. They met in the ante-room of a San Francisco newspaper, he said, and Lamson asked if he knew where Mrs. Lamson could find some work away from the university as "she was not happy."

"He told me his wife was interested in advertising work and he would like to find her a position away from the university," Taylor testified. "He said they would not be happy until there was a complete separation. Then he said things woud reach a climax soon, and added 'I really don't care what happens.'"

COOPERATIVE BANK SET UP IN CAPITAL

Group Will Handle Money-Lending Functions of Farm Administration.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Money-lending functions of the Hoover-created federal farm board today passed to a new division of the farm credit administration, the central bank for co-operatives, with appointment of a board of directors for the new agency.

The central bank will have headquarters here and its activities in making loans to national farm marketing, and purchasing co-operative organizations will be supplemented by co-operative banks in each of the 12 cities where federal land and intermediate credit banks are situated.

The first of the regional banks has been established at St. Louis. Another is being organized at Berkeley, Cal., with 10 more to be set up in coming months. These will make loans to regional co-operatives for sums up to $500,000. Loans of more than $500,000 to regional co-operatives and loans to national co-operatives will be handled directly by the central bank.

Interest rates will be from three to six per cent under a law passed last spring reorganizing government agricultural credit institutions and merging them under the farm credit administration of which Henry Morgenthau Jr. is governor. The farm board made loans with interest rates below 2 per cent in many cases under the agricultural marketing act of 1929. This was repealed last spring.

Seven directors will have charge of this new institution, F. W. Peck, St. Paul, who is co-operative bank commissioner, is ex-officio chairman of the board. Morgenthau selected three members to represent the general public and three others to represent co-operatives.

Members of the group representing the public were Dean Thomas Cooper, Lexington, Ky., of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, for a three-year term; J. D. Miller, Susquehanna, Pa., president of the National Co-operative Council, two years; H. Lane Young, executive manager of the Citizens & Southern National Bank of Atlanta, one year.

Directors selected to represent co-operatives were H. E. Babcock, Ithaca, N. Y., president of the Co-operative Grange League Federation Holding Corporation, there years; F. M. Hayner, Las Cruces, N. M., director of the Southwestern Irrigation Cotton Growers' Association, two years; U. M. Dickey, Seattle, president of the United Dairymen's Association, one year.

The directors will not be paid a regular salary, but the credit administration said they might be allowed "a reasonable amount per diem to cover their expenses."

YOUNG SOON TO LEAVE FOR CAPITAL ON DUTIES

H. Lane Young, executive manager of the Citizens & Southern National Bank of Atlanta, who has been appointed one of six directors of the newly established Central Bank for Co-operatives, will leave for Washington about September 12 to attend the first meeting of the directors.

Commenting on his appointment Wednesday night, he explained that the new duties would require his presence in Washington not more than two or three days each month. The position is largely an honorary one and will not interfere in the least with his banking career in Atlanta.

The co-operative bank to be established in this district to attend to loans to co-operatives in the area will be located at Columbia, S. C., which is the location of the Federal Land and Intermediate Credit bank for the southeast.

Mr. Young expressed the opinion that the new set-up would prove of inestimable value to co-operatives and ultimately to farmers, through the operation of a simplified and more direct system of obtaining loans for marketing and distributing functions.

Farm co-operatives in the southeast are in the cotton industry for the most part, and it has been pointed out that cotton co-operatives have had little or no difficult in arranging loans. In the middle and far west especially, where co-operatives are formed for a wide diversity of farm crops, the new credit structure is expected to be increasingly important as it enables the farm agencies to devote less of their time to necessary money raising.

Mr. Yong, who will serve a one-year term on the board of directors as a representative of the public, resides at 866 Oakdale road, N. E.

U.S. Fund Asked in War On Sleeping Sickness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, of the public health service, said today he is asking for a $25,000 fund from the treasury to help fight the sleeping sickness outbreak in St. Louis.

Ever since the Cleveland administration, Cumming explained, congress annually has appropriated a fund for the fighting of such epidemics as might occur during a recess such as the present outbreak of "sleeping sickness" in St. Louis.

DETROIT, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Health officials today said there have been five cases of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, reported in the Detroit area during the past two weeks. There has been one death and two patients are in a critical condition.

LONG FORGOT TASK IN HEAT OF ANGER, PAPER POINTS OUT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Milwaukee Journal, which with other local newspapers was verbally flayed by Senator Huey Long, of Louisiana, on his visit here, today reminded him he had overlooked the chief purpose of his address to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He had intended to invite the convention to New Orleans next year but apparently in the ire invoked by curiosity over a scar above his eye, that detail slipped his mind, the paper said. It added that delegates from Louisville, also planning to invite the veterans, were jubilant.

The Sentinel admitted "it received with lifted eyebrows the senator's fantastic explanation (of the scar) that he was the victim of a gang attack, but said it trusted he had been "sufficiently refreshed by his northern trip to return with renewed vigor to the conflicts with the various enemies who seem to be forever camping on his trail."

The Wisconsin News regretted that the senator did not remain to contribute to the "levity of the veterans' convention." It stated that one of the photographers removed from the municipal auditorium at Senator Long's request was a war veteran, and "his war wasn't fought in a washroom."

Police Chief Smilingly Denies He Smacked Senator Long

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—With a wide grin, Chief of Police Steve Webber, of Port Washington, denied published reports today that he was the guest who smacked Senator Huey P. Long over the eye at a Long Island club charity affair Saturday night.

To inquirers, the police chief—a husky, 220-pound amateur boxer, six feet and more tall—displayed his hard fist, free of any bruises.

All week, New York has pondered the identity of the man who knocked the senator down during a function at the Sands Point Bath Club, near Port Washington. For a time the belief prevailed that a prominent architect was the man.

Asked by friends if he would object to the publication of the reports that he was the assailant, Chief Webber said:

"Not at all, as long as you print along with it my flat denial of the report."

Asked if he had any inkling of the reaction if he said he were the senator's assailant, the police official, chuckling, declared:

"I'd be popular—and I'd lose my job."

Webber said he had just left his office in Port Washington, met a party of friends and drove down to the Sands Point Club with them. He said he was all around the club, but had no knowledge of the assault.

According to the version told by members of the club and guests at the affair, one visitor was affronted by the Louisiana political leader, swung out with his fists and floored Senator Long.

Chief Webber is widely known around Port Washington as an excellent boxer and trainer of amateur fighters.

Senator Long was en route today to his New Orleans home after an address in Milwaukee yesterday.

The senator left some luggage in a New York hotel when he left for Milwaukee, saying he would return for it. However, the hotel received a message from him today asking that the luggage be forwarded to Louisiana.

While Long journeyed homeward, Postmaster-General Farley, in Washington, commenting upon the senator's attack on the administration's patronage handling, remarked:

"It is evident that the administration indicated to Huey where he stood on the patronage question some weeks ago."

VETERANS EXPRESS REGRET AT OUTBURST BY LONG

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Delegates to the national encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars went on with their convention business today inclined to dismiss Senator Huey Long's outburst against the press as a personal quarrel which did not reflect their opinion.

Although the senator preceded his speech here yesterday with a caustic tirade against Milwaukee newspapers because of the attention they had given the now famous cut over his left eye, the convention was on record as sorry it all happened.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the organization, in a statement issued last night through Barney Yanofsky, editor of Foreign Service, and publicity director for the encampment, expressed regret at the senator's attack. The statement said:

"The officers and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars regret that an attack upon the Milwaukee press by Senator Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, should have interrupted temporarily an otherwise splendid reunion. Senator Long's expressions of opinon represented only his views, not those of the V. F. W."

This stand was concurred in by E. H. Schill, delegate from the sixth district, which comprises Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

"That is a personal affair entirely between Senator Long and the press," he said. "As for myself, and I believe all the veterans feel the same way, our encampment has received much finer treatment from Milwaukee newspapers than we ever could have anticipated."

The convention itself gave a "roaring expression of approval and thanks to the newspapers for the fine way they have co-operated on encampment business.

Berle May Go to Cuba As Economic Adviser

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(UP) Adolph A. Berle, member of the Roosevelt "brain trust," will be sent to Cuba as economic and financial adviser to the Cuban government, the United Press was informed tonight on high authority.

It was understood President Roosevelt had approved the appointment, which is expected to be announced officially at the conclusion of the public hearing on a sugar stabilization agreement during which Berle has been accused by domestic refiners of prejudice in favor of Cuban sugar.

LOUISIANA APPROVES EXTRADITION OF TURK

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Governor Oscar K. Allen today approved the extradition of William Turk, wanted in connection with an alleged $200,000 "bucket shop" operation in several cities of New York state.

WASHINGTON DRYS SWAMPED BY 3-1

Repeal Task Two-Thirds Completed as Pacific State Joins 23 Others.

SEATTLE, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Washington's leap to the repeal bandwagon gave it a push that will assure elimination of prohibition before Christmas, national and state repealists said today as mounting returns from Tuesday's election indicated the state returned only four dry delegates to 95 wets.

The total vote for wet and dry delegates late today with 2,079 precincts out of 2,682 reporting, was 340,310 for repeal and 141,857 against.

The state voted by legislative districts, so the statewide vote was only an indication of sentiment, but the wets apparently elected their delegates to the constitutional convention October 3 in every district but two, the ninth and tenth, composed of four agricultural counties, Whitman, Asotin, Garfield and Columbia, in eastern Washington.

H. C. Herbsman, director of the wet campaign in Washington, said "nothing can stop repeal now. The drys had the advantage because we elected by legislative districts, and they were snowed under. The drys' forlorn hope was that Washington would stop the parade of states toward repeal, and their hope was blasted."

Postmaster General James A. Farley announced from the national capital that the vote of Washington, long regarded as "one of the outstanding bone-dry states," now the twenty-fourth to vote repeal, makes certain his prediction that prohibition will be abolished "before the end of the year."

By November 7, 37 states will have voted on repeal. The repealists need only 12 more states to win; the drys need 13 to block repeal.

It was the first special statewide election Washington has held since it became a state. Last November the state bone-dry law was buried by a wet majority of 133,000. Dry since 1917, Washington was one of the earliest states to try prohibition.

POLICEMAN SLAIN IN $30,000 HOLDUP

Another Seriously Wounded in Swiftly Executed Minnesota Robbery

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 30.—(AP)—One policeman was slain and another wounded seriously today in a swiftly executed $30,000 bank messenger holdup which officials said might be a sequel to the William Hamm kidnaping in June.

Suspicion was directed toward the Touhy gang of Chicago after five bandits, their car's siren screaming and emitting a heavy black smoke from the rear, drove up to the local postoffice, shot Officers Leo Pavlak, 35, and John Yeaman, in front of the building and escaped in the smoke screen.

Pavlak was wounded fatally and Yeaman seriously as fire from submachine guns, shotguns and pistols swept the street and siwewalk, sending pedestrians scurrying and breaking windows in near-by stores.

The officers were accompanying two bank messengers, Joseph Hamilton and Herbert Cheyne, who had received a $30,000 currency consignment from the federal reserve bank in Minneapolis. It was intended for a Swift & Company pay roll.

District Attorney L. L. Drill said "Rumors have been current in the underworld for sometime that members of the Touhy mob might come here to start trouble."

Other officials suggested intimidation of Hamm case witnesses may have been an aim or that funds for defense of the quartet were sought.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 30.—(AP) Three youths held up Kline's department store today, terrorized a score of women employes, robbed the cashier of $4,952, kidnaped four hostages and fled under the pistol fire of policemen only to be captured an hour later when their sedan was wrecked in the flight.

The hostages, three women telephone operators and an assistant dress buyer, extricated themselves unharmed from the robbers' wrecked car, while the fugitives fled on foot to a house, where they surrendered meekly when the officers entered at their heels.

Thy gave their names as Jim Colose, 21; Tom Cappo, 20, and Louis Mello, 20.

Mrs. Olive Graham Johnson, Mrs. Lydia Steele, Miss Poe Fisher and Leonard Daniels were the store employes kidnaped and taken for a wild ride through the two Kansas cities.

Hawaiians To Follow NRA Plan in Islands

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 30.—(UP)—Hawaiian agriculturists and industrialists today refused to take advantage of an opportunity to avoid shortening hours and raising wages in accordance with the president's re-employment agreement.

Shortly after Honolulu citizens learned General Hugh Johnson had decided to exempt Hawaii from the blanket re-employment code and NRA codes, the largest meeting of business and agricultural leaders since World War days was held here.

In resolutions, white and Chinese leaders vigorously protested any plan to exempt Hawaii from the mainland program. It was understood the Japanese Chamber of Commerce planned similar action.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION TO CLOSE OCTOBER 31

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A Century of Progress Exposition will close definitely October 31, President Rufus C. Dawes said today, despite requests from all sections of the country that it be continued next year.

"It will be impossible for us to hold the fair over," Dawes said in discussing the future of the bizarre buildings on the city's lake front.

"We have obligations to our bondholders and to the institutions which have been promised shares in the fair's surplus that cannot be risked," he said.

Dawes revealed that he had received in recent weeks as many as a dozen letters a day urging that the fair be continued. They come from industrialists, societies and individuals.

8 BILLS PREPARED BY PROBING JURY

Body Meets Again Today; Many "Police Racket" Witnesses Heard

Eight bills of indictment were reported drawn by the Fulton county grand jury Wednesday night, but none had been returned when the jury recessed at a late hour to meet at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Reports from the grand jury room were that the jury had not voted on any of the bills. The jury's investigation of the issuance of courtesy cards by the police department neared a conclusion, with a number of witnesses heard during the day and early evening.

C. P. Vaughan, foreman of the jury, said the body was closing out its business preparatory to going out of office Saturday.

Most of the witnesses heard Wednesday appeared before the committee of council which two weeks ago investigated the police department sponsorship of a solicitation of funds, and advertising for the police annual, in return for which courtesy cards were issued bearing Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant's signature.

The grand jury Wednesday heard Chief Sturdivant and a number of other witnesses, including Hugh G. Krein and Ed J. Daly, promoters for the police annual and the police benefit fund, who received 75 per cent of $18,051.25 gross proceeds from the solicitation.

Others testifying were Oscar H. Pendley, secretary to Sturdivant; Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee of city council, and Patrolman H. H. Ramsaur, who testified before the council committee that he solicited advertising for the yearbook while on duty and received pay from the city.

Several citizens who contributed to the police benefit fund were subpoenaed by the jury.

of the ouster at the hearing before Governor Talmadge. They charged that the reductions were too small to be felt, and that the service charge had not been eliminated entirely but had been included in the kilowatt hour charge.

Chairman Wilhoit estimated that the order of the commission Wednesday, if it brings about any change in electric rate structures of all companies affected, would affect 90 per cent of the total number of electric customers in Georgia. Industrial and municipal customers of the power companies were not affected by the order.

Hearings on railroad freight rates, and on telephone rates throughout the state, have been scheduled before the commission within the next few weeks. Every telephone company in the state was cited. Because of a difference in conditions under which the various exchanges operate, they, like the power companies, are expected to be brought before the commission one at a time. Mr. Wilhoit said Wednesday the various telephone companies would appear until the commission had heard from every one of the companies.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD IS "MUCH IMPROVED"

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The condition of Tallulah Bankhead, stage and motion picture actress, was said by her physician today to be "much improved."

Miss Bankhead is a patient at Doctor's hospital for what was described today as an acute abdominal condition. It was expected she would remain at the hospital for a week.

"Eagle and the Hawk" At Buckhead 2 Days

"The Eagle and the Hawk," that delightfully different story of aviation in the World War, is to be seen today and tomorrow at the Buckhead theater. Few pictures have equalled this in its intensity of action while it adds a frank study in the character of a couple of air warriors that sheds a new light on the men who fought far above the clouds.

Frederic March is an aviator who hates killing and all it connotes, despite the fact that he is an ace pilot. Cary Grant, his observer, on the contrary glorifies in the record of enemy fliers ha has sent to death. The two, while a perfectly co-ordinated team in the air, are enemies, hating with an intense antagonism when on the ground.

The picture carries a tremendous punch, made greater because it arouses its audiences to thought and the climax brings a situation as startling and dramatic as any ever conceived.

Jack Oakie provides the necessary comedy in his own inimitable style.

On Saturday the Buckhead will present the popular Joan Blondell in one of her finest pictures, "Central Park."

Carefully selected short comedies, cartoons and other short subjects will complete the two programs at Atlanta's popular suburban theater.

New York Grand Jury Urges Racket Probe

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The New York county grand jury recommended today that the state attorney-general investigate charges it has heard concerning an alleged link between police, politicians and racketeers.

On its own initiative and without participation of the district attorney the county grand jury heard testimony of United States Attorney George Z. Medalie and Chief Justice Frederic Kernochan, of the court of special sessions.

Their testimony was elaboration of statements made by Medalie and Kernochan before a recent hearing of a senate subcommittee which was investigating rackets.

cause he cried when he parted from her in New York.

When Read left her in New York, she testified, he told her he was going to Reno to obtain a divorce and would return to New York within five weeks.

"I told him not to come back if he was not a single man," the actress testified. "I didn't want to continue with him unless he had a divorce."

It was after she saw a plain band ring on his finger, she testified, that he confessed he was married and announced his intention of obtaining a divorce.

She said she had first kissed Read on the observation platform of the east bound train after first refusing to permit him that liberty.

"After the first kiss," Miss Windsor testified, "I was not resentful. He told me he wanted to marry me after my vaudeville tour. He told me he would have a divorce by that time. I asked him what was leading to the disagreements between himself and Mrs. Read and he told me Mrs. Read had a terrible temper."

Miss Windsor will resume her testimony tomorrow.

The hint of another love affair involving Read came as Leonard Wilson, Miss Windsor's lawyer, questioned Mrs. Alice Lusby as to her qualifications for jury service.

Wilson asked her if she would be prejudiced against a woman who accepted the attentions of a married man if the man's affections already had been alienated. Mrs. Lusby replied negatively.

Wilson asked another talesman, Allen S. Thompson, if he would be prejudiced against a woman who accepted the attentions of a married man when that man already was separated from his wife.

"That would depend on the circumstances," Thompson replied.

Mrs. Read, who brought the action in Oakland in March, 1932, and who was divorced from the broker last October, appeared nervous, and Read seemed uneasy, but Miss Windsor sat calmly, smiling amiably at various persons, among them Read. The two women seemed to avoid each other, although Mrs. Read smiled at her former husband several times as they exchanged glances.

BOARD TO RECEIVE SEWERS PROJECT

the Georgia board, and Ryburn Clay and Arthur Lucas, members, will hold a meeting in Atlanta this morning several held in various parts of the state this week.

Atlanta and Fulton county representatives will appeal for conditional approval of the sewe rmatter to prevent a possible delay in its transmission to Washington officials, as the board will adjourn for several days after this morning's meeting.

Fulton county grand jurors Tuesday by unanimous vote urged the city and county to join in underwriting the approximate $9,000,000 loan.

Text of the resolution passed by the Georgia board and to which the citizens' commission agreed by unanimous vote follows:

"Resolved by Mr. Clay (Ryburn Clay) and seconded by Mr. Lucas (Arthur Lucas), that this board suggest that the mayor and council of the city of Atlanta, by resolution, request th ecounty of Fulton, by proper resolution, to become jointly liable with the city of Atlanta for any monies advanced to the city by the government on said city' sapplication for a loan in connection with its sewerage projects, both as to principal and interest. Unanimously carried."

It is conceded that both council and the commissioners will approve the joint move by unanimous votes at the meetings this afternoon, and that the meetings will be nothing short of a formality as members of both bodies agree that such a stand would strengthen the claims for the sewer fund, and admit that failure to subscribe to the suggestions of the Georgia board would jeopardize the applications for federal aid.

It has been estimated that $4,500,000 of the entire total would be expended for labor and that hundreds would be offered work and taken from relief rolls.

'SLEEPING DEATHS' STILL UNCHECKED

List of Fatalities Rises to 47; Cases Reported in Other Cities.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Scientists studying the "sleeping sickness" epidemic here, were of the general belief today that the encephalitis outbreaks in other parts of the country were of a different type than the St. Louis malady.

Two deaths, believed to have been caused by sleeping sickness, occurred in a Kansas City, Kan., hospital in the last 24 hours, and six cases have been reported over Kansas. Ten cases have developed in Kansas City, Mo., health officials there said. Another death was reported at Fort Smith, Ark., today. The death list rose to 47 in St. Louis today.

TWO DEATHS REPORTED IN WISCONSIN SECTIONS.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 30.—(AP)—two deaths due to sleeping sickness were reported in widely separated sections of Wisconsin today. Delores Wirtz, 28 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wirtz, died at Racine. Mrs. Howard Jarvis, 33, died at Ashland, on Lake Superior.

20 OF 28 CASES ARE FATAL TO MINNESOTA VICTIMS.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The state health department announced today that 20 of 28 cases of encephalitis or "sleeping sickness" reported in Minnesota since January 1 had resulted in death. There are four cases at present.

Dr. A. J. Chesley, department head, said the fatalities occurred in western and southern Minnesota. He asesrted the situation was no worse than in any other year since the first Minnesota case appeared in 1919.

By a vote of seven against to five for, the sub-committee of 17 of the democratic committee Wednesday night declined to place a referendum on the ballot to ascertain the reaction of Atlanta voters to Sunday baseball and movies. Sub-committee members, however, said the matter would be presented again.

The committee declared vacancies to fill board of education places in the second and third wards to succeed William C. Slate and John T. Davis, deceased.

Entry lists for the two positions will remain open until noon, Wednesday, September 6. Fee was set at $25, the same charged for other board positions.

Webb Quits Race.

Leroy Webb, qualified for the board from the seventh ward, formally withdrew, Dr. Samuel Green, chairman of the democratic committee, announced Wednesday, leaving Dr. Noah W. Baird, Mrs. Grady Andrews and D. M. Therrell as candidates.

All city-wide candidates in the primary were invited to speak at a meeting of the Morningside Civic league, at Morningside school, at 7:45 o'clock Friday night. C. C. Tate, vice-president, issued the invitation.

When the effort to seek a referendum on Sunday movies and baseball failed in the sub-committee meeting Wednesday night, the committee discussed proposals to seek referenda on propositions divorcing schools from the city government and making them financially independent, or placing them again under council through abolition of the board. No vote, however, was taken, it being decided to defer action to a meeting to be held next week at which time another effort will be made to obtain approval of the baseball and movie measures.

Shorter NRA Hours Sought By Labor To Speed Program

Green Says Present Line-up Not Sufficient To Take in Quickly Unemployment Slack.

By MELBOURNE CHRISTERSON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Labor intends to insist on shorter working hour provisions in NRA codes so as to make a greater and faster spread of employment.

This intention was expressed to newspapermen today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and an NRA labor adviser.

Green said hours of work now being inserted in codes by manufacturers were not short enough to take in quickly the unemployment slack. He added that federation figures showed that since March 2,000,000 had returned to jobs, leaving about 11,000,000 still idle.

Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, last night estimated the number of re-employed at 2,000,000, predicting this number would be increased rapidly in the next few months.

The labor leader said an intensive campaign was in progress to form unions and bring workers into the federation. So far, he said, about 1,000,000 new members had been added to the rolls.

Labor Activity Going Forward.

Organization activity, Green reported, was going forward in steel, rubber, automobile and other mass production plants, with the intention of setting up "federal union" to take in all crafts. This method of organization would supercede the old order of creating unions embracing individual crafts.

The federation leader attended two meetings of the national labor board today. This afternoon the board heard the contractors' side of the labor dispute involving construction of the New Orleans bridge over the Mississippi.

Senator Wagner, of New York, chairman of the board, said that both contractors and labor representatives who were heard today, had been instructed to file briefs by Saturday night after which the board would render its decision.

Whatever decision is given, Wagner said, would be binding upon both parties under the law inasmuch as both had agreed to submit the case to arbitration. Wagner added the board was without power to arbitrate labor questions unless both sides agreed to submit the issue.

Power Company Cited.

Among other cases coming up today was one in which the Westinghouse Electric Company of East Springfield, Mass., was accused of refusing to deal with employes organized under the recovery act and of attempting to continue relations with the old company unions.

Green said he believed the Westinghouse employes would strike unless their unions were recognized in accordance with NRA guarantees. He added that the case might well be taken to court for determination.

The labor board has requested the Westinghouse officials to submit their side of the question before considering further procedure.

Can't Eat Can't Sleep Can't Work

A Sign You're Rundown!

When your appetite has fled and you're so tired and nervous you can't even work, much less sleep, it's a sign you're rundown. It may be due to overwork, worry or sickness, but whatever it is, your condition calls for a good tonic. There is nothing better than Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic, for it is iron and tasteless quinine combined. Iron, as you know, is a noted blood builder, while quinine tends to purify the blood. Thus you get two effects of vital importance in any rundown condition.

Old and young find new appetite, new strength and energy in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Try it for just three days and see the difference it makes in you. You feel like a new person. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and contains absolutely nothing harmful. Get a bottle today at any store—(adv.)

GEOGRAPHY CLASS BACK AFTER TOUR OF WEST, CANADA

Dr. Wallace McCook Cunningham, Oglethorpe University dean, and his traveling geography class of 124 teachers returned to Atlanta Wednesday afternoon following a 70-day bus tour of the western part of the United States and Canada.

It was the annual extension course tour sponsored by Oglethorpe University, and was declared a great success by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe.

Met at the city limits by a police escort, the five busses containing the students of the unique class proceeded to the Georgian Terrace hotel, where the tour was officially ended and the travelers disbanded.

Practically every person making the trip of thousands of miles were teachers, it was said. Many reside in Atlanta but some were from Alabama, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Florida, Virginia and Massachusetts.

The industries and conditions of various states and cities were studied at first hand by the teachers, with accompanying lectures by Dr. Cunningham. College credit is given by Oglethorpe to those making the trip. Nearly every state west of Georgia was visited, and the tour also included famous points in the western part of Canada.

ROBERT F. MADDOX ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF HEALTH BOARD

Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta banker and prominent figure in civic activities here and in the state, Wednesday was named as chairman of the new state board of health.

The health board was re-created at the last session of the legislature after it had been abolished at a previous session.

Mr. Maddox for many years was a leading member of the old board of health and was named to the board by Governor Talmadge. Other appointees to the board who were given their oaths Wednesday were L. C. Allen, of Hoschton; C. K. Sharp, of Arlington; M. M. McCord, of Rome; R. C. Ellis, of Americus; T. C. Marshall, of Atlanta; Claude Rountree, of Thomasville; W. H. Varn, of Atlanta; R. F. Sullivan, of Savannah; M. M. Head, of Zebulon; W. A. Mulherin, of Augusta; H. W. Clements, of Adel; C. Thompson, of Millen, and A. R. Rozar, of Macon. All members of the board except Maddox and Ellis are druggists, dentists or physicians.

Naming of Mr. Maddox to the chairmanship was the first activity at the organization meeting. Dr. Head was named vice chairman and C. L. Tinsley, an employe of the state board of health, secretary.

After the organization meeting, at which Dr. T. F. Abercrombie reviewed the work of the health department, Mr. Maddox was host to the board at a luncheon at the Capital City Club. Dr. Abercrombie is director of the health department.

GEORGIA S. C. V. GROUP TO MEET HERE TUESDAY

Sons of Confederate Veterans will gather in Atlanta Tuesday for a two-day session at the Ansley hotel and will be welcomed by Governor Eugene Talmadge and Mayor James L. Key. The meeting will be strictly business, officials of the organization said, and the only social event will be held Wednesday night, when a banquet will be given at the Ansley.

Officials of the organization will be present at the meeting, including the commander in chief, Dr. William R. Dancy. Other guests of honor at the banquet will be General J. L. Driver, commander of the Georgia division of Confederate Veterans; Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, president general of the Southern Memorial Association, and Mrs. Izzy Bashinski, president of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Judge Walter T. Colquitt will be the speaker.

WISDOM TO ATTEND CHICAGO CONVENTION

Tom Wisdom, state auditor of Georgia, and president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers, Wednesday announced the program for the annual convention of the association, to be held in Chicago September 5, 6 and 7. A number of state auditors, treasurers and comptrollers are to appear on the program, with the principal address of the opening day to be the annual speech of the president of the association.

Mr. Wisdom is to leave for Chicago Saturday night. State Treasurer George Hamilton, and Tom Linder, executive secretary to Governor Talmadge, and B. E. Thrasher Jr., and Edmund Magers, assistants to Mr. Wisdom, and Horace Nixon, assistant to Mr. Hamilton, are expected to attend the convention also.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 31, 1933.

VETERANS' BOARD MEETS.

The special board of review to pass on the claims of Georgia World War veterans at its meeting today should, and undoubtedly will, correct any injustices that may, unwittingly, have been done to deserving ex-soldiers of this state incident to the clearing of the national pension rolls of the names of thousands who were not justly entitled to the aid they were receiving.

The claims to be reviewed are those of veterans who, under previous pension regulations, were not required to submit evidence of service-incurred disabilities. Those that now submit such evidence will be promptly restored to the pension rolls.

Most of the protests that have arisen from the dropping of veterans from the rolls have come from those whose disabilities were "presumed" to have resulted from their war service, a regulation that resulted in a greater padding of the rolls than any of the other pension legislation enacted by congress.

Under the regulations promulgated by the president, such presumption was eliminated as proof of the justice of a veteran's claim for aid, but, in order that any injustice to a deserving ex-soldier should be guarded against, special boards of reviews for each state were established.

The special instructions to these boards point out that while their findings "must not be based on speculation or purely sympathetic grounds, but must be based on evidence of record, it should be borne in mind that all reasonable doubt is to be resolved in favor of the veteran and the burden of proof is on the government."

In a final message to the boards, General Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, forcefully stresses the desire of the government that every worthy veteran be aided to the fullest extent, but warns that this will not be possible if those not entitled to pensions are continued on the rolls. In this connection, he says:

I believe that the roll of veterans in receipt of pension for disabilities incurred in the active military or naval service should be an honor roll and that no man should remain on that roll unless he incurred his disability in the line of duty in the active military or naval service. If, as a result of the action of the special boards, we can be assured that those who properly belong on the rolls remain there and those who do not belong on the rolls are removed, we can then insure this group of veterans the full bounty of a grateful government without fear of injustice to the taxpayer or proper criticism from any one. It is not because of these men that economies in veterans' affairs become necessary.

It is in that spirit that the Georgia board will meet today. It has an arduous and by no means pleasant task, but that it will discharge it with conscientious regard of their obligation, both to the veteran and to the government, is assured by the ability and high character of the men composing its personnel.

CAMP MEETING TIME.

During recent weeks there have been many news stories, under Georgia date lines, telling of the convening of the annual camp meetings at the famous old "meetin' grounds" that are to be found in many rural districts of the state.

Camp meetin' time is here again.

Many a busy businessman, enwrapped in the problems and complications of modern city life, reads these stories with a sigh and looks, in retrospect, back to the days of his youth when, as farm or small-town boy, camp meetin' time was the happiest time of his year.

Today automobiles replace the old buggy and Jenny mare. Salads and cellophane-wrapped cakes are often the food that mother takes, instead of the cracklin' bread and home-baked cookies of old. And a shiny thermos bottle sits in the place formerly sacred to the stone jug wrapped in wet sacking.

But the spirit is the same.

The preachers bring the same sweet old message. The soft-scented breezes whisper through the trees as of yore. The same emotions wrap around the hearts of all who attend, old and young, rich and poor. And the same tender sentiment brings smiles and shy whispers as the young folks slip away to walk in twos under the trees, to stammer the same old story under the same old moon.

Camp meetin' time is still observed in Georgia. Many a busy executive might find a restorative for the spirit and a renewal of faith if he slipped away for a few days and became a boy again, if only for a brief season.

THE NEED FOR RELIEF.

Relief organizations of Atlanta are confronted with a task more severe than any in the past.

The reduction in unemployment and the indications that better times are slowly but surely approaching have not removed the necessity for relief in the approaching winter.

The same situation prevails over the nation. Relief agencies of New York and other large cities are greatly worried.

Many people, cheered by the lifting of the gloomy skies of depression, feel that relief need will not exist this winter.

While these agencies of relief are cheered by the turn in the economic trend, they point out that the need this winter will be as great as it was last winter. The upward trend is of necessity small at the outset. It will very likely be midwinter or spring before its real effect begins to be felt by people now receiving relief.

In the meantime the relief plans must go forward, the Community Chest must be filled and the needy taken care of during the stress of winter months.

In the nation's joy at the progress being made in solving the world problems confronting us, it should not be forgotten that the need for relief will be acute and must not be neglected.

STILL NATIONAL GAME.

Attendance figures over the past week-end in various major league baseball parks indicate that baseball is still our national game.

Three baseball games drew more than 150,000 people on one day. The two leagues, one playing a full schedule of four games and the other three games, drew more than 200,000 paid admissions on one day.

Most startling of all was the crowd which saw the Sunday game at Cleveland, where the Washington Senators, leading the American league, were playing the Cleveland Indians.

Sixty thousand people paid to see this game. On the same day the New York Giants, leaders in the National league, drew 42,000 paid admissions. Reports from New York say that it was impossible to get a motor car within two blocks of the baseball park 45 minutes before the game began.

Forty thousand turned out to see the Boston Braves, contenders in the National league pennant race, play the Cincinnati team in Boston.

Equally amazing was the crowd of 14,000 which saw the Chicago Cubs play the Brooklyn Dodgers, both teams being completely out of the race in so far as the pennant is concerned.

The American league's four games drew 114,000 on this day and the National, with three games, drew 99,000.

It seems that baseball, despite the counter-claims of golf, may still be called our "national game."

Sport crowds are always an indication of our times, and this increase in interest and patronage is a reflection of our national reaction to the work of the Roosevelt administration.

It is going to be mighty hard on some men to work regularly, after they have made such a success out of loafing.

Maybe Utopia is the place where you can secure brains on the bargain counter.

An optimist is a pickpocket who thinks business would be better in Scotland.

A writer speaks of the blush of youth. Yeah, but most of them have quit blushing, too.

The kindest thing you could say about some folks is to remark they are suffering from brain fatigue.

Things are getting better. The wolf at the door is being replaced by an used auto.

The next thing to a bloodless revolution is a bridge tournament.

A seven-gun man was arrested in Chicago. He's a real rival to a man of war.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Bands at Dawn.

The ship on which I traveled from London to Leningrad steamed up the Neva at dawn. We passed Kronstadt, that revolutionary stronghold which saved Trotsky from annihilation in the Civil War. Not a hammer was working yet in the rows upon rows of shipyards on the shores. Here and there a solitary human figure, a watchman or a policeman on guard. But as we drew up close to the left bank just a short distance from the Peter and Paul fortress, the sound of music smote our ears. Music at dawn? Yes, we namely had Henri Barbusse on board, the famous French writer and the writers and artists of Leningrad had taken it into their heads to welcome the Frenchman with proper enthusiasm.

I was very much impressed with the idea. Why should not a creative artist, an architect, a novelist, a musician be honored as much at least as a general of dragoons or a marshal who has nothing else to his name than that he knew the right moment to throw a few hundred thousand men into the jaws of hell?

And so the band played and Barbusse had to come on deck and he was cheered. But that was not all. Some fellow began making a speech at him from the quay. He replied. But if he thought that satisfied his enthusiastic admirers, he was mistaken. A committee came on board. More speeches. Finally Barbusse went on land amidst the cheering of the crowd. And then only, the real speeches started. Knowing Barbusse's extremely frail health, I almost felt like telling those enthusiasts to leave the man alone. Maybe they would have thrown me into the Neva. They looked capable of it. So I let them go to it.

Later I saw Barbusse at his hotel in an exhausted state. The speechmaking at dawn had lasted the incredible length of time of one hour and fifty-five minutes.

War, What For?

You would think that with the resurgence of the nationalist spirit in the world at large, when more and more states decide to live unto themselves alone, raising barriers of immigration and tariffs, the danger of conflict and strife and war diminishes. This, in fact, is Mr. de Valera's theory. In the course of a recent conversation I had with the president of the Irish Free State, he actually declared that it was his intention to make Ireland self-sufficient and to limit the contact of his country with the outside world to the barest minimum.

It would not be surprising to hear an argument of this kind advanced by the leaders of vast and potentially rich countries such as America or Russia, who really possess the wherewithal to be self-sufficient, but to hear it held up as a panacaea by the head of a poor, small country, without timber or coal and even without an industrial apparatus, is a most amazing experience.

Yet there he was, Eamon de Valera, saying this very thing. He went further. He advocated economic nationalism for every country, arguing that the less peoples had to do with each other, the less chance there was that they would come into conflict with each other. It sounds all very well. But it is exactly the nature of the economic system we live under to look for more profits, to seek foreign markets, to extend the scope of its activity constantly, for not to extend and grow means stagnation. And because it is so, I am not saying that it is either good or bad, the closed nationalisms that we see growing up take on the character of opposing hostile camps which plot and scheme and arm and prepare, everyone in his own interior, to strike a blow sooner or later for the capture of some outside market.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

YOU NEVER CAN TELL ABOUT COOTIES.

A gracious host of Pediculus capitis was found by careful count to have 1,004 guests in her hair. Hers was just a small party. Mrs. Cootie, tickler head of the Pediculus family, lays 300 eggs in 24 hours. The old man just forages around. From egg to egg the life cycle of the louse is approximately 30 days. Nuttall, a bacteriologist, on an excursion among higher forms of life, estimated that Mrs. Cootie presents her spouse, if he sticks around long enough, with 2,000 descendants in 16 days, and her daughters bring the total up to 113,000 in 48 days. Hard hoeing, that, for the f.t. comb!

A head louse in good training has been observed to climb a hair eight inches in less than two minutes.

The primary effect of infestation with head lice is slight pricking or itching of the scalp, especially about the temple or occiput. Later the child becomes restless, disturbed in sleep, irritable, anemic and debilitated.

You never can trust a louse. It will sham death for hours. It is hard to kill lice by drowning, by starvation or by freezing.

Immersion in gasoline for one minute is an effective way to kill both lice and their nits or eggs.

A louse prefers a clean body, but can if necessary feed on a body smeared with sulphur salves and similar repellants. However, the use of dusting powder of washed sulphur on the seams of the clothing does repel the varmints.

The large pediculi that infest the pubic hair and are commonly dubbed "crabs," bite more viciously and produce more severe itching. Sometimes they infest the hair in the armpits. They produce an eczematous eruption. They are transferred from person to person not only by contact but via bedding, clothing and other materials. The ova, nits or eggs are attached to hairs so close to the skin that it is difficult to detect them except with a lens. Better than the old treatment with mercury ointment is repeated washing with a solution of bichloride of mercury, corrosive sublimate, in water or in alcohol, in the strength of one to five hundred. This is best applied after a careful washing with warm water and soap, and three successive applications, daily, should be made, allowing the bichloride solution to dry on. After these three applications calamin lotion may be used to relieve the irritation of the skin. Calomin lotion is the familiar lotion used for the relief of all kinds of mild skin inflammation or itching or irritation, and consists of one ounce of powdered calamin, one ounce of powdered zinc oxide, two drams of glycerin and enough lime water to fill a pint bottle. This is to be shaken up and dabbed on as needed. Where itching is marked sometimes a small quantity of phenol (carbolic acid) is added to the formula, say 1 1-2 drams in the pint. The lotion is soothing in sunburn, ivy poisoning and other acute skin irritations.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

ROOSEVELT PRESTIGE WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—An impartial business executive recently went on a political scouting tour of the country. He wanted to find out for his own business how Mr. Roosevelt and the NRA were getting over with the people. He covered half the representative states outside the democratic south.

His report sounds as if it were written by a democratic publicity man.

It says Roosevelt is as popular with his supporters as Gandhi with his. He pictures the president as commanding the same sincere loyalty as a religious prophet.

DETAILS This scout pictured the voters—the body politic—as being on a train, not knowing exactly where they are going, but cheering like thunder for the engineer.

The demand for inflation, he thought, was growing weaker. That is because retail business is definitely better than had been hoped for.

Farmers have not been helped to the degree believed in the east. Higher prices were not as beneficial as most observers think because the crops are small. He thought the farmers were postponing their debts and using their little cash to buy lower-class cars, or putting a few dollars in the sock for winter.

Popular loyalty to the NRA was also stressed by the investigator. He found it more marked in the small towns which comprise the great bulk of the country. Also among working people, who comprise the masses.

These classes are ostracizing anyone who declines to subscribe to the blue eagle.

PESSIMISM Another confidential investigation on the same subject was undertaken by a large investment securities house with headquarters in Wall Street. It was equally sincere.

A questionnaire was sent out to all employes in all branches, even salesmen on the road. Every large city in the country was reached through this method.

The answers were unanimously pessimistic. The NRA program was said to be moving with elephantine slowness. Very few results in actual purchasing power could be seen.

Mr. Roosevelt was described as still popular, but not as popular as he was in March.

A third investigation of the same subject was undertaken in Washington. The leading financial journal of New York sent its columnist here. The idea was to get a fresh close-up of the recovery machinery, from a favorable standpoint if possible.

This columnist spent five days interviewing people outside the prejudiced administration circles. He was unable to find one enthusiastically optimistic about the NRA.

SUMMARY The real answer does not lie in any one of the three investigations but in a composite of all. If you fit the pieces together you will get a more accurate picture than they spent thousands of dollars for.

The first report deals with psychology, not statistics. It may be a little over-enthusiastic, but not materially so.

The second is tainted with the fact that the investigators are thinking in terms of selling stocks and bonds. Their pessimism in that respect is probably justified; but they have muffed the factor of popular psychology.

The third shows Washington opinion does not always accurately reflect the view of the country. Just as no man is a hero to his valet, no administration is heroic to those who see it close-up.

STEPS A small eastern town has a new postoffice without steps, but don't mention the fact to the government contracting authorities unless you have a catcher's mask on.

It came about this way.

The government let the contract for constructing the building and forgot about the steps until the building was completed. The project manager rushed through a separate contract for steps on a cost plus basis.

The board of awards turned down the proposition on the ground that it would not sanction any cost plus work.

Citizens must use stilts or grow longer legs.

NOTES Another factor in those investigations is that the favorable one touched the whole countryside, while the pessimistic one centered in cities. Also the pessimistic one hit mainly the financial strata in cities.

Those in charge of the open market purchases have now great confidence in their ability to spread commercial credit that way. They are trying to think up other ways of making the banks lend money. No one yet has been able to think of a good way to make sane bankers lend money on doubtful prospects. The coming American Bankers' Association convention would be a good place to take that matter up.

Some government officials believe Ford will come through with the NRA because he relies so much on purchasing power.

A Man's Freedom Must Be Taken Away When He Uses It To Rock the Boat

By Robert Quillen

If a mere writing man is privileged to make a prophecy to warn the great, here it is: The cows will get in the corn again if you don't patch the fence.

The American people are natural-born speculators. Unlike other races, that gamble much but risk no more than they can afford to lose, Americans stake everything they have on one turn of the cards.

There is reason in their madness. The history of their land is a story of climbers. The rags to riches drama has been repeated so many times that it seems the normal way of life. And every fortune quickly won, since the first man sold out his holdings in the east and traveled west to strike it rich, has been the reward of taking a chance.

Every poor man hopes some day to get rich—not by toiling and saving, but by getting a "break." The experience of fortunate thousands gives reasonable hope that a "shoestring," invested at the right time and place, will return a fortune.

Oil wells and real estate, gold mines and industrial stocks have made many a poor man rich. And if one man can invest little and win much, any other may do it if he happens to be lucky.

The fact that millions lose their shirts is soon forgotten. The losers fade into obscurity; the winners remain conspicuous.

When a broken market brought disaster to the nation in 1929, there were many men who said: "The people have learned their lesson. They will gamble no more. Hereafter they will build in the old sure way."

But the characteristics of a race are not so quickly changed. Repentance ends when the hurt is forgotten.

A few weeks ago, when factors combined to increase prices, thousands eager for easy money made their bets in the same old way. We are still a nation of gamblers.

And another orgy of gambling will bring us to red ruin. Let another bull market get under way, with nothing to support it but popular excitement, and the inevitable smash will wreck us past all hope of repair.

Yet it will come, in all probability, unless something is done to prevent it. The wisdom of the people is not to be trusted. They have learned nothing. For once they must be denied the right to ruin themselves.

and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture.

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States.

"Behind such an organization stands an enthusastic, active, helpful public opinion. A citizenship of 125,000,000 people will applaud. The militia of every state stands behind this civilian federalized force, and behind that stands the army of the United States with its power of military occupation."

Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency." Referring to the recovery program, Malloy asserted that "if it is right to regulate by federal code the business of making money, then it must be doubly right and constitutional as well to regulate the criminal code to preserve the lives of the citizens of America."

The constitution, Malloy asserted, should be made responsive to the "demand of its creation—that is, the preservation of the public welfare." At another point he declared that "America has spent $50,000,000 a year and waived its right to precious revenue to enforce an unpopular law. It should be prepared to spend twice the amount to stamp out this outrage" said, after being forced to accompany the bandit about two miles down the road.

"I slowly raised my hands as ordered," he said. "He then told me to lie down on the floor, which I did.

"He looked around the bank and finally his eyes fell on the safe. He ordered me to get up. I did so. He walked out of the inner office to the outside counter. He then ordered me to put all the money in a sack and hand it over.

"In the vault there was approximately $7,000. I put about $5,000 in twenties and tens in the sack and about $1,500 in ones. The rest was in silver.

"'Pick up the sack and walk ahead of me to the car,' he commanded. We walked to the car, me carrying the sack. I opened the door and put the money on the floor. I started to get into the car, too, but he ordered me to lie down on the running board and fender with my head toward the engine. He had me covered the entire time with his machine gun.

"We rode about two miles down the road, when he slowed up and ordered me off. It was all done so quickly I could hardly realize what was happening. He quickly rode off in the direction of Wrightsville."

STATE COURT JURY FAVORS MANGHAM

Only 50 Minutes Required To Reach Verdict, Defeating Barnett.

department, and also within his rights in prescribing standards of qualifications for employes. The governor was given these rights in the reorganization act, Judge Hutcheson said.

"Abandonment" Defined.

"If the plaintiff (Barnett) and another member of the board (W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, ousted member) planned to operate a separate highway department with federal funds, beyond the control of the state government, that action constituted abandonment," Judge Hutcheson said.

"It was the duty of the plaintiff, in view of a conflict between two state departments, to yield to the governor's direction until a report of the whole situation could be made to the legislature. The law presumes that the governor is acting legally in performance of his duties unless it is shown to the contrary.

"Evidence tending to show misconduct or malfeasance may be considered only as showing good faith, intent or credibility," the court charged the jury. Judge Hutcheson said that "the evidence must show and you must believe that an officer intended to abandon an office in order to uphold a verdict of abandonment of office." An office is abandoned by an officer when the officer voluntarily quits office, by quitting or ceasing to perform his duties, Judge Hutcheson said.

The issue as put up to the jury by the court was "whether or not there was wilful abandonment of office." It could not be confined to a declaration of abandonment, but must be determined by facts, circumstances and acts, the court said. He charged the jury that the governor had no right to remove the chairman of the highway board, and could appoint a successor only if the office was vacated.

One important outcome of the trial, in the view of residents of Buchanan, is the probability, as seen by them, that whether Mangham or Barnett is successful in the appellate court, their road from Bremen probably will be paved now that both the legally recognized new chairman and the ousted chairman have traveled the unpaved stretch in bad weather. The road today was in dangerous condition, a persistent rain and heavy traffic churning the ordinarily smooth clay surface into a trap for unwary motorists.

Only Two Witnesses Heard.

Captain Barnett and Jud P. Wilhoit, "officer in charge" of the highway department during the reign of martial law and who is now chairman of the state public service commission, were the only witnesses of the three-day trial. Captain Barnett was on the stand for two days, undergoing vigorous cross-examination at the hands of Attorney General Manning J. Yeomans.

Barnett brought his action as a quo warranto petition, seeking to contest the right of Mangham to hold the office of chairman. Previous litigation over the highway department took the form of attempts to obtain federal injunctons against martial law, the federal court declining to intervene.

Only one argument was made to the jury. This was by Walter Matthews, Haralson county, who spoke in behalf of Mangham. Counsel for Barnett submitted their case without argument, Attorney Reuben R. Arnold stating that Barnett waived argument.

Documents Introduced.

Today's testimony was confined to introduction of documentary evidence by Mangham, after which both sides announced that they closed. Documents offered included the highway board's resolution calling for an appraisal of Lane's bridge, the S. B. Slack report to Chief Engineer B. P. McWhorter on the bridge, and the letter from Barnett to MacDonald, asking that federal funds be paid to the highway department instead of the state treasurer, as well as an undated resolution of the highway board calling for payment of the state engineers out of federal funds.

Judge Hutcheson allowed the evidence to get before the jury merely to "show the state of mind of the plaintiff, one of the main questions in the case being alleged intent to abandon the office." The court said that the jury could consider the documents on the element of "good faith" alone.

Maddox Makes Motion.

The Barnett motion for a directed verdict for the plaintiff was presented by Attorney G. Ed Maddox, of Rome, who told the court that the evidence wholly failed to show abandonment, and that "the undisputed evidence all goes to show that there was no abandonment."

"The defense has taken the burden of proof in the case, and has utterly failed to offer evidence showing abandonment by Captain Barnett," Maddox said. "This case is not a matter of persons, but is of serious consequence to the entire state.

"Captain Barnett has been shown to have been duly qualified as chairman. That is admitted by the defense. Mangham's right to the office depends on the order and commission of the governor. In the John N. Holder case, where Holder was reinstated as chairman by the courts after his post was vacated by Governor Clifford Walker, the supreme court waved aside all technicalities and ruled boldly that it was not within the power of the governor to declare a vacancy in any office."

"I understand that the governor could not declare an office vacant, but" said Judge Hutcheson, "they contend that the governor found it vacant and appointed Mr. Mangham."

Barnett "Dangerous Man."

Maddox referred to Captain Barnett as a "dangerous man." He said that "it took 30 men to keep him out of his office. They had soldiers all over the building, and had to prize him out of his office. To say that he abandoned the office is the most absurd thing I ever heard of."

Judge Hutcheson said that he did not feel like taking a chance on possible error. "The case has gone too far at too much expense to take such a chance in directing a verdict. The motion is overruled," Judge Hutcheson said.

Attorney Matthews, in the only argument presented to the jury, said that the law is that "when a controversy arises the governor may give direction to the matter until the legislature mets." He charged that Barnett disregarded the governor and went out of the line of his duties. "When he ceased to perform his duties and defied the constituted authorities, he abandoned his office," Matthews said.

WAY NOT YET CLEARED FOR RELEASE OF FUND.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Federal officials said tonight the Georgia court decision upholding Governor Talmadge's appointment of J. J. Mangham as chairman of the state highway board did not clear the way for advancement of Georgia's $10,000,000 allotment for roads from public works funds.

Secretary Wallace's office said the Georgia dispute probaly would be carried to higher courts and that such action would be awaited here.

Although officials made it plain they did not consider the court decision today cleared the situation which has caused them to withhold Georgia's allotment, they indicated other suggestions for solving the difficulty were still under consideration.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, could not be reached for comment.

Woman Grocery Owner, Perplexed By NRA, To Write Mrs. Roosevelt

Atlanta's attitude toward the NRA was shown Wednesday as nearly 500 Junior Chamber of Commerce workers combed the city to secure accurate figures on the progress of the NRA campaign and to "sell" the idea to those who so far have not climbed into the blue eagle's nest.

Many and varied were the stories related as the workers gathered for the report meeting late in the afternoon. There was the Greek restaurant proprietor out on Marietta street who explained that he had not signed an NRA agreement because he had it "on good authority that Governor Talmadge will do away with the NRA in a few days."

Two Chinese laundries were found, one already signed and co-operating 100 per cent, while the proprietor proudly flew his blue eagle, and the other, who could not speak English, used an interpretor to agree to increase his pay roll $24 a month and qualify for the blue eagle.

A Jewess, joint proprietor of a grocery with her husband, was perplexed. Her books showed she had barely made ends meet during the last several months and while she was anxious to sign the NRA pledge, she could think of no way to qualify. Suddenly she had an idea:

"I'll write Mrs. Roosevelt," she said. "I used to go to school to her in New York and she will tell me what to do."

Pathos had its part in the reactions found by workers. A grocer who had his son-in-law employed was evasive in answering questions until pressed for information and then revealed that he paid his relative no set sum, but whatever he could spare at the end of the week. He was pledged under the blue eagle by adopting the plan of paying his son-in-law a minimum of $14.50 a week and crediting him with balances unpaid.

One of the most appealing sights seen was that of an aged fruit peddler, pushing a cart of apples and vegetables, the front of which bore the blue eagle of the NRA.

Two employers, operating small establishments, were found who said they had not signed the president's agreement because they understood that "it was only a temporary measure and would be abandoned in a few weeks."

Racketeers were taking advantage of the anxiety of people to comply, workers reported, and in one section of town, employers reported that impostors had been trying to sell blue eagle lapel buttons, using threats to close the deals.

It was a day to reveal humor and pathos, the Jaycees agreed.

Dr. Paul Van Dyke Dies in Connecticut

WASHINGTON, Conn., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Dr. Paul Van Dyke, historian and former professor at Princeton University, died tonight at his summer home. He was 74 years old.

He was the only surviving brother of the late Dr. Henry Van Dyke, minister, author, educator and United States minister to The Netherlands and Luxemburg from 1913 to 1917.

THOUSANDS GIVEN WORK IN ATLANTA

ers have found 2,305 firms which were flying the blue eagle prior to their calls. Only a few more than 500 firms called upon have remained outside the NRA and there were special reasons, campaigners said, why nearly every one had been unable to start operation under a code.

W. L. Mitchell, district manager for the department of commerce, said the canvasses made in cities and towns over the state had resulted in a substantial increase in the number of agreements received. A total of 563 came in Wednesday, affecting 1,157 workers, making the total to date 20,901 firms who employ 148,330 people.

5,216 Firms Have Complied.

Certificates of compliance issued by Postmaster E. K. Large Wednesday amounted to 174, bringing the total to date to 5,216.

Hapeville, which claimed to be the first community in the United States to sign up employers 100 per cent under the blue eagle, reported Wednesday that the consumers' drive waged Tuesday had resulted in 100 per cent success and that every housewife in the city had signed.

A mass meeting of College Park citizens called for the purpose of obtaining pledges of consumers to the NRA campaign will be held in the Woman's Club building, Main street and Rugby avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight. The Woman's Club of College Park, of which Mrs. Charles Center is president, is sponsoring the meeting. Bond Almand, Atlanta attorney, and Mrs. Max E. Land, chairman of the NRA consumers' drive in Atlanta, will be the speakers.

At a called meeting the Woman's Club of College Park unanimously indorsed the NRA campaign and the effort tonight will be to pledge all the consumers in the community to give the NRA their unqualified support.

Atlanta Women Busy.

Meanwhile, Atlanta women working in the campaign under direction of Mrs. Max E. Land, chairman, were busy carrying the drive to women who spend a majority of the money earned by Atlantans. More than 250 NRA consumers' cards were signed at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, according to announcement Wednesday by Mrs. James E. Fuller, president. Mrs. W. P. Dunn, vice chairman of the women's group, reported that the Kle Club, women's auxiliary of the Elks, members were active in securing consumer signatures.

Workers in the canvass proceeded Wednesday despite the bad weather, but figures were not to be compiled on the day's work until today. The Jaycees met late in the afternoon for another report and instruction meeting.

The regular weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber will be held at 12:05 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel and the progress up to that hour will be discussed. Among the meetings to be held tonight are those of College Park citizens at 8 o'clock at the Woman's Club there, and the meeting of the Master Shoe Rebuilders of Atlanta at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

Industries Join NRA.

Sixty dry cleaners and 250 pressing establishments in Atlanta and suburbs have agreed to join in the re-employment agreement, according to announcement Wednesday by R. J. Snow, secretary of the Atlanta Dry Cleaning Association, following a meeting of those in the industry. He said with five firms already operating under the blue eagle, the new members brought the trade group to 100 per cent cooperation.

C. C. Crawford, manager of the Buckeye Cotton Oil Company, announced Wednesday that a re-employment agreement had been signed by officials of the firm and a new schedule of wages and hours had been put into effect. The Atlanta plant, one of 17 in the south, employes more than 100 persons, 36 of whom have been added since the agreement went into effect.

W. L. Mitchell, district manager of the department of commerce, announced new NRA interpretations from Washington Wednesday. Barbers, bootblacks and inside salesmen working on commission are exempt from the minimum wage if they were working solely on commission prior to June 16, 1933.

Another ruling said employes are to receive the benefit of legal holidays and are not to be worked longer on other days to make up for the loss in time.

WESTERN CHINA 'QUAKE KILLS 100 PERSONS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Delayed Chinese advices from Chengtu, capital of Szechwan province in western China, today said 100 persons were killed and considerable property was destroyed August 25 when an earthquake shook Chengtu and the surrounding territory.

ing to have it ready for President Roosevelt when he returns next week.

This plan was laid before spokesmen for the retailers—including druggists—today by Arthur D. Whiteside, deputy administrator, along with a revised code which had been drawn with his co-operation.

It was not made public, but officials indicated the major problem to be solved was how far the government could go in barring price slashing.

The master code for retailers as presented today by Whiteside provided that no merchandise should be sold below invoice prices plus 10 per cent. Some of the druggists have asked that their code stipulate that no discounts be permitted of more than 21 per cent below the price fixed by manufacturers on trade-marked goods.

Both of these ideas were directed against the "sales-leader" plan of selling some goods at a loss in order to attract customers into the store.

The retail code also struck out at misleading advertising and would prevent one firm from referring to another in advertisements.

Recovery officials announced today several modified presidential re-employment agreements and their provisions, as follows:

Folding box manufacturing: Provision for maximum work week of 40 hours with provision for truck drivers to work 48 hours and the hours over 40 to be considered as overtime; permission for certain factory employes to work 48 hours with the same conditions and firemen, watchmen and engineers 42 hours; minimum wage for factory employes 40 cents an hour unless the rate on July 15, 1929, was less than that amount, in which event the rate shall not be less than on that date and in no case less than 32 1-3 cents in the north and 30 cents in the south, and time and one-third to be paid for overtime.

Shoe last manufacturers: Maxium work week 40 hours average over four weeks and in no week more than 48 hours; minimum wage 35 cents an hour, except apprentices for 60 days to be paid not less than 80 per cent of the minimum, and apprentices not to exceed 5 per cent of the total number of employes.

Dental laboratory: For factory workers, maximum work week 40 hours; same for other employes except outside classifications; delivery messengers 44 hours a week; minimum wage for factory workers 40 cents an hour unless the rate was lower on July 15, 1929, in that case not less than such rate nor less than 30 cents in any event. Apprentices 35 cents an hour, not to exceed three months, and messengers $12 a week.

Seed: For employes other than factory workers and outside classifications, maximum work week 40 hours averaged over six weeks, not more than 48 hours in any week nor more than eight hours in any one day; store and service operations not less than 52 hours a week; for factory workers, 40 hours a week, with 10 per cent tolerance for engineers and firemen, and not more than 48 hours for growers and truck drivers, with time and a third for overtime. Minimum wage for factory workers, 40 cents per hour to male employes in the north and 30 cents for female employes in the north, except in towns of less than 50,000, where female employes shall receive not less than 25 cents an hour; and male employes not less than 30 cents an hour in the south, nor less than 25 cents per hour for female employes in the south, provided that where females do substantially the same work as males, they shall receive the same compensation.

Parking industry: Maximum work week, 40 hours for office employes other than executives receiving more than $35 in the north and $25 in the south, and outside classifications, averaged over four weeks, provided that such employes shall not work more than 48 hours in any one week; for cashiers not spending more than two-thirds of their time performing cashiers' duties, not more than 48 hours per week; for employes other than these and factory workers, 54 hours, provided that such employes after October 1 shall not be employed more than 48 hours a week, and provided further that employes engaged for one-third or more of their hours of labor at filling stations shall not be employed more than 48 hours a week; store and service operations not to be reduced below 52 hours; for factory workers, maximum work week 35 hours.

DAY BY DAY In Georgia's History

Sixty-nine years ago today the battle of Jonesboro, Ga., was fought.

On September 4, 1858, the first board of education in Georgia was established and was known as what?

For the two best 20-word original answers to the foregoing question Loew's Grand theater, co-operating with The Constitution, will award two pairs of guest tickets to see "Broadway to Hollywood." Answers must be mailed to the Day-by-Day Editor, Constitution, and must bear a postmark not later than midnight tomorrow.

"Broadway to Hollywood" is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production starring Jackie Cooper, Jimmy Durante, Alice Brady, Madge Evans and Frank Morgan. This picture starts a week's run at the Grand Friday.

Today's winners: L. P. Coker, 532 Plum street, N. W.; R. T. Nesbitt, 953 Highland View, N. E. Guest tickets are mailed to the winners each day.

State May Get More C.C.C. Camps; 500 To Be Moved South for Winter

Additional civilian forestry camps for Georgia this winter appeared in prospect at the capitol Wednesday as federal officials called on state authorities to submit additional projects on which men in camps in the north and east could find work during the cold months in the milder climate of this state.

Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, in Washington, wrote Governor Talmadge saying it would be necessary to abandon 500 camps in cold climates for the winter, and that this probably would mean the sending of additional men to warmer climates in the south. He invited the state to submit projects on which such work could be done, and for which additional camps in Georgia during the winter months could be justified.

Governor Talmadge replied that "Georgia welcomes all the forestry camps that you can send. We have fine climate, good roads, plenty of railroads, good water, and the largest forestry area of any state in the union.

"Anything that I can do to help you in this work, or to co-operate in it, let me know."

Lufburrow Submits Proposals.

B. M. Lufburrow, state forester, wrote Mr. Fechner at the governor's direction, and submitted proposals for various camp projects in Georgia. The list proposed was not made public.

"We feel that all of these projects fully qualify, both from the standpoint of the law and the amount of work to be done, and we hope that they, as well as the continuation of the present camps, will be approved," Lufburrow wrote.

"Governor Talmadge is particularly interested in the camp on the state prison farm in Tattnall county, and complete information for this project is being forwarded to the federal agencies with the other camp projects.

"The governor has visited a number of these camps and is very much gratified with the amount of work which the boys are doing as well as the spirit manifested by these boys."

Many New Projects.

"The fourth corps area will receive many additional companies and many new work projects will be undertaken," said Major General Edward L. King, commander of the corps area, Wednesday. "It is most probable that some camps will be established for work on the Tennessee Valley project, but other states in the south will also receive additional companies."

Some time ago he directed his staff to make a study of conditions in the corps area with a view to being prepared to take care of the new companies.

As to the enrollment of the necessary personnel for the camps, each man now enrolled will be given the option of re-enrolling for another six months. To fill the vacancies arising from discharges, the labor department and the veterans' administration have been directed to initiate at once the selection of 25 per cent of the number of men equal to the original quotas in order to be able to immediately bring the civilian conservation corps to full strength.

Enrollments thereafter will be based on strength reports submitted by the war department. After the full strength has once been obtained no further enrollments will be authorized and present plans contemplate the discharge of all men between the dates of April 1 and 15. In obtaining the 250,000 young men, the 25,000 veterans and the 25,000 local enrollments of experienced foresters, the selection will be governed by the state quotas originally announced.

BOWEN INDICTMENT DRAWN FAULTILY, LAWYER CHARGES

Charging that the indictment against Pryor Bowen, Lavonia youth, charged with complicity in the kidnaping of John K. Ottley, is faulty, Len G. Guillebeau, Bowen's attorney, announced Wednesday he will file a demurrer to it Saturday.

"I want my client to have a fair trial, but I am filing this demurrer at once in order that the trial, scheduled for September 12, will not be delayed," Guillebeau said.

The attorney also discussed the Georgia kidnaping laws, saying that they are extremely lax.

"Present Georgia laws provide that persons over 18 years old must be taken out of the county in which they are abducted to constitute kidnaping," Guillebeau said.

"In fact, if Mr. Ottley had been kept in Fulton county, the only charge which could have been placed against those responsible would have been one of false arrest, which is punishable only as a misdemeanor. The legislature should correct present laws to offer greater protection to citizens of this state."

ATLANTA WOMAN WRITES OF VIEW OF MIDNIGHT SUN

The thrill of seeing the "midnight sun" apparently rise and set in the same instant was related to Atlanta friends in a letter written by Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, world traveler and lecturer, this week. She witnessed the northern phenomenon while at Magdalena Bay, Spitzbergen, only 9 1-2 degrees from the north pole.

Describing the section as the "refrigerator of the world," Mrs. Ashby said she counted 10 glaciers that terminate in Spitzbergen. Speaking of the prospect of landing, she said the only sign of life was a sealing vessel. She planned to spend three days in Spitzbergen.

Mrs. Ashby, who has traveled around the globe in both the northern and southern hemispheres, is making a tour of the far north. Recently she visited Nordkapp, Norway, the most northerly city in the world.

CAREFUL DRIVERS AWARDED TICKETS, HONOR ROLL PLACE

Ten unusually careful drivers making their way over the wet, slippery streets of downtown Atlanta were noted Wednesday morning during the rain by a staff reporter. Cautiously rounding difficult corners and otherwise carefully observing the traffic regulations, they were spotted for addition to The Constitution's honor roll of careful drivers and to receive guest tickets to Loew's Grand theater.

Again today a reporter will check downtown traffic and select ten exceptionally careful drivers for the honor roll. For their courtesy and caution in operating motor vehicles, guest tickets to Loew's Grand will be mailed to them this afternoon.

Wednesday's honor roll included: Hal M. Stanley, 223 Kings highway, Decatur; Elwyn W. Pomlinson, 830 W. Peachtree; Daisy Daniels, 1302 W. Peachtree; Consolidated Quarries, 508 Bona Allen building; Miss Julia Collins, 1279 W. Peachtree; C. M. Hill, Covington, Ga.; Etheridge Waller, 997 Ashby Grove, S. W.; Mildred Self, 14 East Seventeenth street; Miss Winifred McNeal, 894 Oakdale, N. E.; Robert Maddox, Pace's Ferry road.

BLANCHE CALLAWAY PLAYS HERE MONDAY

Wielding a mean baton over her 14 "joy boys," Blanche Callaway will bring Atlanta novelties in a special Labor Day dance in the Shrine Mosque ballroom on Monday night next.

Blanche is a sister of the famous Cab Callaway. A "midnight ramble" for negro dancers, to which white spectators are invited, will be held at the city auditorium at midnight next Sunday.

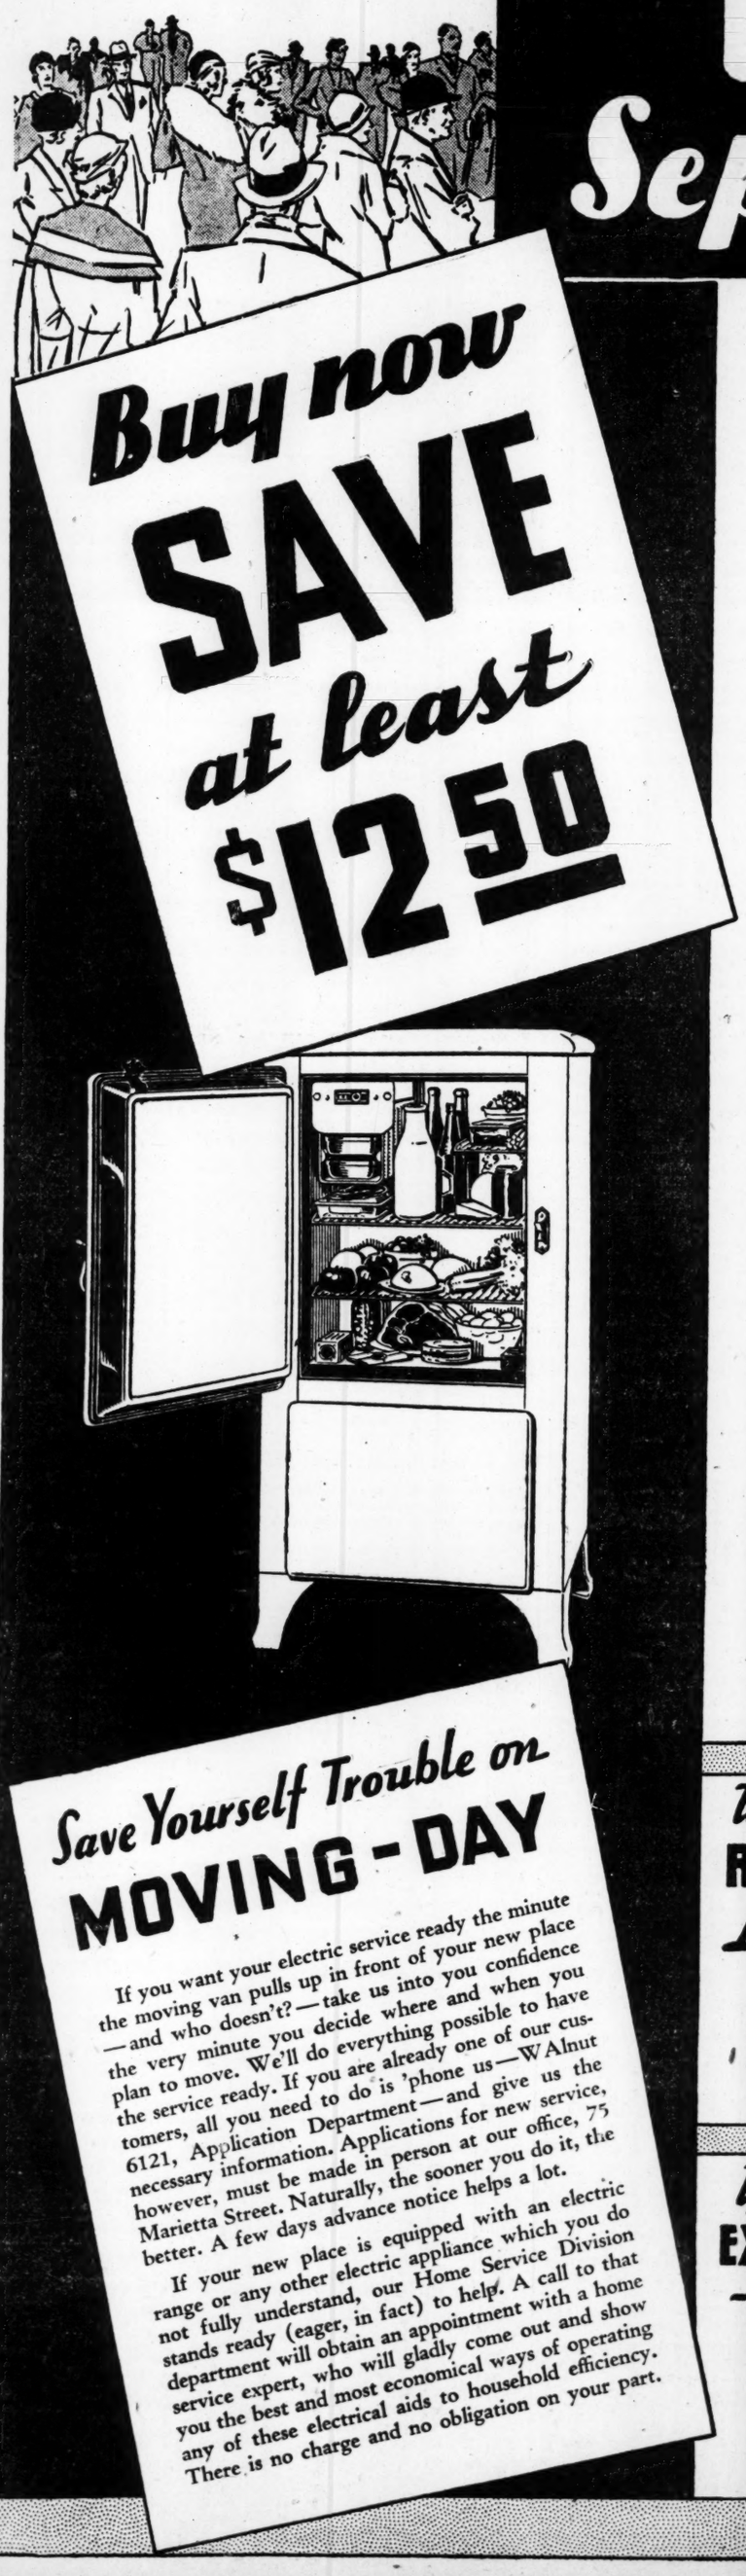

SEEDS TO BE GIVEN OUT FOR WINTER PRODUCE

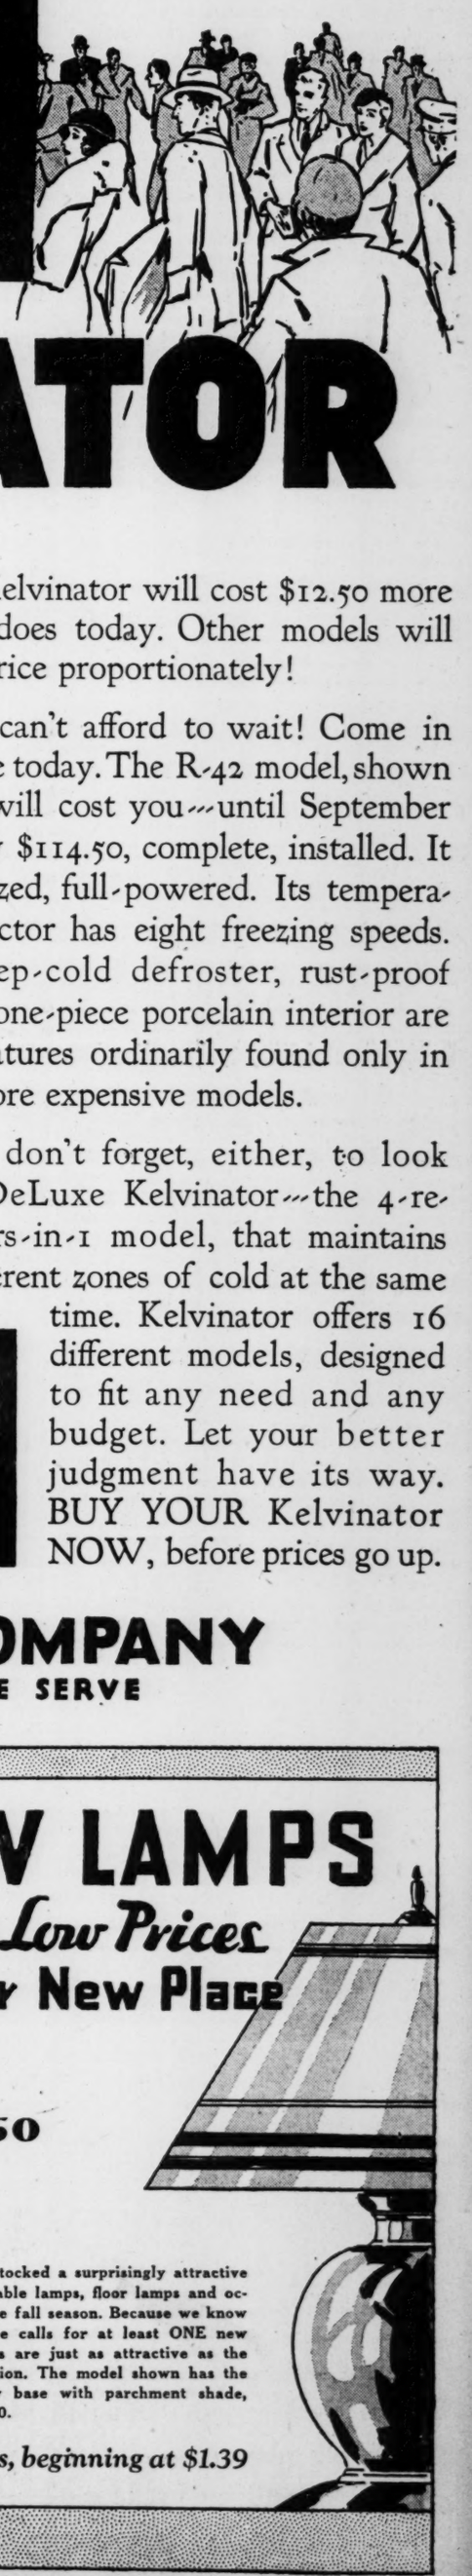

Garden seeds will be distributed in September in time for winter vegetables, F. J. Merrian, supervisor of garden projects of the Georgia federal relief commission, announced Wednesday.

"As soon as all county requirements have been turned in, seeds will be ready for distribution," he said.

Scott Hudson and John Terwilliger Beaten in First Round

Messenger Relieved He Is No Longer Relieving for Those Crackers

"When was I ever a relief pitcher?" asked Andrew Messenger. And a bit petulantly, I thought. Although it was a bit difficult to understand why any fellow who had escaped from the Crackers and the dungeon would be petulant about anything.

But there he was, repeating it. "When was I ever a relief pitcher?"

"Why, never," said I.

"That's right," said he. "Never. And that's why I couldn't get going for Atlanta. I can pitch every four days, but not if I have to relieve every other day."

I had discovered Andrew Messenger, who was released by the Crackers to New Orleans in exchange for Carlos Moore, standing in the hotel lobby where his club is stopping. On Tuesday he had shut out the Barons and edged the Pelicans on toward the second-half pennant, and a play-off with Memphis for the entire pennant.

He had been a winner with poor Cracker clubs, but this season found him unable to get going. His swap to the Pelicans followed. It was a very decided kick up the steps. Andrew Messenger is going to pitch in the series money and share in the series cuts.

The ex-Cracker refused to comment on the Cracker situation, beyond saying he felt in the spring he was with a winner and was sorry he couldn't pitch for the Crackers. "Things just weren't right for it," he said. "I couldn't relieve and start. That's all."

He had no criticism for anyone, but he did have a lot of pleasant things to say about Larry Gilbert. Most people do. The Pelican manager seems to inspire loyalty.

THIS FELLOW GILBERT.

Larry Gilbert came into the Southern association in 1917 as an outfielder with the New Orleans club. But Larry Gilbert wasn't always an outfielder. Once he was a chucker. And is he interested in the Braves?

Gilbert was pitching with his left hand and giving his services to Victoria (a town and not a lady) in the Southwest Texas league in 1910. In 1911 he was pitching for Battle Creek, winning 18 ball games and losing 16.

He figured in an early baseball row. At the end of the 1911 season Milwaukee bought him from the president of the Battle Creek club. Charlie Frank bought him from the manager, one of the few errors Charley Frank ever made. Milwaukee won the argument. Gilbert was a big factor in winning the flag for Milwaukee and was drafted by the Boston Braves.

WAS A FIGURE IN THE 1914 PENNANT RACE.

Gilbert was a figure in the 1914 pennant race. He was recalling yesterday how the Braves came from nowhere to a tie with the Giants on Labor Day. And then went on to pick up nine ball games and win the pennant.

"We were in the cellar for a long time. I forget how long, but it was quite a while," he said, "and then we began to come. But it took us until Labor Day to tie for first place."

Gilbert got into one of the World Series games, going in as a pinch hitter and getting a base on balls. New Orleans got Gilbert from Kansas City in 1917.

He had other chances to go back to the big show, but he stuck with New Orleans and the decision to stick was a profitable one.

He's after his fourth Southern association pennant, having won in 1923, 1926 and 1927.

MORGAN HIS LUCK PIECE.

Addition of Eddie Morgan, the first baseman, and Andy Messenger, the brand from the burning, literally put the Pelicans up in the race.

Morgan's hitting and fielding in every day's play has been the largest factor in the second-half drive of the Pelican outfit.

When the second half started the Pelicans dropped seven of the first 11 games played. The club was on the chutes and the track was cleared. There was no sand.

Morgan came along. Since the Cleveland Indians sold him to New Orleans the Pelicans have won 35 ball games and lost just 17. Which is pennant-winning baseball in any league.

Morgan was with the Pelicans in 1927 when Gilbert won the pennant. And now that Morgan is back again, Gilbert seems to be on his way once more.

New Orleans has had many great first basemen—Doc Johnston, Roy Leslie, Snake Henry and others, but New Orleans baseball writers name Morgan as the best one.

THE CITY GOLF MEDALIST.

One of the romances of golf was the medal honors in the city golf tournament won by Johnny Terwilliger. Terwilliger happens to manage one of the Piggly Wiggly grocery stores on Ponce de Leon avenue. His hours are from very early until very late. Most of his practice has been at night or in the hours just before dark.

Yet he was good enough to win the medal and give Jim Ison, a veteran player and a good tournament player, a great battle, losing Wednesday, one up.

It all depends on the swing. And Johnny Terwilliger has given followers of the game a new lesson in what determination will do. The tournament medalist, it seems, not only knows his onions but the golf swing as well. Piggly Wiggly will likely recognize ambition and perseverance such as his. The old copy-book virtues are still worth while.

MR. BECKETT'S TEES.

Howard Beckett, the Capital City Club professional, put the tees as far back as possible when qualifying began Monday in the city tournament.

Yesterday the best moan of the week was heard. All the boys had complained about the distance from the tees. Yesterday one man came in and said:

"I don't mind the tees being far back, but just a while ago when I stepped back to put down my tee an automobile ran over my foot, which was in the road."

And he limped on off. The Capital City course has proved quite difficult, as the scores in the medal round showed.

YOUNG SUTTER TWICE WINNER IN STATE MEET

Several Matches Played at Club Despite Steady Rains.

By Jack Troy.

Skipping among the rain drops on a slippery clay court, Ernie Sutter, brother of Cliff Sutter, and a promising young New Orleans player, Wednesday won two matches to advance to the quarter-finals in the junior division of the Georgia state championship at the Biltmore Tennis Club.

Sutter, who is also entered in the men's division, won his first round junior match over Vernon Grizzard, 6-2, 6-2. Then he encountered Marion Reese, brother of Billy, and swept the board for the day's play with another triumph, 6-2, 6-4.

HAS SLIGHT EDGE.

Sutter and Marion Reese, otherwise known as the champ, can be found most any day after hours playing heated ping pong matches at Milo's tennis shop. Reese has a slight edge on Sutter in the minature table-top game, but he lacks the experience of the New Orleans youngster in tennis.

One of the many products of Mercer Beasley, young Sutter, seeded No. 2 in the junior division, has a variety of sound strokes. He plays easily and rarely ever tries to smash a shot. He lets the other fellow do that. He keeps returning shots from all parts of the courts and leads his opponent into errors.

Reese won his first round match from E. Sutherland, 6-2, 7-5. Reese is potentially a star player. He has been playing only a year and is acquiring a good style.

Other junior matches played yesterday saw Malcolm Manley defeat A. Chiboucas, 6-1, 6-1, and Campbell Gillespie eliminate R. Treadaway.

BOYS' DIVISION.

There were three first-round matches in the boys' division. P. Winn defeated John Buffington, 6-1, 6-1; Bill Gillespie elminated Howard Sharman Jr., 6-1, 6-2, and Wesley Barnett downed C. Quigg, 6-1, 6-0.

Rain has thrown the second round of men's singles two days behind and generally interrupted the schedule.

Hoping for a break in weather conditions, the Biltmore club plans to double up today in an attempt to get back on schedule.

Play yesterday began around 10 a. m. and continued until the conditions of the courts prohibited further tennis action.

Today juniors' and boys' play begins at 9 a. m. Women's singles get under way at 2 p. m. and men's second-round singles and first-round doubles at 3.

CRACKERS PLAY TWICE TODAY

Very cheerful about it all, the New Orleans Pelicans arrived in Atlanta Wednesday morning and took a day of rest as a chill rain fell steadily all day.

The Pelicans will meet the Crackers this afternoon at 2 o'clock in a double-header with Fred Johnson slated to pitch the first game and Dennis Galehouse the second. The Crackers, whose heads are bloody and bowed, will likely use Ted Kleinhans and either Meadows or Butcher.

The Crackers have been idle since Sunday, when they dropped two games to the Chattanooga club. Kleinhans may give New Orleans some trouble as may Meadows. But no other pitchers are likely to halt the Pelicans, who have won nine straight.

Larry Gilbert did not mind a day of rest, although he does not think his club has tightened up and feels any strain as yet.

"We have a good chance to win," said Gilbert. "But we aren't counting any unhatched chickens. Memphis won today and gained a half game on us, but we aren't going to get rattled about it. We'll just play our same sort of game.

"We haven't made any arrangements about any play-off with Memphis. We want to be sure we are in it before we do that. I recall the Braves and how we just managed to tie on Labor Day and then went on to win, and I know that anything can happen in baseball. So we'll wait and see what we do with Memphis."

Gilbert was high in his praise of Andy Messenger, the tall righthander who was secured from the Crackers to help pitch the Pelicans out in front.

The Crackers and Pelicans will play four games here. They were scheduled at night, but prospects are now that all will be played in sunlight beginning with today's double-header.

TORONTO SWIM WON BY IOWAN

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Marvin Nelson, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, today won the Canadian national exhibition 5-mile swim and first prize of $5,000.

Bill Goll, of New York, finished second, and won $1,500, while Frank Pritchard, of Buffalo, took third place and $700.

Nelson established a new record for the distance when he completed the 15 miles under ideal water conditions in 7 hours 4 minutes and 52 seconds. The previous record was set at 7:19:52 last year by George Blagden, Memphis lawyer, who dropped out today after swimming 12 miles.

Cochet Declines Comment on Plans

ALES, France, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Henri Cochet, France's great singles player, declined to comment today on reports that he had decided to turn professional. He is on his way to Sete on the Mediterranean where he will compete in an amateur tournament.

"Nothing is yet definite. I don't know what my plans will be," he replied when asked if he would inaugurate his professional tour, as had been reported, by teaming with Martin Plaa against Bill Tilden and Bruce Barnes in a series of Franco-American matches starting September 22.

Bill McKechnie Signs Five-Year Brave Contract

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, tonight announced that Manager Bill McKechnie had signed a new five-year contract.

McKechnie, when he came to the Braves four years ago, told Fuchs he would need at least that much time to reorganize the club on a winning basis. He signed his new contract on the eve of the Braves' crucial series with the top-place New York Giants.

Fuchs' announcement was a bit surprising, although it has been known for some time that McKechnie would be retained for another long period. Only yesterday both he and Fuchs said they had not time to discuss such matters, with the Braves in the thick of the National league pennant race, and did not expect to get around to it for some time to come.

Early in the season, long before the Braves started climbing, Fuchs announced that McKechnie could manage the club as long as he wished.

EARNSHAW QUITS WHEN REQUESTED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Big George Earnshaw and the Philadelphia Athletics have come to the parting of the ways—at least so far as the 1933 campaign is concerned.

Pitching hero of the 1930 World Series and one-time ace right-hander of the A's hurling staff, Earnshaw has hung up his glove and spikes, disclosing today that Manager Connie Mack had retired him for the remainder of this season.

The action climaxed the rift between Earnshaw and the veteran manager which had its inception last winter when news dispatches reported that the hurler picked the New York Yankees to repeat in the American league race this season "in a walk."

Earnshaw had been sent home twice from the road during the campaign this year. Once from Detroit with the order to "get in condition;" the second time from New York with a fine and suspension.

Earnshaw would say nothing today concerning the possibility that he may be through with the game for good.

He expained that three weeks ago he recevied permission to leave the A's in Cleveland, becaus he was anxious to be home and did not care to make the last western road trip which ended yesterday in Chicago.

"I received a letter from Mr. Mack yesterday asking me to retire for the season," he said today. "I went to Shibe park, cleaned out my personal belongings and I'm through for the year."

Reports of a rift between the veteran right-hander and the A's management have been current for some time. It has been reported that he took a salary cut in his contract this year, with stipulation that he pitch under a bonus agreement. He is reported as resenting not having sufficient opportunities to pitch to earn the bonus. His record for the season is six victories and nine losses.

LOTT, STOEFEN WIN DOUBLES

By Bill King,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 30.—(AP)—George M. Lott Jr., of Chicago, hailed by many as the world's outstanding doubles tennis player, today master-minded himself and Lester Stoefen, lanky Los Angeles star, into the national team championship with an 11-13, 9-7, 9-7, 6-3 triumph over Frank X. Shields, New York, and 17-year-old Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, in the final match at Longwood.

Almost every stroke made during the 65-game contest was at Lott's dictation. He used Shields and Parker, two of the finest younger players in the game, as foils for his uncanny skill. Many times they rebelled against his forcing tactics, but George whipped them back into line with his delicate shots and compelled them to set up more than 50 kills for the slashing Stoefen, who was invincible and unreliable by turn during the entire match.

NOT BALANCED.

Lott and Stoefen paired only two weeks ago at Newport, at the suggestion of Bernon S. Prentice, United States Davis cup team captain. And they are far from being a well-balanced team, as the recapitulation of the stroke analysis proved. During the 65 games Lott made but 45 errors to 80 for Stoefen and had 24 earned points to 51. Shields, the opposition ace, also had 80 and 43 earned points, and Parker, Lott's arch rival in singles competition, had 65 miscues and 23 earned points.

Lott appeared to do all of the thinking during the match and seemed bent on making Stoefen and the opposition do most of the heavy playing. But many times he was forced to jump into the thick of things, pull Stoefen out of holes of his own digging and his racquet supplied most of the power that cracked Parker's service for the required three sets.

COMES TO RESCUE.

When Stoefen had control of his wonderful game, Lott gave him his head, but as soon as the California youngster became unsteady, the master mind came to his rescue by setting off long series of baffling lobs that generally drove Shields into the net. Lott's sharply-cut drop shots ruined Parker's steadiness every now and then, and when the youngster became wild, Lott exacted every possible penalty from him.

Paul Dean Bought By St. Louis Cards

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Paul Dean, strikeout king of the American association and "kid" brother of "Dizzy" Dean, spectacular Cardinal hurler, has been bought by the St. Louis National league-ball club from its Columbus farm for delivery next spring.

Acquisition of the 20-year-old hurler was announced tonight by Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals, who said every major league club was after the services of Dean.

WESTERN QUEEN BEATS MADDOX AT EXMOOR, 5-4

Misses Van Wie and Wilson Lead Advance in Women's National.

By Paul Mickelson,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

EXMOOR CLUB, HIGHLAND PARK, ILL., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Blazing the trail with prize shots that vanquished their foes and par by decisive margins, the golfing queens of great Britain and the United States, Enid Wilson and Virginia Van Wie, led a victory march of the favorites into the quarter-finals of the national women's championship today at Exmoor.

The English girl, out to place the American trophy alongside the three British crowns she has won in succession, and the American champion both shattered par by three strokes.

Miss Wilson disposed of Mrs. Harley Higbie, of Detroit, 4 and 3, while Miss Van Wie, decorating her card with two eagles, defeated Mrs. Leo Federman, of New York, 4 and 2.

RISING STARS.

Together with the champions of the leading golf nations, a pair of rising stars, Charlotte Glutting, of West Orange, N. J., and Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines, western champion, and four of America's most prominent contenders emerged victorious. The four were Mrs. Leona Cheney, San Gabriel, Cal., 1929 finalist; Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., finalist in 1927; Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, three times western champion, and Helen Hicks, 1931 titleholder from New York.

Not one match was close today, Miss Robinson turned in the largest margin with a 5-4 triumph over Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, and Miss Glutting, who conquered Miss Wilson at Salem last year and who faces the English champion again tomorrow, winning by the shortest advantage in defeating Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Cheney, three over par for the distance, eliminated the hope of the south, Aniela Gorczca, of Fort Worth, 4 and 3; Miss Orcutt defeated Mrs. Charles Newbold, of Wichita, 4 and 2, while Mrs. Hill routed Frances Williams, Philadelphia, 4 and 3, the same score by which Miss Hicks halted the title bid of Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh, of Vicksburg, Miss.

GOOD SCORES.

Eagles and birdies perched on several cards today as ideal weather provided perfect scoring conditions over the rolling terrain, but Miss Wilson shot the best golf. Out in 36, three under par, as she whaled into the ball for average tee shots of better than 200 yards and iron shots that split the pin, the tall, blonde English champion led from start to finish.

On the front nine, the Briton went four up and held her lead with par the rest of the way, ending the match brutally on the fifteenth green by matching Mrs. Higbee's birdie four. At that, Mrs. Higbie scored close to par. Using woods with 43 1-2 inch shafts and bamboo shafted irons, Miss Wilson strayed from the fairway only six times, and then recovered brilliantly.

Miss Van Wie collected her eagles on the second and the fifth holes. On the second, a 500-yard stretch with par at five, she chipped in from 30 feet off the green for a 3. On the fifth, she smacked a long spoon shot of 200 yards so deadly that she had only a 3-foot putt. Out in 37, she led three up. Mrs. Federman won the thirteenth and fourteenth holes, but Virginia didn't give her a chance thereafter, ending the struggle with two successive birdies.

Mrs. Cheney, who will attempt to stop Virginia's march to a second consecutive title tomorrow, forged in front of the 21-year-old Texas girl on the eighth and ninth holes with a par and a birdie and was never headed.

Mrs. Hill and Miss Orcutt, who broke even against each other in the south last winter in sectional championship warfare, meet tomorrow.

CRAIG TO RACE ON CARD HERE

Out of the mountains north of Rome at Cloudland Forest camp, direct from Veterans Company 2417, will come Pete Craig, the Gainesville sage of speed and oft-time journalist, to compete in the A. A. A. Labor Day auto races at Lakewood park Monday.

Pete, an old-timer in the game, will drive a racer which once had at its wheel one of the greatest drivers of modern times. Craig is going to wheel Billy Arnold's former dirt track car, then known as the Spearing Special, with which the redoubtable Arnold won two Langhorne speedway auto races.

Babe Gray, born Georgian, but now living in North Carolina, is the owner of the car Craig will drive. Babe will drive his other car himself. He calls one car a Frontegray and the other a Rajogray.

Other Georgia contributions to the speed fold will be Billie Mullins and Bobbie Roberts, of Valdosta; Gene Sowell, of Macon, the fast coming local favorite; Red Redmond, well in the money here on July 4 behind Chet Gardner and Lloyd Vieaux, and possibly Alton Hanson back on the wheel of Archie Britten's mount, also in the money at Lakewood on July 4.

Sturdy Expects To Pilot Pebbles

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Guy Sturdy said today he expects to manage the Little Rock baseball club again next year.

Sturdy, here with his team for a Memphis series, said he thought his work was satisfactory to club executives, and that he expects a contract again next season.

Conquers Atlantan

The smiling young lady above is responsible for Miss Margaret Maddox, Atlanta golf champion, for being among those in the gallery at the national women's golf championship. She is Miss Lucille Robinson, western titleholder, and she defeated Miss Maddox, 5-4, at Exmoor club yesterday in the second round of play.

Atlanta Sandlotter Signed by Athletics

"Bubber" Yarter, Who Played With Inman Park Cardinals, Goes Up.

By Ralph McGill.

Jerome (Bubber) Yarter, who started his baseball career by hustling the ingredients of the pause that refreshes about the Atlanta baseball park, is going to the majors.

He was one of the Inman Park Cardinals of 1929, was Bubber Yarter. He played third base for that irrepressible crew which all but stormed its way to the national championship series—and would have but for a jaunt up the myriad steps of the Washington monument.

Yarter, an Atlanta boy, played shortstop all this season for the Macon Peaches in the Georgia State league. Ira Thomas, the big fellow who scouts for the Athletics, watched the Peaches for five games and then signed Yarter.

"The best shortstop prospect I have seen in years," said Thomas.

Yarter will report to the Athletics at Fort Myers next spring and will probably be farmed out to Portland for one year's seasoning.

SECOND TO SIGN.

Yarter is the second of the Inman Park Cardinals to be signed by a major league club. Bill Good Jr., son of the former Cracker manager, was signed by the Cardinals last spring and taken East with them. He will report to the Cardinal camp again next spring. Good was an outfielder with the Cardinals but went to shortstop while playing semi-pro ball with Brooksville in a Florida state league.

The Cardinals were the greatest sandlot team the south has seen. It was my pleasure to travel with them through all their joys and their final sorrow.

GREAT NAMES.

What names they had. There was "Dog" Leary at first base. There was "Radio" Lyle and "Whistle" Roberts and "Speedy" Kunsberg and "Bubber" Yarter and a long list of kids. Most of them worked around the baseball park.

And their mascot was Joe Gerson, who was captain of the north side terrors, the sandlot winners in Atlanta this past season.

I will always remember the Cardinals at Albany, Georgia, in the state series. They stayed up for two nights in the hotel. It was the first time many of them had ever been in a hotel.

They won three games and came home on a Pullman.

THAT PULLMAN TRIP.

The Pullman left at 9 o'clock and the Cardinals were in bed at 8 o'clock—traveling in a Pullman just like a real big league team—it was too much.

And at 9 o'clock they began to get thirsty. It was very hot. Not a one of them had brought pajamas. They were slepeing in the raw or in underwear.

And Joe Gerson, clad only in a pair of pants, lugged water for an hour—carrying at least fifty of those paper cups filled with ice water.

And I still recall the gasp of two elderly ladies who entered the car just as the train was leaving—and encountered the scantily clad mascot with two cups in each hand and one hung from his teeth.

And now they are going to the big leagues. How time does get on. Will someone bring the old man his slippers.

Buckley Insists On Jimmy Johnston

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Jack Sharkey is willing to meet Max Schmeling in New York in December, but only if Jimmy Johnston, of Madison Square Garden, promotes the fight, Johnny Buckley, manager of the former world heavyweight champion, announced today.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, while agreeing to the bout, has opposed Johnston as the promoter.

Sharkey will leave Boston Tuesday for Chicago for his bout there with King Levinsky September 15.

Kremer Released By Oakland Team

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Oakland team, of the Pacific Coast baseball league, today announced the release of Ray Kremer, former World's Series star for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Kremer had finished only one of the eight games in which he appeared.

Rest Planned By Mrs. Moody, Then More Play

By Russell Newland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody does not expect to be out of the world tennis picture for a long time to come. Neither does she regret her action in defaulting to Helen Jacobs in the national championship finals last week.

Smilingly agreeable and answering questions with willingness that contrasted sharply with her sudden withdrawal from the finals and quick departure from Forest Hills last Saturday, the young woman who ruled undisputed for seven years returned to her home today.

Her husband, Frederick Moody Jr., greeted her.

Give up tennis? The deposed queen of the courts laughed as though the question was absurd. "Certainly not," she said. "That is, I hope I will not have to. I am going to rest for six months. If the doctors say I have fully recovered from this injury I shall play as much as ever. I love the game too much to give it up if I do not have to. My hope is I will be ready for the tournament season next year.

Mrs. Moody traced her condition to a vacation near Santa Cruz, many months ago. She lifted heavy rocks, but felt no ill effects at the time. She said she first noticed the injury three months ago while en route to London, where she won the Wimbledon championship.

Apparently firm in the belief she did right in leaving the court when Miss Jacobs was leading 3-0 in the deciding set, Mrs. Moody said:

"I don't regret my action. As the match progressed I had several dizzy spells. I felt as though I was about to faint. The thought of fainting seemed so silly. I disliked causing a scene.

"The pain in my right leg grew intense. I knew what I should do, but could not follow out my impulses as I should. So I just decided to stop playing. Under the same conditions I would do it again.

Mrs. Moody said there was no such thing "as a feud between Miss Jacobs and me. We have always had in common a mutual love for tennis. I think she is a splendid competitor. I am sorry the match ended as it did."

Mrs. Moody parried the question as to whether she thought she could beat Miss Jacobs under normal conditions but her attitude reflected optimism as she said:

"One never knows what the outcome of a match will be."

She said Miss Jacobs was "always consistent" in a match.

Jones Meets Cox On Weber Card

John Paul Jones meets Joe Cox in the feature match of Henry Weber's second wrestling card of the indoor season Tuesday night at the city auditorium. This will be Jones' first appearance since he was injured in the automobile accident that claimed the life of George Kotsonaros.

Frank Speer, former Tech tackle, will meet Indian Tom Marvin in the semi-windup. Tickets are on sale at Miner & Carter and the Piedmont Hatters.

HEALEY DROPS 1932 CHAMPION FROM TOURNEY

Jim Ison Defeats Medalist; Both Capital City Club Members.

By Roy White.

Elimination of Scott Hudson Jr., defending champion, and John Terwilliger, medalist, featured the first round of the annual city amateur golf championship tournament Wedesnday afternoon on a rain-soaked Capital City Country Club course. The greens and fairways were heavy from a continual rain, but the dampness failed to interfere with the low scoring and sensational golf.

Jim Ison, a veteran Capital City star, defeated Terwilliger, the medalist, 1 up, in a fine battle which was witnessed by a good crowd. Bill Healey, another Capital City player, defeated Hudson, 3-2.

The defeat of Hudson and Terwilliger was not the only outstanding feature of the first day, for the veteran Chick Ridley, a former Georgia champion, eliminated Charlie Black Jr. Hoke Cooley, young municipal player, defeated Bruce Morgan, medalist in the recent Radium Springs invitation tournament, and Dr. Green Warren, won from Bill Terrell.

PLENTY OF ACTION.

There was plenty of action and sensational golf, particularly at the difficult 18th green, and a large crowd braved the all-day rain to see the finish of several excellent matches.

Play in the championship flight was much closer than ever before in a city tourney and seven of the 16 matches played on the 18th green, with two of them going extra holes.

Terwilliger was 1 up on Ison at the turn but neither player was outstanding. On the back nine, Ison squared the match at 11 and went one up at 12. A stymie gave Terwilliger the 13th and after halving the 14th Ison won the 15th with a birdie three. The match was again squared at the 17th. A par three on the 18th won the match for Ison. Ison had a 40-35—75 to Terwilliger's 40-36—76.

Healey turned all square with Hudson but shot three birdies in rapid fire order to close out the match on the 16th.

HARRIS WINS.

George Harris, a member of the Tech golf team, finished three under par for 14 holes to close out Josh Davis, 5-4.

John Westmoreland and Gene Gaillard played a sensational match which Westmoreland won on the 20th green. He sank a 10-foot putt on the 19th for a half.

Hoke Cooley supplied the most sensational shot of the day. His drive from the 18th tee hit a tree to the right of the green and the ball bounded back on the green. Bruce Morgan, his opponent, was just short of the green on his drive. Cooley was stymied but played it safe to halve the hole and win the match.

Dr. Green Warren played two fine shots at the 18th green to beat Bill Terrell. His drive was hooked near the drink stand. He played a second five feet from the cup and sank a putt, as Terrell's ball rimmed the cup and dropped out.

DODD WINS EASILY.

Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech's backfield coach, had the easiest match of the day, winning over L. T. Fryckberg, 8-7, in the second division. Dodd missed the championship division by one stroke.

Today's matches in the championship flight will start at 1:20 o'clock with Bill Healey and Jim Ison leading the way.

The seventh flight will start the day's play at 9 o'clock with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth following in order. The second flight will follow the championship.

The defeated eight players in the championship flight today will form a consolation flight.

In addition to the Healey-Ison match, the Chick Ridley-Berrien Moore match, George Harris and Hoke Cooley, and John Westmoreland and

LEADERS BEAT CARDS; BOSTON DEFEATS REDS

Two Rivals Meet in First of Six-Game Series

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Six full games still separated the New York Giants, leaders of the National league, and the second-place Boston Braves tonight on the eve of their "crucial" six-game series at Boston, following victories by each today.

Both clubs won out in the ninth inning, the Giants shading St. Louis, 5 to 4, and the Braves nosing out Cincinnati, 3 to 2.

The Giants won out when Lefty O'Doul singled in the ninth with the bases loaded, scoring Moore with the winning run. O'Doul and Manager Bill Terry drove out homers during a four-run spurt in the fourth that tied the count. Dizzy Dean allowed the Giants 10 hits, while Hal Schumacher yielded nine to the Cards.

Boston downed Cincinnati with Rabbit Maranville's ninth-inning single scoring Pinkey Whitney with the winning tally, after the Braves collected 11 hits off Silas Johnson, Wyile Huck Betts held the Reds to five. Baxter Jordan led the Braves' attack with three hits in four tries.

Meanwhile, the rallying Pittsburgh Pirates replaced Chicago at third position by registering their fifth straight victory, a 5-to-1 win over the Phillies, while the Cubs split a double-header with Brooklyn. Big Ralph Birkofer let the Phils down with four hits, while the Pirates collected 13 off Ragland, Elliott and Liska, including Tommy Thevenow's perfect day at bat with four hits. This left the Pirates one and a half games behind Boston.

Chicago dropped to fourth place after beating Brooklyn, 2 to 1, in the opener, but losing 7 to 3, in the second contest. The Cubs made their two runs in the second inning to win the first game, when Bill Jurges' single drove in Mosolf and Hendrick, giving Charley Root a mound victory over Hal Thurston. In the second game, Brooklyn bunched some of its 13 hits off Bush and Henshaw for three runs in the second and four in the seventh innings. Heimach and Ryan held the Cubs to seven hits.

No American league games were scheduled.

Tamiami Alligators Dumb or Hungry

FORT MYERS, Fla., Aug. 30.—(AP) Luke Gates says alligators in the Tamiami Trail canal are either dumb or very hungry.

Casting in the canal waters with a fly rod for small tarpon, Gates says he saw an alligator in the water near the opposite bank. He flicked the fly near the saurian.

The 'gator popped his jaws, but missed the lure. Another cast, and the 'gator grabbed hold and started away, but the hook failed to hold.

The 'gator, Gates said, turned around, came back, and struck a third time at the lure. This time he got hooked, and in 30 minutes Gates had a four-foot saurian out on the bank. He said he believed it was the first time an alligator had been caught on a fly rod.

Ring Cards

EAST POINT.

The "Tiger Man" Sanderson makes his appearance at the East Point auditorium arena tonight against "Gentleman" John Mauldin. The two meet in a 90-minute, two-out-of-three falls wrestling match.

"Big" Simpson, heavyweight from Scottdale, who has a kick like a mule, meets real opposition in Ray Wages, heavy from Atlanta, in an eight-round boxing match.

Rennie McDuffie, 182-pound wrestler from East Point, will try his tremendous strength on George Romanoff, movie actor from California, in a one-hour match.

Tiny Gaston, lightweight from Eagan Park, takes on a fast opponent in Henry Clay, of Hapeville, four rounds.

The East Point auditorium is the most up-to-date auditorium in the state. It is equipped with cushioned theater seats. Card stars at 8:15 p. m.

MARIETTA STREET ARENA.

Elmo Glenn, a coming young athlete, has been scheduled to appear in a one-hour match against Dink Almand tonight as the feature attraction of the Marietta street card.

A 10-round boxing match fills an opening between the initial event and the main wrestling match, with Jack Britt, former lightweight champion of the south, meeting Battling Smitty, a clever glove artist.

Bill Kizer is scheduled for a match with Roy Stewart.

The arena is located on Marietta street just beyond Ashby street. The initial match starts at 8:15 o'clock.

WEST VIEW ARENA.

Miss Mildred Duncan and Miss K. O. Chick, two attractive girl wrestlers of local fame, will feature the Thursday night show at West View arena.

Dan George, of Chicago, 205, has been matched with Bob Rubble, of Memphis, at 198 pounds.

In the middle event, Jack McAdams, a West View favorite, will be out to defend his good standing against Glenn Cowan, a wiry athlete.

The first match will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

MORELAND AVENUE ARENA.

George (Sully) Harbin, a local heavyweight, and Eddie Elzea, the blond Dane, who recently wrestled to a 90-minute draw at a local ring, are scheduled to appear in the main event tonight at Moreland Avenue arena.

Hugh Winn, Georgia state champion, meets Freddie Lassiter, of Winston-Salem, in the semi-windup.

A suitable opponent is being sought for Pete Epting, of Philadelphia.

The arena is located on Moreland avenue, just beyond Confederate. The opener starts at 8:15 o'clock.

BOARD ASKS FUND TO PAY FIREMAN'S HOSPITAL EXPENSE

Two resolutions adopted by the board of firemasters will be referred to city council this afternoon, it was decided Tuesday night at the regular meeting at which only routine business matters were considered.

The board will recommend that council grant a permit to Henry Chanin Corporation to operate a waste cotton cleaning business at 1186 Murphy avenue, if satisfactory fire safety conditions can be arranged. It also will ask council to appropriate $244 to pay doctor and hospital bills for Tom Guthrie, fireman, who was injured while on duty May 14. Guthrie broke his back in a fall from a ladder.

Consideration of a new shift of firemen to reduce hours for members of the department from 12 to 8 hours daily was postponed, as was trial of two firemen now under suspension. Only five members of the board, including Raymond Curtis, chairman, were present. They were J. R. Seawright, Homer Foster, F. A. Mitchell and R. H. Cobb. Chief A. J. Parker is away on vacation.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

Alex Morrison says:

The weaker of the two hands, with the right-hand player, always takes a licking from the right hand unless the player does something to favor and strengthen his left hand.

Building up the grip of the club near the end of the shaft where the left hand is placed helps to strengthen this hand.

KNOWLES FIGHT IS SET TONIGHT

Due to the steady rains of Wednesday, Matchmaker Gilbert postponed the Carl Knowles-Berry Baggett 10-rounder, scheduled at the Cain Street arena, until tonight. The fight will be staged at the arena tonight at 8:30 o'clock. In the event it rains tonight the card will be shifted to the city auditorium and will go on at the scheduled time with the same popular prices prevailing, ladies free with paid escort.

Knowles and Baggett, the Peckerwood boy from the north Georgia mountains, will meet in a headline bout on a well-balanced card. In the semi-windup, Frank Adams, Atlanta's heavyweight sensation, will meet the first real test of his short professional career when he tackles Lorrie Wilson, south Georgia boy, who is coming along fast under the careful direction of Knowles and his manager.

Knowles, rated one of the front-rank light-heavyweights by the National Boxing Association, meets a tough boy in Baggett. The Peckerwood boy gained quite a name for himself in his last fight here and is anxious to dispose of Knowles. Knowles, however, is not taking any chances as he is in line for a big-time fight in the scramble for the title. It should be a good fight.

ATLANTAN AGAIN HEADS EPISCOPAL LEAGUE

SEWANEE, Tenn., Aug. 30.—James Duncan, of Atlanta, Ga., was re-elected president of the Sewanee Province of the Young People's Service League of the Episcopal church at the recently concluded convention held here. Other officers were: First vice president, Ben Meginniss, of Tallahassee, Fla.; second vice president, Larry Sykes, of Memphis, Tenn.; third vice president, Gordon Tucker, of Miami, Fla.; secretary, Miss May Goodrich, of Hendersonville, N. C. (re-elected for second term); treasurer, Stratton Lawrence, of Chapel Hill, N. C.; secretary for the United Thank Offering, Miss Sarah Totten, of Birmingham, Ala.

Representative of the Province of Sewanee on the National Commission of the National Federation of Episcopal Young People, James Duncan, president; alternate, Miss Sarah Totten, of Birmingham, Ala. All the above officers are elected from the ranks of the young people, and are under 24 years of age.

One of the most important matters considered by the convention was the attitude that it should take toward the communication from the national project board, a group of leaders among young people in the Episcopal church, organized at a young people's mass meeting held in Evanston, Ill., recently. The Young People's Service League of the Province of Sewanee declined to have any relationship with this national project board on the ground that it was an entirely unofficial gathering held without the sanction of the Episcopal church's official leaders, and that the new projects which it proposed to undertake were in most cases already in successful operation in the Province of Sewanee.

More than 21,000 persons enrolled and attended special courses, conferences and meetings at Purdue University last year.

Runner 'Stuck' With Load of Liquor Tries To Peddle Wares at Capitol

A man with a rattlesnake, an escaped convict and a man trying to dispose of a load of liquor were among visitors to Governor Talmadge's office on one day recently, he related Wednesday.

"It's all in the day's work and I get some mighty interesting callers," the governor said.

"The rattlesnake was killed in Colquitt county and the man brought it all the way up here to show it to me.

"He said: 'It's a beauty, ain't it? Eight feet long and one of the prettiest I ever saw.' I admitted it was a large one although I am not particularly crazy about rattlesnakes."

The chief executive said the man purportedly trying to sell the load of liquor appeared somewhat embarrassed.

"The fellow said he was from Florida and that a man sent him over here from a garage. He told me: 'I was sent to Mr. Tom Linder, your executive secretary, but he didn't want any.'

"'It's hijacked liquor and I can make somebody a good price on the load.' I told him that Tom Linder didn't drink a pint a year and that General Lindley Camp, who was in the office at the time, was a teetotaler and that what liquor I drank was given to me. He grinned sort of sheepishly and walked out. He admitted he had struck a poor place to sell."

The governor said the man who listed himself as an escaped convict in a telephone conversation came over to the office and said he "just walked away" from the Thomas county chain gang. The governor said the man did not ask for a pardon, but the chief executive refused to make public what was discussed. The governor said he had instructed the man to come back to be turned over to the prison commission in a day or two.

PETREL SQUAD GOES TO WORK HERE TOMORROW

Quarterback and Line Worries Beset Coach Harry Robertson.

By Jack Troy.

Oglethorpe's football squad "will jump the gun" tomorrow afternoon at Hermance field but there will be no penalties imposed because the Petrels, a non-conference team, can begin practice whenever they please.

Coach Harry Robertson expects a squad of approximately 50 out for the opening practice. The call to arms will be issued about 3 o'clock, depending upon how hot the weather is.

There will be one practice a day until the advent of cooler weather.

Mercer, chief state rival of Oglethorpe, also begins practice Friday. But Lake Russell will have his squad out twice a day.

Robertson announced previously that since there are only 16 practice days available before the opening game with Newberry here on the night of September 21 at Ponce de Leon park, the Petrel squad will begin scrimmaging the minute it looks ready.

EDDIE ANDERSON.

Quarterbacking and reserve tackle strength are the chief worries of Robertson. Eddie Anderson may be the answer to the former prayer.

Anderson, son of the athletic director, is heavier this season and is more experienced. He is a good passer and kicker, in addition to which he is endowed with the thinking qualities so necessary in quarterbacks.

Wade, a sophomore, is another promising candidate for the post of field general. A kicker and passer of more than average ability, Wade can also click off yardage, if his work as a freshman is any indication.

The chief backfield hopes, boys who are expected to supply a much-needed punch, are Harry Wrens and Jack Harrison, halfbacks. Robertson needs a sparkplug and between Wrens and Harrison he should find at least one.

Phil Hildreath and Frank Metric are the leading fullback candidates, with George another likely halfback.

LINE UNCERTAIN.

The line is going to be more or less uncertain. At the start of the practice season it is sprinkled with sophomore talent.

The ends are Young Pickard, Thurman, Friedman and Craven. Pickard is a sophomore.

Robinson and Darracott are leading tackles. Darracott is a sophomore.

The guards are Chandler, Stricko and Sanford. Stricko and Sanford are sophomores.

Rudy Shouse and McNeely are the centers.

Shouse, who played center last year when Andy Morrow was shifted to end, is likely to find the going tough against McNeely, who is a promising sophomore.

Coach Robertson loses 12 varsity players by graduation. Most of them were linesmen.

A football team is no stronger than its line. Coach Robertson faces a very tough job.

NRA NO CZARDOM, JOHNSON ASSERTS

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson denied today that the national recovery administration was attempting to make business "goose-step."

"NRA is in no sense a czardom," the administrator told a mass luncheon meeting of recovery workers.

"It is a sort of rules committee, where the great coaches of the American industrial and labor teams are collaborating to make a new and fairer game out of business competition in this country."

Pointing out that the "whole experiment" is up to the workers and consumers, Johnson said:

"There is not a manufacturer or merchant who can live if we workers are not with him—we must help those who help us, or we all go down together," he said.

"I want to say with all earnestness that this campaign of consumer education which you are launching here today is the crux—the very vitals of the great national effort.

Demand Blue Eagle.

"It is up to you to demand the blue eagle. It is your chance to help yourself, and if there is one thing certain in this great national game of ours it is that nobody can legislate the country out of its troubles. The most that can be done is to give every man a chance to help himself. That the blue eagle does.

"That is the true rugged individualism. That is the new freedom. And the rules of that game are simple. For the consumer there is only one, and I can say it in 17 words, 'Buy under the blue eagle—buy freely and buy now to the limit of your present needs.'"

After recalling that the American revolution was not a rebellion against the British constitution, but "resistance to economic pressure—to business exploitation," he said. "We are still a land of limitless resources. We are still a people of boundless energy. There is no more sense in starving in a land of plenty now than there was in 1776.

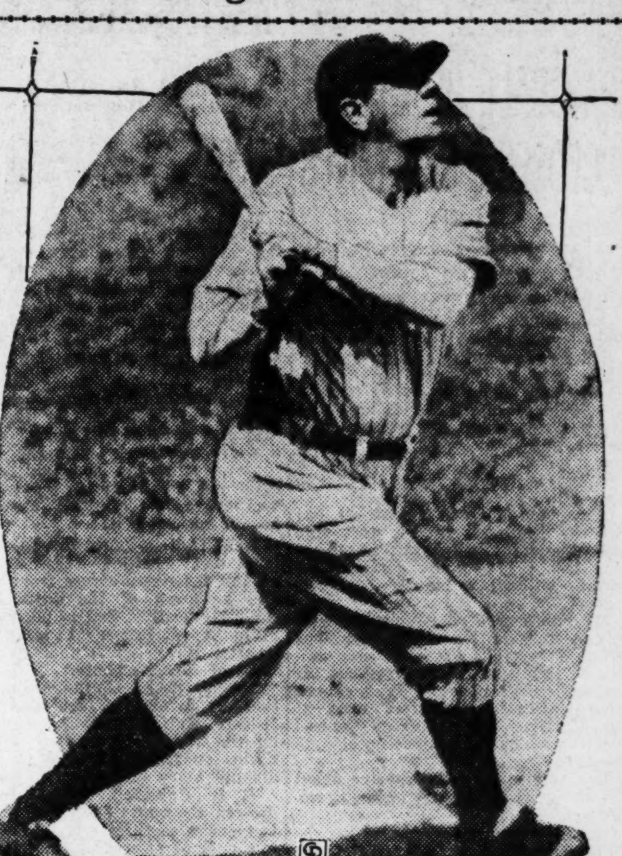

"I have yet to hear our president promise any magic cure for all this or proclaim any certain formula. What, in effect, he has said over and over again is that there are so many good things in this land of ours that there is enough to keep everybody happy if only we spread them more evenly."

YOUTH HURT IN FALL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Roy Cox, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Cox, of 1445 Van Epps avenue, remained in a serious condition Wednesday night at Grady hospital of injuries received Monday night when he fell from a train 10 miles north of Dalton, according to hospital attaches.

His skull was fractured and one jawbone was broken, it was said. Cox and a companion had hitch-hiked to the World's Fair at Chicago and were on their way back when Cox attempted to board a moving train and fell to the ground. He was found unconscious early Tuesday morning by a railroad employe and brought to Atlanta for treatment. He also was suffering from exposure. He is a brother of Sam Cox, market editor of The Constitution.

"I'm Through," Babe Admits

Babe Ruth was quoted yesterday as saying he was through. He admitted this was his last year as a player. "My legs are gone," Babe said. He aspires to manage a club but is leaving his future up to the Yankees.

Badly Battered Yanks Return Home Unnoticed

Ruth and Mates Find Manhattan Mad Over Pennant Dash of Giants.

By Alan Gould,

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Baseball's one-time "invincibles" limped back to the big town today, war-weary, pretty well battered and strangely inconspicuous.

World champions less than a year ago, odds-on favorites to retain the American league pennant as late as this June, the New York Yankees came back from a disastrous western trip, virtually out of the running, and almost unnoticed in the suddenly developed "Manhattan madness" over the rise of the Giants to the National league heights.

"What's all the shouting about?" asked Babe Ruth, somewhat ruefully, after slipping quietly, almost into town. "Say, this must be a Giant town."

New York didn't give up hope of a Yankee come-back until the team started to skid in the closing stages of the last series with the league-leading and pennant-bound Washington Senators. But the club's August road trip and a bare even break through the west dispelled its last lingering chances. Eight games behind now, the Yankees are thinking mostly about where the lightning will strike in the drastic shake-up planned before next season.

GENERAL COLLAPSE.

Ruth's slump to a point where the great slugger was playing only part-time and hitting only .167 for the trip was simultaneous with the general collapse of the Yankee resistance. The long-deferred end for the Babe's active, daily career seems definitely at hand, despite his own insistence that he still "has a lot of baseball left." He will be 40 next year and has now been through his twentieth major league campaign.

Nevertheless Ruth is still baseball's greatest drawing card, Yankee correspondents report that bigger crowds than ever poured out to see him limp around on the trip, perhaps because the fans realized it was his "farewell to arms." There is still nothing definite upon which to base the idea that Ruth will manage another American league team next year, in Chicago or Boston. If he remains with the Yankees, it seems certain he will serve mainly as an alternate outfielder and pinch-hitter. Even the Babe admits he can no longer play regularly.

JOE SERVES WARNING.

Manager Joe McCarthy served warning to the rest of his forces today with this statement: "There is nothing to do on this team now but face the facts. We'll keep on trying . . . but this doesn't blind me to the fact we have to rebuild and do it quickly."

Close followers of the Yankees believe only Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Ben Chapman, Dixie Walker and such pitchers as Lefty Gomez, Johnny Allen, Russell Van Atta and Charley Ruffing are certain holdovers for 1934. New talent already is being sought, recalled or otherwise tabbed for examination in the general overhauling process. It will be the most severe shakeup the club has experienced since 1925.

GEORGIA FOREST LANDS TO BE PURCHASED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The national forest reservation commission today approved the purchase of 268,785 acres of land for extending national forests, at a cost of $539,387. The money will come out of the $20,000,000 of public works funds set aside by the president for the purchase of additional lands for national forests.

The lands to be bought are in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

YEGGS SEIZE $500 AT MISSISSIPPI BANK

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 30.—(AP) The Bank of Walnut Grove, Walnut Grove, Miss., was robbed of between $400 and $500 in silver early today by robbers who drilled into a bank safe but failed to tap the vault.

J. H. Saffer, the cashier, discovered the robbery when he opened the bank this morning and police quickly organized a watch on all principal roads in the vicinity.

Weather To Remain Cooler Again Today

It takes more than two chilly mornings to end a summer, according to George W. Mindling, official weather observer for the Atlanta area, and despite the fact that today is scheduled to be comfortable, more hot weather will arrive by the end of the week, he said. Blankets were popular Wednesday morning and indications last night pointed to a continuance of that popularity this morning.

The rainy weather is due to continue, the weather man said, and while the sun is expected to make his appearance again today, showers in all probability will descend. Temperature extremes will be about 64 and 80 degrees, against a minimum of 62 Wednesday and a maximum of 70.

AUSTRIA WAITS RIGHT TO INCREASE MILITIA

ROME, Aug. 30.—(AP)—England, France and Italy have not yet given formal consent to the creation by Austria of a supplementary militia, it was revealed today, and the matter will be discussed at the next meeting of the League of Nations council.

Italy has no objection to the Austrian plan. The consent of the large powers already has been informally expressed in principle.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

SKINKS.

The little skinks that first saw the light of day this summer are now in their most resplendent colors. The immature animals are the most colorful of our lizards, and the adults are about as nonochromatic as lizards ever get. This transition resulted in the placing of the young and adult blue-tailed skinks in different species, according to Holbrook's herpetological list of Georgia in 1849. Now, knowing that they are one and the same animal, they are known as Eumeces fasciatus.

In the youngest coloration, the skink is coal black and very shiny. On this black back are five thin yellow stripes, the middle one forking over the head. If you examine these stripes closely, you will see that they are arranged upon the edges of two rows of scales, so that under slight magnification, they give the appearance of a saw-edge. On the head, the yellow stripes bear a faint flush of orange, while toward the tail, the yellow fades into green, fading out entirely when they reach that area of intense metallic blue of the tail. The yellow stripe, you see, ranges through the colar spectrum from orange to green. Draw your own philosophy, if you please!

As the animals grow, a gradual fading of these brilliant colors takes place. The flaming orange and golden stripes become dull. The black loses its luster. The tail becomes brown. The blue fades into a faint hint of aquamarine and the gloss is gone. Finally, in the mature adult, the back, sides, and tail are reddish brown; the former pearl-gray of the belly becomes suffused with lighter brown. The head, wonderful to state, becomes a fiery red. Is the orange stripe of the immature the forerunner of this red head? Again, your theories are your own.

Is it any wonder that the skinks were confusing to the early naturalists? Here were two animals, both of one family. One is about two inches long and brilliantly colored with a striking pattern. The other is eight to nine incres long, heavy of body, brown save for the red head. Their relationship is evident as far as family is concerned. The same species? Oh, never! But the facts are known now, and we strike one more species from our faunal list, knowing, and glad to know, what the life cycle of this species actually is. We will sacrifice the species any day if we can know its life secrets. Who would not?

LEGS ARE GONE, BAMBINO TELLS HERALD-TRIBUNE

"I'm Through," King of Swat Says; Aspires To Manage a Team.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Herald Tribune quotes Babe Ruth as admitting today that he is "all through" as a ball player.

"I guess I might as well hang up the spikes," the paper quotes the Yankee outfielder. "I can't sign up as a player next year. The legs won't stand it. I might get by at first base, but not in the outfield. I'm through."

Asked if he would like to manage a club next year, Ruth was quoted as saying:

"That's up to several people besides myself. I'm still the property of the Yankees. If another club wanted me as manager they would have to make some sort of a deal with Colonel Jacob Ruppert. And it's up to the owners of the other clubs. I haven't been approached even unofficially by any of them yet."

PARTY CONVENTION OPENED BY HITLER

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

NURNBERG, Germany, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Bells pealed from the medieval Saint Lawrence, Our Lady's, Saint Sebaldus and all other churches of this ancient city tonight as the biennial congress of the national socialist (nazi) party was opened by Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

It was the first national gathering of the organization since Hitler, born in Austria, rose to power last January upon the fall of the Von Schleicher cabinet.

The pealing of the bells at times drowned out the prolonged cheers of the crowd as the chancellor went to the 600-year-old city hall to initiate the five-day program.

Already 600,000 visitors have swarmed into the city. The number was expected to be swelled by Sunday, the final day, to 1,000,000.

Faced By Flags.

The vistors, emerging from the railway station, were faced by a forest of flags, houses garlanded and tramways decorated with pennants and streamers. Banners reading "Heil Hitler" were stretched across the narrow winding streets. Thousands of uniformed brown shirted storm troopers bustled to and fro.

For hours before the welcoming exercises by the city fathers, curious crowds lined the streets and endless cheers reverberated as Hitler and other party leaders slowly proceeded from a tent outside the city to the town hall.

A fanfare of trumpets announced the chancellor's entry. Thereupon a chorus rendered "Awaken, You German Land," from the chancellor's favorite opera, "Die Meistersinger."

Lord Mayor Liebell, welcoming the party chieftains, declared, "We no longer live in a reich of dishonor, but in a new Germany."

Mysterious Ailment Kills Woman at Grady

Ill only a few hours, Mrs. Robert Clement, 33, of 1934 Lakewood avenue, died early Thursday morning at Grady hospital, where she was taken with a "headache" which came after attending a downtown picture show Wednesday night.

Following her return from the theater, Mrs. Clement complained of feeling ill and said her head ached. A private physician was summoned but when he reached her residence he found her unconscious. She was taken to Grady in an ambulanace but died before Grady physicians could complete an examination. Doctors were mystified as to what caused her death.

An autopsy will be performed some time this morning at the hospital to determine the cause.

Run Over by Auto, Boy, 8, Badly Hurt

Robert Stringer, 8-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stringer, of 852 Ponce de Leon place, was admitted to Grady hospital Wednesday night for observation of injuries suffered when he was struck by the car of T. B. Higginbottom, of 792 Argonne avenue, in front of the child's home. He was hurt about the head. Police made no case, holding that the accident was unavoidable.

Michigan Common Law Marriage Held Legal by Judge in Georgia

CALHOUN, Ga., Aug. 30.—In a hearing for support of a wife and two children, Judge C. C. Pittman, of the Cherokee circuit, held here this week, that a common law marriage in the state of Michigan is legal in Georgia.

The case was a suit against Tom Foster for support of his common law wife and their two children. The evidence disclosed that Foster, while making his home in Detroit in 1928, lived with the woman involved and presented her as his wife. A Georgia wife he had married earlier, divorced him and he continued to introduce the Michigan woman as his lawful wife. Later he returned to Georgia, where he is now making his home, abandoning his common law wife and their two little daughters in Detroit.

The Michigan wife later followed him to Georgia, but Foster then refused to recognize them. The woman had no money and Solicitor-General John C. Mitchell, Assistant Solicitor R. Noel Steed and R. Carter Pittman, attorney of Dalton, brought suit against Foster in her name.

Judge Pittman held that she was his legal wife and that the children are legitimate. He ordered Foster to pay $3 per week toward their support and $25 in attorneys' fees. The lawyers in the case gave their fees to the two children. In event of failure by Foster to pay he was ordered placed in jail for contempt of court.

NRA SCALE OF WAGES CLOSES 9 SAW MILLS

WEST POINT, Aug. 30.—Nine local mills were closed down Wednesday, pending a satisfactory code from General Hugh S. J. Johnson of the NRA under which saw mills and contractors can afford to operate.

The saw mill owners have been paying their hands 50 to 60 cents a day, working about 15 hours, and giving them board and lodging. The code requires they pay 23 cents an hour, working them eight hours a day. Against this they are allowed to charge them for their board.

Contractors do not think they can pay the advanced lumber cost this will necessitate and saw mill operators feel they cannot continue to operate without a market for their product.

The Southern Pine association, with headquarters in New Orleans, has called a meeting of local saw mill men and contractors in Columbus for Tuesday, September 5. It is hoped some plan may be agreed upon at this meeting to present to General Johnson which will be acceptable to the NRA.

The nine mills closed involve about 175 saw mill hands, now without employment.

EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD SMALL, SAYS ETHRIDGE

MACON, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—War in Europe is less imminent now than at any time since the World War, says Mark Ethridge, former managing editor of the Macon Telegraph and the News, who has just returned from a tour of the continent.

His opinion was expressed in an address to the Macon Lions Club. He said Chancellor Hitler is gradually declining in power, due largely to his foreign policies, and would ultimately fail for lack of a definite program.

THOMASVILLE SETS 1933 TAX SCHEDULE

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—The 1933 tax rate for this city has been fixed at 20 mills, this action being taken at a meeting Monday night after a thorough study of the local tax situation, and in face of a decrease of nearly a half million dollars in the assessed valuation of property.

The total assesed valuation of all property for 1932 was $6,735,564, while for 1933 it is $6,283,260, approximately five millons of this being real estate.

In fixing the rate for taxes for this year, a discount rate was agreed upon by the city council which will give a material reduction to those who pay up promptly. Those paying taxes from October 1 to 10 will receive a seven per cent discount; from October 11 to November 1, a six per cent discount and from November 2 to December 1, five per cent. After that date the full amount of taxes will be due. The tax books close December 20.

WESTBERRY TRIAL LAWYERS IN CLASH

State Questions Indicate Rebuttal Attack on Defense Alibi Claim.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The routine heckling between counsel on the ninth day of the trial of Austin Westberry for the Browning murders was broken by a dramatic legal clash as the afternoon session drew to a close.

Steve Rozier, of Manatee, Fla., was on the stand for the defense and testified that on Thursday, August 21, Austin Westberry, the defendant was at his house in Manatee at 12:45 o'clock. Rozier fixed the date because his two-year-old child was operated on the previous day and died on the night of August 20 and was buried on the 21st.

On cross-examination Rozier was asked by Ed Stevens for the state, "Do you know that Dr. Duffie filed a death certificate with the bureau of vital statistics, showing that the child died on the 19th of August and was buried on the 20th?" Rozier said he did not know it.

J. D. Holton was sworn for the defense and ...stified that he lived around the street corner from Rozier, and he knew of the death of the child. He testified that at noon August 21 he passed Rozier's house and saw Austin Westberry standing on the steps of Rozier's house.

Stevens asked Holton if he "knew that the doctor had filed a death certificate stating that the child died on the 19th of August and was buried on the 20th?" Holton said he did not know it.

J. B. Copeland, for defense, addressed the court saying if the state has such a certificate in its possession it should be offered at this time. Stevens replied that he had not said he had such a certificate, and if he had he would not tender it.

Wilcox, for the defense, joined Copeland in demanding that the state tender the certificate, asking the court to order the state counsel to exhibit the paper at once, that they might have proper notice.

Stevens sat down and folded his arms replying that he would not tender the paper "until I get ready. There is no rule or court decision to the contrary and I will not produce the paper until I see fit."

Judge W. E. Thomas, presiding, ruled that he did not know that such a certificate was in possession of the state and that he could not order the introduction of a paper so far regarded as something private.

The case continued with the defense piling up its testimony to show that Westberry was in Manatee on the day and night of the murder of the Brownings, its array of witnesses for the day testifying in the same positive and general way as did Rozier and Holton.

Probability that the defense may soon conclude its direct testimony was seen in the rapidity with which the Manatee witnesses were being placed on the stand.

Rebuttal will be taken up by the state as soon as defense concludes after which defense will produce its rebuttal testimony.

SEARCH IS ABANDONED FOR SLOOP POSTSCRIPT

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The coast guard announced today that the search for the sloop Postscript, missing since August 20, had been discontinued.

The 23-foot craft, carrying three sons of New York city neighbors of President Roosevelt, set out from Manasquan, N. J., for Nantucket in the face of one of the worst coastal storms in years.

Since last Sunday, when the president learned of the failure of private searchers, more than 20 vessels and planes of the coast guard have searched the coast from Portland, Maine, to the Delaware capes. No trace was found.

The missing are Pierre P. Irving, son of L. du Pont Irving, stock broker, and Charles L. and John L. Niles, sons of Dr. Walter L. Niles.

State Deaths And Funerals

MRS. HOMER BUSH.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Homer Bush, 59, died late Tuesday night after a long illness. She is survived by her husband, Rev. Homer Bush, pastor of the Methodist church here and formerly president of Andrew Female College at Cuthbert, Ga.; two children, two brothers and two sisters, one of whom is H. L. Swatts, of Lakeland, Fla. The funeral will be held here at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

MRS. MARY ROUSE.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Mary Rouse, 88, of Valdosta, died there today following a brief illness which began a short time ago when her son, Roscoe Rouse, died of a heart attack. She is survived by two daughter, Mrs. J. E. Valloton, of Valdosta; Mrs. Fannie Elmore, and a son, A. W. Rouse, both of Kinston, N. C. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

CHARLEY HINSON.

LOUISVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—Charley Hinson, 23, died from the effects of a self-inflicted pistol shot at an early hour Monday night, according to reports brought here Tuesday morning.

He is survived by his wife and three small children besides his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Hinson, of this community, and brothers and sisters. The funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon at Ebenezer church, eight miles from here, Rev. M. R. Plaxco, pastor of the Louisville Presbyterian church, officiating.

L. D. GRIFFIS.

LUMPKIN, Ga., Aug. 30.—Funeral services for Lamar Dreskin Griffis were conducted at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. H. Griffis, in Lumpkin, Tuesday. The services were conducted by Rev. Roy C. Sampley and Rev. L. W. Hartsfield, and interment was made in the Eastside cemetery of Lumpkin. Mr. Griffis was 55 years of age and was born and reared at Lumpkin, where he spent most of his life. He had been engaged in business in Columbus, Ga., and Tampa, Fla., for a few years.

Mr. Griffis was a member of the Lumpkin Methodist church. He was a nephew of the late Mrs. Lizzie Bayette, of Lumpkin. Surviving are his stepmother, Mrs. W. H. Griffis, of Lumpkin, and three brothers, J. E. Griffis, of Carnegie, Ga.; S. A. Griffis, of Tampa, Fla., and Lloyd Griffis, of Lumpkin.

Faults of Youth Laid to Parents By Woman Who Taught 52 Years

MACON, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Retiring after 52 years as a school teacher, Miss Margaret Julia McEvoy is firm in her conviction that the grown-ups are to blame for whatever is wrong with the younger generation.

"You hear people talking too much about the younger generation," the 70-year-old pedagogue observed after asking the board of education to relieve her as principal of the Lanier High school for girls.

"I don't believe the younger generation is where the trouble is. It's with the older generation—their mothers and fathers.

"They give their children enough attention but the wrong kind of attention. They don't teach them obedience and often they give the wrong kind of example."

More than half a century in the classroom has led Miss McEvoy to the conclusion there can be no one rule by which to deal with children or their "often more fractious parents." Sympathy and good humor will go a long way toward keeping everything running smoothly, she continued:

She asked to be retired five years ago but the board turned a deaf ear. This time, however, she made her request more insistent because of failing health.

Others may regard her career as something exceptional but Miss McEvoy speaks of it in light vein.

"I became a teacher just because I had to make a living," she chuckled. "And I've been pulling the wool over the board's eyes all these years. I never made any special preparation to teach and every year I expected them to tell me they wouldn't need me any longer."

Many of her former pupils are now grandparents.

BUTTS GRAND JURY URGES NRA SUPPORT

JACKSON, Ga., Aug. 30.—Every citizen of Butt's county is called upon to to support President Roosevelt in his efforts to restore prosperity to the nation, in the general presentments of the Butts county grand jury returned Tuesday afternoon. The presentments dealing with the NRA follow:

"Whereas, the president of the United States has appealed to all people in a time of national emrgency to co-operate to their fullest in carrying to a successful conclusion his National Recovery Act, to the end that relief may be forthcoming to millions of unemployed, trade stimulated through increased buying power, and the morale of the public strengthened, thus restoring confidence to a nation long in sore distress, an economic condition which has tried men's souls.

"Therefore, be it resolved:

"That we beseech the people of Butts county to covenant with President Roosevelt to support the NRA with loyalty and enthusiasm, and be it further resolved:

"That we approve and commend the efforts of our president to pave the way to economic recovery and for his wise administration of all federal affairs."

The presentments also commended the work of the county commissioners in reducing taxes, cutting down the floating debt and in highway work.

Establishment in Butts county of a C. C. C. camp was lauded and support was urged for the movement to buy through public subscription a tract of 130 acres of land at Indian Springs to be donated to the state forest service and the creation of a state forest preserve.

REALTY BOARD ORDER APPEALED AT MACON

MACON, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—J. Dewitt Irwin Tuesday filed an appeal in superior court from a decision of the Georgia real estate board suspending him for 15 days on charges of "unethical practice."

Judge Louis L. Brown allowed the appeal and signed an order staying execution of the suspension until the case is heard.

The charges against Irwin resulted from the renting of a house.

RECORDER ELECTED FOR THOMASVILLE

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—J. J. Gainey, attorney, has been elected recorder by the city council, and has accepted the position. He will have charge of the local police court. This step was taken by council at the request of Mayor W. E. Beverly who had agreed to be a candidate for the mayoralty office on the condition that he would be relieved of the police court work when his business affairs made it impracticable for him to look after this part of the city's work.

DRY LEADERS PLAN SIX-POINT PROGRAM

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Dr. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today convened a conference of organization leaders here to evolve a six-point program for retention of the eighteenth amendment.

Not in the least discouraged by the fact that 24 states already have turned thumbs down on the amendment, McBride said the policy of the league would be "no surrender, no retreat, no compromise," and asserted that of the states voting against the amendment, 17 of them were concededly wet strongholds.

"Of the 24 yet to vote," he said, "20 were dry. If but 50 per cent of the dry voters go to the polls the cause will not be lost."

No announcement of plans for the continued assault against wet forces was expected until tomorrow.

Representatives from North Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan were present for the parley.

CYPRESS PRODUCTION LIMITED IN SOUTH

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Manufacturers and producers of tidewater red cypress from Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina meeting here today were told that under the NRA lumber code they can produce no more than 10,000,000 feet during September.

M. L. Fleishel, of Jacksonville, who helped frame the code, explained its provisions.

The meeting was called by the Southern Cypress Manufacturers Association. Approximately 150 manufacturers and producers attended.

On the basis of production estimates for October presented at the meeting, Fleishel said it was likely the south's quota would be exceeded and it would be necessary to limit production.

FORD WORKERS SEEK UNION MEMBERSHIP

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Charles Jennings, Hudson county labor organizer announced today that applications for membership in the proposed United Automobile Workers union were received last night from nearly 300 employes of the Edgewater plant of the Ford Motor Company.

Jennings said he hoped to affiliate the proposed union with the American Federation of Labor and will make application for a charter today.

ALABAMAN MARRIES GOTHAM INDUSTRIALIST

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Edgar S. Bowman, 48, a manufacturer of 15 Central Park, West, and Mrs. Sophie H. Kory, 38, of Florence, Ala., were married in the municipal chapel today by Deputy City Clerk Philip A. Hines.

Bowman was born in St. Louis, a son of Samuel Bowman. The bride is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and a daughter of Carl Hirsch. Her first marriage ended in divorce in Florence, Ala., in 1930.

GEORGIA AIR MAIL LINE IN SUSPENSION PLANS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Suspension of five air mail lines and reduction of service on others early in September was under consideration by postoffice officials today as an economy measure made necessary by a reduction in air mail appropriations from $21,000,000 to $14,000,000.

So far, the department has decided definitely to suspend the Charlotte, N. C., to Augusta, Ga., rote at a date next month yet to be determined.

It probably will suspend operations on the following routes:

Newark to Atlantic City.

Albuquerque, N. M., to El Paso, Texas.

Pueblo, Colo., to Amarillo, Texas.

Amarillo to Dallas.

Officials explained that suspension would not necessarily mean abandonment of the lines but merely non-use of them until more money became available.

Singing Convention.

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—The semi-annual meting of the Chattooga county singing convention will be held at the county courthouse here next Sunday. Many of the best singers from various parts of Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee are expected to take part in the singing, and it is expected that a record-breaking crowd will be in attendance.

Chattooga Tax Rate.

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—The commissioners of roads and revenues for Chattooga county have fixed the tax rate for 1933 at $13 per $1,000 on all taxable property in the county. It is estimated that this levy will raise the sum of $45,130.34.

Lumpkin School Opening.

LUMPKIN, Ga., Aug. 30.—Preparations are being made for the opening on September 4, of the Stewart County High school here. It is anticipated there will be an increased attendance over previous years. Professor J. W. Richardson is superintendent for the seventh year.

Seed Loan Repaid.

WASHINGTON, Ga., Aug. 30.—Cornelious Booker, a negro tenant on lands of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is the first of more than 500 borrowers from federal seed loan funds in Wilkes to repay in full his 1933 loan of $75. The proceeds of two bales of cotton turned the trick. As in former years payment was in cash, and within four months after the loan was granted.

School Opens.

PAVO, Ga., Aug. 30.—The public schools here will open on September 4, according to an announcement from Superintendent Hope P. Davis. It is indicated that the enrollment will be the largest in several years.

"Miss Thomasville."

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 30.—Miss Bettina Silva, black-haired beauty, was the winner of the beauty pageant held at the high school auditorium Monday. Miss Silva was accorded the title "Miss Thomasville," and was presented with a loving cup. She will be eligible to represent this city in a state-wide beauty contest to be held in Macon, the victor to represent Georgia in a national pageant at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

School to Open.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 20.—The consolidated school at Boston in this county, will open the fall term, September 4, the board of education has announced. The enrollment at this term is expected to exceed that of last year when it ran well over three hundred and fifty.

COLQUITT CATTLEMEN FIGHT SCREW WORM

MOULTRIE, Ga., Aug. 30.—Colquitt, the biggest livestock raising county in the state, is taking vigorous steps to check the "screw worm" infestation which has already cost the farmers of 17 counties in this territory thousands of dollars.

A mass meeting was held here today and experts of the state and federal departments of agriculture made talks and outlined the best methods for preventing the spread of the disease. The importance of burying or burning the carcasses of dead animals was emphasized by all of the speakers.

The highwsys of the county are to be patrolled so that animals which are killed by automobles can be promptly buried. The "screw worm" was first reported in Colquitt about ten days ago and since it has spread to every section of the county.

Georgia 3.2 Dealers Checked by Uncle Sam

MOULTRIE, Ga., Aug. 30.—A representative of the internal revenue bureau is down in south Georgia checking up on beer dealers and has found that a great many of them are operating without a federal license. Several were found here.

Beer retailers are supposed to pay $20 per year while wholesalers are assessed $50. In Moultrie, the beer dealers without licenses made applications for them immediately after being called on. "Three-point-two," as the beverage is called, is being sold in all the towns, villages and most of the filling stations in this section of the state, despite the Georgia bone-dry law. Two dealers have been prosecuted here, but both were acquitted.

BRUNSWICK SEEKS FREE PORT STATUS

Move Launched Contemplates Great Advantage to Georgia Coast City.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP) Creation of a free port at Brunswick, placing this seacoast city in the same classification with Hamburg, Germany; Oslo, Norway, and Rotterdam, Holland, is sought by a commission established by the municipal council.

The commissioners, City Manager R. Torras, Colonel T. L. Huston and J. L. Andrews, have proceeded with drafting policies patterned after the port of Hamburg, regarded by many as the outstanding free port of the world.

Should authority be granted, Brunswick would become a port of importation for all nations which could store their cargoes in terminal warehouses without paying custom duties pending their final disposal.

Should the shippers in foreign countries decide to dispose of the cargoes in the United States at market prices, custom duties would then be paid, advocates of the free port said.

However, should the shippers decide to exchange their cargoes here for goods of other nations, the exchange would be exempt from custom duties. A nominal port charge would be assessed as revenue for the city.

Pointing to the advantages of a free port, proponents said foreign manufacturers and shippers, dissatisfied with prevailing market prices in this country, could store cargoes until the trend swung upward.

The plan advanced by the city council contemplates the erection of industrial warehouses and terminal facilities capable of huge storage.

The commissioners point to this port as a strategic point because of its relative proximity to South American and Central American countries as well as Cuba.

Another thing they cited was the proposed Atlantic-Gulf canal across southern Georgia and northern Florida. If that project is fulfilled, the Atlantic terminus would be only a few miles south of Brunswick waters.

Brunswick is the terminus of three railroads, the Southern, Atlantic Coast Line and the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast.

GENERAL ESTES TAKES COMMAND AT BENNING

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Brigadier General George H. Estes took command of the Fort Benning infantry school today, succeeding General Campbell King, retired.

He relieved Colonel Fred L. Munson, who has been acting commandant since General King departed for his boyhood home at Flat Rock, N. C., June 1.

General Estes arrived here Sunday from Fort McPherson, in Atlanta, and went to a hospital for a minor ailment. On his first day's program as commandant were a staff officers' conference, a meeting with the commanding officers of various units of the garrison and an inspection tour around the post.

TRAPPED DEER IGNORES BRIDGE, STAYS ON LEDGE

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y., Aug. 30. (AP)—Nature for the fifth day had checkmated today all attempts to rescue a buck deer from its hazardous perch on a cliff ledge in Watkins Glen state park .

The patient curiosity with which the seven point deer has watched the crowds thronging the park to witness its plight turned to alarm today and nearly finished the chapter when a motion picture photographer was lowered over the top of the 200-foot cliff.

Several times in its mad dashes back and forth on the narrow ledge the buck gave spectators a thrill as it leaped over the end of the bridge which was thrown across the chasm yesterday in the hope it would seek escape in that manner.

Several hundred persons within fifteen feet watched the terrified buck shy at the seeming menace above it and the nearby crowd.

Park officials made the crowd stand back and ordered the photographer hauled back up the cliff face.

Authorities admittedly were nonplussed over the situation. Huge boulders block the way up which the buck and its doe apparently were chased Saturday by dogs. The buck's mate was found crushed to death at the bottom of the gorge.

BABY SAID EXPECTED BY JIMMY WALKERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The possibility that the James J. Walkers are going to have a baby was suggested guardedly today by A. C. Blumenthal, the former New York mayor's close friend who visited the Walkers recently in their villa at Cannes on the Riviera. He returned to America yesterady.

"They both talk about the baby all the time," said Blumenthal in an interview at his hotel. "If they have one it will be the greatest happiness of their lives. I suspect that there is some reason for believing that there will be a blessed event in their family before long."

AUSTRIAN NAZIS FREE LEADER AT INNSBRUCK

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Nazis in a midnight raid on the Innsbruck jail released their imprisoned Tyrolese leader, Frank Hofer, and raced toward Italy with him in an automobile.

An alarm was given out and policemen along the route fired on the speeding car. One occupant was believed wounded.

The automobile was finally found abandoned two miles from the border at Gries. It was not known whether Hofer and his companions successfully crossed the line.

JEWS HEAR VIEWS ON PALESTINE HOME

PRAHA, Czecho-Slovakia, Aug. 30. (Jewish Telegraph Agency.)—Nahum Sokolow, president of the World Zionist organization, addressing the eighteenth World Zionist Congress, tonight defined his views on the position of labor in the upbuilding of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

"In the center of the national upbuilding must stand the worker who has achieved more than any other section, forming the backbone of the movement and of the Palestine upbuilding," he declared.

He urged that all Jewish workers in Palestine be enrolled in the histadruth, Palestine Jewish labor federation, to prevent the formation of a second such body.

MACON POSTMASTER JOB SOUGHT BY FIVE

MACON, Ga., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Five candidates for the postmastership of Macon had filed their application with the United States civil service commission when entries closed at midnight.

They are Acting Postmaster P. T. Anderson, Homer A. Key, Macon Telegraph employe; Crowell L. Sloan, Mrs. Madeline M. McCabe and Emmett H. Baker, operator of a taxicab line.

The commission said other applications mailed before midnight would probably be received today.

Arkansas Kidnapers Given 12-Year Terms

MAGNOLIA, Ark., Aug. 30.—(AP) On pleas of guilty on charges of kidnaping and robbery four men were sentenced to 12 years penitentiary terms here today.

The four, Earl Lampkin, Kilgore, Texas; W. E. Stephenson, Eldorado; George West, Eldorado, and Charles West, Louann, confessed, officers said, to kidnaping D. A. Westmoreland and C. T. Rogers, Waldo businessmen, and robbing them of $73.

Mrs. Kingdon Is Honored.

Mrs. William V. Kingdon, who leaves tomorrow for residence in Indianapolis, was honor guest at a luncheon given yesterday by members of the executive committee of the Boys' High P.-T. A. at the home of Mrs. W. B. Duvall on Cascade road. In the living rooms were quantities of flowers gathered from the gardens of the hostess. In the center of each table was a silver vase containing lavender and white flowers, the school colors, and the tapers and place-cards carried out this same color motif. Luncheon was served, after which each guest in a short speech paid loving tribute to Mrs. Kingdon, one of the most efficient and valuable members of the organization, having served as president during 1930-31 and being at the present time first vice president. The committee presented Mrs. Kingdon with an autograph album containing sketches of the school and its activities and a personal expression of love and friendship by each member.

Mrs. Duvall was assisted in entertaining by the president, Mrs. R. A. Long, and by the vice presidents, Mrs. A. W. Crabbe, Mrs. J. D. Thomas and Mrs. Wilbur Kurtz. The guest list numbered 40.

Mrs. Smith Gives Party for Daughter.

Mrs. Horace S. Smith Sr. entertained at luncheon yesterday at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue, honoring her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Smith, whose engagement was announced to James William Anderson Jr., of Mississippi. The table was covered with a handsome Italian cloth with a centerpiece representing a cargo containing a raft of good wishes. Miss Smith was presented with a white satin bride's book, a gift of her parents.

The guests included Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Catherine Collier, Mrs. Horace Smith Jr., Mrs. H. I. Gordy, Mrs. Jack Forrester, Mrs. E. F. Pittman, Mrs. Howard Burnett and Mrs. Smith Sr.

Trousseau Tea.

Mrs. Parks Hosey was hostess at a trousseau-tea Wednesday, in compliment to her daughter, Miss Sara Frances Hosey, whose marriage to Cecil Richard Brown will be solemnized on Thursday at Kirkwood Methodist church. Misses Florence Guill, Lucy Merrill, Robbie Hosey assisted in entertaining the 80 guests.

Anderson—Stroberg.

Mrs. Harriet C. Crowley announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Anderson, to Harold Rae Stroberg, of Chicago, Ill., and Washington, D. C., the marriage having taken place at Chattanooga, Tenn., on December 28, 1932.

Man Survives Plunge Of 10 Floors, Dies of Shock

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 30.—(UP)—Henry F. Von Runnen, despondent over failing eyes, survived a plunge from an 11th-floor window of a downtown office building today, but died a few hours later from mental shock.

A negro maid told officers she saw the 34-year-old man deliberately jump from the window, which was near an office in which he held a responsible position until four years ago, when impaired vision drove him to making brooms for a meager living.

Van Runnen's body hurtled downward ten stories and landed on a woven-wire and glass skylight.

Conscious when aid reached him, Von Runnen was found to have suffered only minor lacerations and internal injuries which physicians said were not fatal. They attributed his death later to serious mental shock.

Dr. Hope Issues Party Invitation.

Dr. R. L. Hope has invited the Sunday school and church members of the Westminster Presbyterian church to be his guests at a tacky party, to be held on the lawn of his home at 1840 Piedmont avenue, N. E., on Friday evening, September 1, at 7 o'clock.

Friendly Counsel

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

We were married in 1929 when wages were high and everything was going great. Naturally we didn't anticipte any financial worries, though we both faced the fact that my husband was the sole support of his widowed mother. I have worked steadily, using my earnings to pay for a little home at the same time contributing to payments on my mother-in-law's home. She resents the curtailment of her monthly allowance from us though we are living in light-housekeeping rooms while she lives in her own home. The winter is coming with its added expense and we are not going to be able to meet it. My husband has two sisters and a brother who have never made a gesture to help with the support of their mother, but who think it right and proper for my husband and me to carry the load alone. They are willing for me, an in-law, to be deprived of the pleasure of a home and of children in order to take care of their mother.

If any of them were to consent to take their mother to live with them she wouldn't go, for she frequently said that none of them does to suit her. She is hard to get along with; and while she has always been agreeable to me I know she would make our lives miserable if we took her in to live with us. Now is it fair for one son to have to carry all the burden of his mother when the others are equally able to support her?

A FAITHFUL READER.

ANSWER:

Of course it's not fair for one son to have to carry the burden of the support of his mother, when there are other children to share it. But when he has set such a precedent over a period of years, it's mighty hard for him to persuade the other children to come forward and assume a share of the load.

One of the strangest things in life is the fact that children born of the same parents, brought up under the same circumstances, trained in the same school, can grow up to be totally different in their attitude toward their parents; one will feel the responsibility in connection with a parent and another will apparently lack any sense of obligation beyond keeping up communication by letters and occasional visits. Naturally the parent learns to lean on the one that offers prop and to accept the idea that this particular child will always look out for her.

These children being called in to assume their share of the financial burden feel much like the man who is asked to pay a bill he considers the obligation of another. He is resentful of the suggestion that he has been remiss and greedy to hold on to the money that he has allocated to other causes. He won't come across except under duress.

A family conclave should be called in this instance, the facts reviewed and the call for concerted contributions made by the son and daughter-in-law upon the other members of the family. There is no reason why the mother shouldn't live with any one of her children. A certain old gentleman whose conversation is composed largely of saws and frequently uses this one: "Fair is fair." There is no gainsaying that the present plan in operation in this family is not fair.

BANK IRREGULARITIES DENIED BY WITNESS

DETROIT, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A bookkeeper and a lawyer came before the one-man Detroit grand jury to present firm denials of recent charges by United States Senator James Couzens and the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin that there had been improprieties in Detroit banking conduct prior to the Michigan banking holiday February 14.

A. A. McGonagle, head of the bookkeeping staff of the closed First National Bank-Detroit, apprised of charges by the militant Father Coughlin that accounts of the bank deliberately had been "padded," declared "someone has been misinformed."

The lawyer, Thomas G. Long, counsel for the First National and for the Detroit Trust Company, questioned about Senator Couzens' charges that there had been "kiting" of checks between the two institutions and that reciprocal deposits had been made which tended to show greater than actual assets of both banks, declared the transactions between banks "had no such purpose at all."

Both offered detailed explanations, as well as figures to support their contentions.

2 U. S., British Ships En Route to Foochow

HONG KONG, China, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The United States gunboat Sacramento and the British destroyer Wishart left today for Foochow to protect American and British nationals against the menace of Chinese communistic armies.

Chinese reports said that the famous 19th route army, mainstay of the defense of Shanghai in the conflict with Japan last year, had established headquarters at Lungyen, and a counter drive against Liencheng to the west was awaited.

IMPROVEMENT MADE BY VISCOUNT GREY

CHRISTON BANK, England, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Viscount Grey of Fallondon, British foreign secretary at the outbreak of the World War, was slightly better today. The fact that he was critically ill became public yesterday.

Despite the improvement it was understood that the viscount still was gravely ill. No details of his malady have been issued.

New Deal Wins Ribbon As President Watches

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt went to the county fair today and saw New Deal win the blue ribbon with his youngest son, John, in the saddle.

New Deal is the beautiful chestnut horse given the president by the people of Missouri. John came home from his job in the polo training camp to put the horse through its paces at the Dutchess County fair at Rhinebeck.

There was plenty of competition and the president, sitting in his car in the center of the crowd of spectators circling the field, smiled proudly as the tall, straight young John rode up with the blue ribbon.

Mr. Roosevelt and his 16-year-old son posed with New Deal for the photographers. Mrs. Roosevelt was just as happy and John got some healthy pats on the back.

On the Air Today

In the 1924 Illinois-Michigan football game "Red" Grange carried the ball only four times. But on each occasion he went over the line for a touchdown. The highlights of that memorable occasion will be re-enacted under Ted Husing's direction during the Oldsmobile program over a coast-to-coast WABC-Columbia network and WGST from 8:30 to 8:45 o'clock tonight.

The Irish ballad, "Little Bit of Heaven," will be sung by Morton Downey as the feature of his soug recital over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST at 5 o'clock this afternoon, for which Mark Warnow's orchestra will provide the music. The tenor also will be heard in "Under a Blanket of Blue" and "Little Bit of Heaven."

The Mills Brothers will sing the novelty, "Coney Island," as the highlight of their broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Included on their program will be two perennially popular old-times—"Some of These Days" and "Sweet Sue." The vocal harmonizers will be aided by brother John's guitar.

John Kelvin will sing the comedy selection, "Low Back'd Car," which was written by Lover, Victor Herbert's maternal grandfather, as the highlight of his program from 3.45 to 4 o'clock this afternoon over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST. Other selections to be offered by the Irish tenor will be Sullivan's lovely song, "The Lost Chord," "Fairy Story by the Fire" by Merikanto, and the currently popular selection, "Moonlight Down in Lovers' Lane."

Gladys Rice, one of the best known radio sopranos, will be heard in a program of popular and light classics from 8:45 to 9:15 o'clock tonight over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST opening with the beautiful inspiration of Moya, "Song of Songs." She will also offer "Is Yo'," a selection from her personal music library; the lyric French melody, "Speak to Me of Love;" and the song made famous by Irene Bordoni, "I Won't Say I Will" from the musical production, "Little Miss Bluebeard."

Culbertson on Contract

Notrump Takeouts

BY ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Notrump Takeouts of Opening suit bids when only sufficient to overcall may show hands containing no more than the equivalent of an Ace and a Queen in honor cards. Such Takeouts, however, usually imply some sort of a fit with partner's holding, and, except in rare instances, when no other bid is available, a negative notrump (i. e. a bid of notrump only sufficient to Overcall) should not be made when void of partner's suit or holding only a singleton in it.

Some players are inclined to abuse this bid and to make it on honor holdings as weak as two Queens or possibly even a Queen and a Knave in different suits. This use of the notrump response is ordinarily the sheerest folly and results more often than not in the reaching of an unmakable contract, usually doubled.

In the Culbertson System the bedrock minimum for a notrump response to any Opening suit bid of one is, as stated above, the equivalent of an Ace and a Queen. This minimum requirement gives to the Opening Hand a solid foundation upon which he may safely build the later superstructure of the bidding. With hands of less honor strength, provided adequate trump support is held, a single Raise should be given in partner's bid suit.

The effect of either of these minimum bids is to give the Opening Hand, which may be very strong and may have further information to convey, another opportunity to call and perhaps discover a distributional fit in some other suit, or if the hand is of near two-bid proportions in honor strength, to disclose it by a Forcing Rebid on the second round.

When a response of one notrump is made to an Opening bid, the Opening Hand knows that the hand has certain definite limitations. He knows that the honor-trick strength of the hand, though not less than the equivalent of an Ace and Queen as a minimum, is not more than 2-plus honor tricks as a maximum. In addition, he is reasonably certain that the distribution is balanced—probably either 3-3-3-4 or 2-3-4-4 (which implies some sort of fit with the bid suit).

For example, assuming that the Opening bid is one heart and that Responding Hand holds:

Spades A 10 4 2
Hearts J 7
Diamonds Q 8 6 2
Clubs 10 7 5

the correct response is one notrump. However, if the Responding Hand should be

Spades A 10 4 3
Hearts 7
Diamonds Q 8 6 2
Clubs J 10 7 5

then the response to the bid of one heart should be one spade, although the honor strength in the spade suit is greatly shaded.

With a singleton in partner's suit the negative notrump should be avoided whenever possible.

A second message that is ordinarily conveyed by the minimum notrump response to an Opening bid is the fact that the Responding Hand lacks a biddable suit. The Approach principle requires that, whenever possible, a biddable suit should be preferred in responding to an Opening bid as well as in the making of it. There is one exception to this rule which applies when a bid of two-odd is required to take out the Opening bid. In such cases the negative notrump response should be preferred if the hand contains only 1 plus honor tricks and no better than a five-card suit.

For example, after the Opening Hand has bid one spade, the Responding Hand holding

Spades J 5
Hearts K 7 4
Diamonds Q J 9 8 7

should respond with one notrump, rather than two diamonds. The reason is obvious. If partner should now bid two clubs that bid could be safely passed and could possibly be made, whereas if the response to the Opening bid had been two diamonds a two-club bid by the Opening hand would now have been shut out and the result might well be the acceptance of a penalty rather than the making of a valuable part-score.

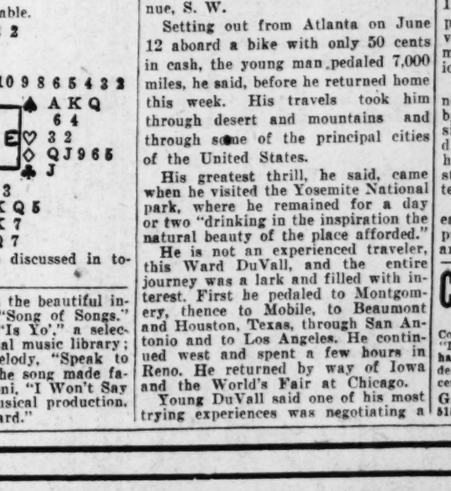

An additional argument for the negative notrump response on hands of like minimum strength is that the Opening Hand may itself be a minimum or near minimum, with no other suit to show, and thus the Opening bidder may be both willing and anxious to pass partner's notrump response.

When the Opening bid has been one of a minor suit the Responding Hand, even in cases where adequate trump support is held together with enough playing-tricks to justify a Raise, should consider the advisability of a notrump Takeout rather than a raise in partner's bid suit.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

What contract should North and South reach on the hand below, and what should be South's Opening bid?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Personal nomination for the most astrocious plays and bids at the bridge table.

Not recognizing the misfit hands in the early rounds of the bidding and instead of letting the opposition get into trouble continue selfish bidding until you have gone far beyond your depth.

Taking charge of a partner who is fully as capable as you.

Taking partner out of a business double when the opposition is vulnerable and you are not.

Making weak overcalls when culnerable. Against smart players, who are unafraid to double one and two bids for business, this overcalling with weak hands is the surest way to the poorhouse.

Leading from a king in a trump declaration. I have seen one or two slam contracts set by this lead and the leaders go into great length as to the smartness of the lead. Would like nothing better than to play 10 hours per day against players who follow that school of thought.

Leading top of your partner's bid suit against a no-trump instead of underleading all honors save the 10, provided you have as many as three. Would like to have a good dinner for every time I have seen the lead of a jack or queen of partner's bid suit lose the defenders a trick.

Doubling slam bids when voluntarily bid by good bridge players. Of all stupid bids of morons and alleged bridge players, the double of a slam which has been bid by two sound players of their own free will and accord takes rank with that school of thought that allows the declarer to trump in one hand and discard in the other. It is said to be a most popular play with certain of our citizens residing in a state institution at Milledgeville.

Stop and consider how many times in your life you have seen really fine bridge players take over a two set on and voluntarily bid small or grand slam. How few times have you seen fine bridge players take over a one set on voluntarily bid slams? Against wild and reckless players it is another story, but against sound bidders it is the poorest gamble, from a percentage standpoint, known at the bridge table. If your opponents are vulnerable and you are doubling a small slam on the expectancy of a one set you are staking 100 extra points against the chance of a redouble, which, if made, will net the opposition about 540 extra points, not counting an extra trick that would add 400 more. Cold figures don't lie and those are the odds you give when you glibly double a small slam. Another vital and unseen percentage against doubling is that by doubling you help the declarer place valuable high cards or trump strength.

Ed Nix makes the welcome announcement that starting next week the Henry Grady Bridge Club's weekly pair tournament will be held on Thursday instead of Tuesday evening. This will avoid the conflict with the Georgia Bridge Club's regular Tuesday evening tournament and will give those players who like to attend both an opportunity to gratify their desires. It is a splendid move and I congratulate Edward on it.

The popular Ed also states that at a very early tournament, the date is known but will not be announced until the players assembled on that particular evening, there will be a guest night. On this occasion the players play without paying any entrance fee. Considering the expensive trip Edward took to Asbury this is a most pleasant revelation. Glad you have made such a wonderful financial recovery, Ed, and would appreciate the rehabilitation receipt. I will never be the same man again.

It was not a bridge tournament, in fact little was said about bridge and nothing at all, praise Allah, concerning bridge hands, but it was attended by bridge players and was about as enjoyable an affair as one would ever want to attend. I speak of the delightful dinner party Mrs. Elwin Clarke gave at her home Saturday evening to about a dozen of her friends. This hostess, always noted for her charming hospitality, never gave a more enjoyable party. By the way, my personal nomination for two of the best raconteurs is Mrs. Clara McCullough and Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale. Their stories at the party added a touch that will long live in the minds of all who were there. Hope you have another one soon, Mrs. Clarke.

NANCY PAGE

A Tea Apron Goes Into Nancy's Gift Box

BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

The second article which went into Nancy's gift box was a tea apron made of organdy. When the whole world went boyish and brusque after the war there was no need for tea aprons. But now that femininity has returned the aprons are coming back.

Nancy chose a peach-colored organdy and a cream net footing. For the organdy she used one yard. The footing required was about five yards.

She used the cutting chart as prepared and sent when directions at end of this article are followed.

She cut a pattern from paper, following the outline shown in the upper right-hand corner of the leaflet. The width of the apron was 28 inches. So was its length. She shaped the bottom and top and then made the slit at the waistline. This slit extended into the body of the apron for two inches.

She folded the pattern in half and laid it on a lengthwise fold of the material. She cut the apron. Next she cut the ties. These were two inches wide and 24 inches long.

Next she cut two pieces seven inches long and five and one-half inches wide. She turned in the edges and basted these at the two lower corners as indicated by the dotted lines.

She cut a piece to be attached to the bib. This was two inches deep after edge was basted in and the width and length of the bib. Its position is indicated by the dotted line.

She hemmed the strings and attached them to the body of the apron. Then she took the apron to a hemstitcher and had her hemstitch the edge all around and also the double pieces on bib and at sides.

Next she gathered the side pieces and sewed them as indicated. She seamed part of the gathers to the ties, as shown.

Cream footing was now sewed to the apron as shown in the diagram. The finished apron was so dainty that Nancy always referred to it as her Marie Antoinette apron.

Detailed instructions on making tea apron may be obtained by sending 3 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Nancy Page, in care of The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta Youth 'Sees America' On 7,000-Mile Tour by Bicycle

Adventure and romance were found this summer by Ward DuVall, 19-year-old Darlington school student, in a bicycle tour to "see America first." He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. DuVall, of 905 Cascade avenue, S. W.

Setting out from Atlanta on June 12 aboard a bike with only 50 cents in cash, the young man pedaled 7,000 miles, he said, before he returned home this week. His travels took him through desert and mountains and through some of the principal cities of the United States.

His greatest thrill, he said, came when he visited the Yosemite National park, where he remained for a day or two "drinking in the inspiration the natural beauty of the place afforded."

He is not an experienced traveler, this Ward DuVall, and the entire journey was a lark and filled with interest. First he pedaled to Montgomery, thence to Mobile, to Beaumont and Houston, Texas, through San Antonio and to Los Angeles. He continued west and spent a few hours in Reno. He returned by way of Iowa and the World's Fair at Chicago.

Young DuVall said one of his most trying experiences was negotiating a desert in the Imperial Valley, with the sun bearing down to create temperatures of 140 degrees. He rode 28 hours without stopping to sleep or to eat anything more than a sandwich in traversing the burning waste. Included in other adventures were gold prospecting with a gold miner in Nevada and helping to find seven Indian mummies in excavations in New Mexico.

As for funds to complete the journey, the young bicyclist made his way by the "wandering minstrel" route, singing wherever he could find an audience. He plays a piano and his voice has been heard from several radio stations which extended him the courtesy of the air in his travels.

He will return to Darlington school early in September and expects to publish a book of his experiences at an early date.

Miss Ridley Weds Mr. Beauchamp At Morning Ceremony at Church

Characterized by impressive dignity, the wedding of Miss Anne Phillips Ridley and William Benjamin Beauchamp, of Atlanta, formerly of Richmond, Va., was quietly solemnized yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church on Peachtree street. Bishop Warren A. Candler performed the ceremony in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends.

Palms and ferns were effectively banked before the choir loft and at the back of the altar, forming a background of the glossy dark foliage for the six seven-branched candelabra holding burning tapers, which were in the foreground. A large basket holding an artistic arrangement of white gladiolus and white asters centered the decoration of the altar and was flanked at either side by a smaller basket holding the gladiolus and asters.

Musical Program.

Mrs. Charles E. Dowman was in charge of the musical program and her selections preceding the ceremony included Intermezzo, Rogers; Toccata, DuBois; Meditation, Sturges; Madrigal, Simonett, and Serenade, Schubert. The wedding march from "Lohengrin," by Wagner, heralded the approach of the bridal party and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional. During the ceremony Mrs. Dowman played "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell.

Mrs. Martha Ridley MacIntyre, sister of the bride, who acted as matron of honor, was gowned in dove gray crepe, made with an ankle-length skirt. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves and ties of gray satin confining the cuffs at the wrists and finishing the high neckline. Her close-fitting hat in the same tone of gray was trimmed with a silver ornament and her other accessories were of gray. She carried a showered bouquet of roesa tuberosa nymphaeas lilies tied with flesh-tinted satin ribbon.

Emerson Gardner acted as Mr. Beauchamp's best man, and the ushers included William J. Crum, Harold Dillon, Hatton Lovejoy and Dr. Robert Y. Stephens.

Beautiful Bride.

Pansy blue velvet offset to best advantage the exquisite blonde coloring of the lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her maternal uncle, Charles J. Warner. Her velvet gown reached to ankle length and was molded to her slender figure. The high neckline was cut in modish bateau fashion and the raglan sleeves were confined from elbow to wrist with deep, close-fitting cuffs. A beautiful mirror buckle, which fastened to the belt at the back, was the only ornament used on the gown. She wore a turban of velvet in the same tone and her accessories were in harmonizing shades. The bride carried a bouquet of nymphaeas lilies tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. James Beall Ridley, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in eel gray. Her gown featured a combination of satin, which fashioned the bodice and tied in a loose bow at the neckline, and uncut velvet which made the skirt. She wore an eel gray felt hat made with a smart brim and trimmed with a feather ornament, and completing her costume was a spray of deep purple orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. Beauchamp and his bride left for a wedding trip to the east. For traveling Mrs. Beauchamp donned a stylish ensemble of navy blue flat crepe made with wide peasant sleeves and worn with a small blue hat and other accessories in the same color tone. On their return the couple will take possession of their apartment on Collier road.

West End Civic Club Will Sponsor Tea.

The entire membership of the Civic Club of West End is co-operating with the NRA activities by signing the consumers' cards, and many members are helping in the distribution of the cards and insignia.

The young matrons' division will be hostesses at the tea Friday afternoon at the Civic Club. Tables will be placed in the auditorium and on the porches for bridge and other games. Table prizes will be awarded. Tables will be $1 each, 25 cents for each guest.

Civic Club will sponsor a homemade cake sale Saturday, September 2, at the Georgia Power Company office on Gordon street in West End. Many varieties of cakes will be sold in any quantity desired from small helpings served with coffee to whole cakes.

Maple Grove.

Maple Grove No. 86, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, meets this evening at 8 o'clock at the Red Men's wigwam. The public is invited to attend. The graduation exercises of Mary Thompson and Bobbie Smith, of Junior Circle No. 3, will be an added feature of the meeting. Mrs. Emma Brooks will preside, assisted by Mrs. Mary Anglin, Mrs. Correna Nix, Mrs. Blanche Schoefield and the Dora Alexander Talley Guards. Friends and relatives of the graduates are requested to attend this exercise.

Another feature of the open meeting will be the chorus choir of the H. H. H. Class of the Grant Park Baptist church, directed by J. A. Brundage, who will furnish the entertainment for the musical program. Mr. Brundage will be assisted by Miss Macy Nelson, pianist, and F. J. Cowie, W. L. Scott, A. L. Bailey, W. H. Battle, C. D. Asbell, D. O. Roper, Johnnie Bishop, B. O. Burnett and A. F. Hopkins.

Members of the society and their families and friends are invited to participate in this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance Fete Bridal Couple.

Numbered among the interesting social affairs of the week was the buffet supper given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Nance at their home on Cumberland road, complimenting Miss Mildred Nance and Dr. Chester King Gardner following their wedding rehearsal.

Vari-colored flowers were used in the effective decorations. Mrs. J. R. Alexander, of Philadelphia, Pa., assisted her mother, Mrs. Nance, in entertaining. The guests included the members of the wedding party and the out-of-town guests.

Miss Claudius Layton Weds Mr. Taylor at Home Ceremony

MRS. JAMES L. TAYLOR.

Cordial interest centers in the wedding of Miss Claudius Layton to James L. Taylor, which took place on Saturday afternoon, August 26, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. L. A. Layton, on Juniper street. Dr. Wilburn I. Smith, pastor of Jackson Hill Baptist church, performed the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. J. Henry Strickland rendered a musical program featuring "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Allen Vickery. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played for the entrance of the bridal party, and "To a Wild Rose" during the ceremony.

An improvised altar of palms, smilax and white and pink floor vases filled with dahlias was arranged in the living room. Tall candelabra lighted the altar, adding an effective glow to the scene.

The bride entered with her only attendant, Miss Betty Taylor, of Ohio, sister of the groom. Miss Taylor was gowned in a model of royal blue taffeta fashioned along Victorian lines, and her shoulder bouquet was of pink roses and valley lilies.

Beautiful Bride.

The electric blue velvet gown and navy accessories worn by the beautiful bride enhanced her blonde coloring. The gown was fashioned along molded lines with patterned, puffed sleeves and a silver gilt belt, and she wore a shoulder bouquet of hybrid orchids. The groom entered with William P. Layton, his best man.

Mrs. Layton, the bride's mother, was gowned in powdre blue mousseline de soie. She wore a shoulder bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests were entertained at an informal reception given by the bride's mother. The embossed wedding cake was set upon a floral mound of Ophelia roses and gladiolus. Burning tapers in silver holders, dahlias and asters carried out the pink and white color scheme. The punch bowls, which were decorated with asters and maiden hair ferns, were presided over by Mrs. John Pursall, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. John Russell and Mrs. Wilbur Martin.

Mrs. Taylor is the only daughter of Mrs. L. A. Layton and the late W. C. Layton. She is a graduate of Girls' High school, of which she is an honorary member of Cum Laude. She attended the University of Georgia for one year and was graduated from Emory University with an A. B. degree. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Kappe Delta Epsilon honorary education sorority.

Mr. Taylor is the son of J. T. Taylor, of East Liberty, Ohio. He received his A. B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University, and his M. S. degree from Syracuse University. At present he is a member of the faculty of Druid Hills High school. The groom is a member of Delta Alpha Pi social fraternity. Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemical fraternity, and Sigma Xi, honorary research fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs Taylor left for a motor trip, after which they will be at home on Juniper street.

Prior to the marriage the bride was honored at a series of parties and showers. Mrs. Alfred Johnson entertained at a shower honoring Mrs. Taylor on August 18. Mrs. Wilbur Martin entertained at a shower on August 19; Miss Annette Noel honored the bride at an informal reception on August 20. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were honored at a theater party given by Miss Willie V. Warren on August 21; and Miss Robbie McWilliams entertained at a bridge party for the bride and groom on August 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fuller.

Out-9of-Town Guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs J. A. Alexander, of Spartanburg, S. C., and her sister, Mrs. John Bennett, Mrs. Willis Henderson, of Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. W. G. Johnson, of Manchester, Ga.; Miss Betty Taylor and Stephen Taylor, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Roosevelt Auxiliary.

Lee-Roosevelt auxiliary No. 3, entertains this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Grady Andrews, at 1468 Lucile avenue. Mrs. Callie Karlston, chairman of the entertainment committee, will assist Mrs. Andrews in presenting a program. Margarette Ann Sells will give a ballet dance and a reading; Mildred Kessler will present a song; Dorothy Kessler will give piano numbers, and Dalton Clower will give impersonations of stage and radio stars. Mrs. Agnes Robinson, chairman of the refreshment committee, will serve tea, assisted by Mrs. Katharine Irwin. The Lee Roosevelt auxiliary No. 13 and Camp No. 6 and their families are invited.

Hayes—Wren.

Mrs. Joen Hayes, of Covington, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Alice Hayes, of New York, to James K. Wren, of Wheeling, W. Va., and New York, the wedding having been solemnized Saturday, August 19.

Junior Woman's Club Lists Appointments Of Officers, Chairmen

Miss Virginia Fridell, newly elected president of the junior division of the West End Woman's Club, announces appointments of chairmen of committees as follows: Sick and visitation, Miss Eleanor Johnson; membership, Miss Elizabeth Haynes; refreshments, Miss Thelma Andrews; ways and means, Miss Thelma Kirby; social, Miss Margaret Dyer; scrapbook, Miss Dorothy Andrews; telephone, Miss Louise Paden. This division, under the capable and efficient leadership of Mrs. Grady Andrews, was organized and with a membership of 40 girls, held the first meeting Wednesday.

The following officers were installed with Mrs. Julia Jackson Turner conducting the installation service; president, Miss Fridell; first vice president, Mrs. Lucile Green; second vice president, Miss Dorothy Ridley; recording secretary, Miss Dorothy Cosby; corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Norman; treasurer, Miss Annie Ruth Borgan, and press representative, Miss Louise Simmons. Appropriate music for the installation was furnished by Misses Mildred and Dorothy Kissler.

Mrs. W. N. Ponder, president of the West End Woman's Club, welcomed the members of this new department and expressed appreciation for the great interest they have manifested. Mrs. Henry Smart, formerly Miss Dorothy Brogdon, president of the first junior club to be organized in West End, spoke of the great work that can be accomplished by a junior club. Other members of the club taking part on the program included Mrs. Emmett Brogdon, first president of the West End Woman's Club; Mrs. Clark M. Settle, Mrs. J. H. Phagan, past presidents, and Mrs. W. C. Griffith.

Flowers from the senior club and a gift from Mrs. Andrews were presented Miss Fridell as she was inducted into office. The charter will remain open until October 1 and any young lady making application for membership before that date will be placed on the list of charter members. The junior department will sponsor a dance at the clubhouse each Thursday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Junior Horse Show To Be Staged Saturday, Nov. 4

The Young Matrons' circle of Tallulah Falls school will sponsor the third annual junior horse show in Atlanta on Saturday, November 4. Already plans are being formulated for making this one of the most successful equestrian events ever held in the city.

Robert Hoffman, nationally-known authority on horses, said in a recent issue of Country Life, "This is indeed the day of the juvenile in all forms of sport. Paradoxically, there are more and better junior riders in this 'horseless age' than there were before the automobile drove the horse and the horse-drawn vehicle from the public highways."

Atlanta boasts of an unusually large number of accomplished junior riders who will ride in the fall show. Elaborate arrangements for the show will be made by Mrs. William Akers, president of the Young Matrons' circle, and her corps of officers including Mesdames Walter Candler, Homer Sanford, Clarence Haverty, Morris Brandon Jr., vice presidents; Mrs. Thomas W. Connally, recording secretary; Mrs. Fonville McWhorter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Irving Schweppe, treasurer.

Water Sports Planned At Woman's Club.

The water sports which were originally scheduled to be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club last week will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A number of novel features including races and contests have been arranged and prizes will be awarded to the holders of lucky numbers in addition to the winners of the swimming events.

Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. B. S. Purse and Mrs. Edward B. Everett, chairman and co-chairman of the swimming pool, who will be assisted by the life guards, Nat Klausman and Charles von Hermann Junior.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Stocks dragged lower today in a rather uninteresting market. Wheat, on the other hand, rallied vigorously after an early sag; its recovery served to check the downward swing in shares during the last hour, but the list slipped again at the close and net losses of a point or more were numerous.

Trade statistics served to emphasize the previously apparent seasonal contraction in industry.

With the market facing a three-day vacation, traders seemed willing to close out commitments and reluctant to acquire new lines, hence prices receded easily under moderate pressure. Around midafternoon cotton had a flurry when a rumor of imminent Russian recognition was floated, but that commodity was off 65 to 95 cents a bale net. Stock sales totaled approximately 2,000,000 shares.

Utilities braced a bit, but rails and industrials were sluggish. Washington's repeal vote, like Missouri's, found the wet issues indifferent.

Steel production, said Iron Age, has gone to a 47 per cent rate from 50, and there is no suggestion of a trend reversal, "outside of a seasonal upturn in automobile production." Shares representing the industry, including United States Steel and Bethlehem, were mildly reactionary.

American Can, General Electric, American Telephone, du Pont, National Biscuit, Baltimore & Ohio and Western Union were down 1 to 2.

Looking to foreign exchanges for possible repercussions from the new gold order, it was obvious that operators were somewhat uncertain. The dollar had a fair rally in the morning, then tended toward narrow movements.

Money weakened. The stock exchange posted a record low call loan renewal rate of 3-4 of 1 per cent, thus breaking with the 1 per cent figure which had been regarded as artificial in view of general conditions in credit markets.

United States Dollar Shows Gain in Value

By the Associated Press.

The United States dollar rose in value yesterday in London, Paris and Berlin in the wake of the announcement lifting America's embargo on mined gold.

London—Financial authorities thought the raising of the embargo might stimulate the opening up of new sources of gold supply, but they looked for no increased flow of sufficient proportions to depress the gold price appreciatively. The dollar improved 1 3-4 cents, closing at $4.54 1-2 to the pound sterling.

Paris—The American action accentuated the uncertainty of speculators. Bankers said that obviously the move would stiffen the exchange. The dollar improved 19 centimes, closing at 17.90 francs (5.59 cents to the franc).

Berlin—The dollar quotation showed a mark value of 33.45 cents against 34.01 Tuesday.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—While willing to allow for a further period in which the market might consolidate recent gains, we continue to counsel the accumulation of stocks on recessions either for trading or for retention into a period of further advance in prices which we believe lies ahead.

DOBBS & COMPANY—It seems that political, as well as economic, factors are running counter to a degree that makes it practically impossible to arrive at any good opinion as to the immediate action of the market.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—The recent action of utilities suggests a well-liquidated position from the trading standpoint at least. Over the longer period they will probably be at a continued disadvantage as compared with the rail and other issues.

COTTON OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—The market is apt to be more or less irregular in advance of the holidays, but any further unfavorable weather which seems in prospect should exert a sustaining influence if it does not enhance values.

HUBBARD BROTHERS & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—We expect a nervous and irregular market between now and Friday when the Labor Day holidays begin. Liverpool October due Thursday 5.49d.

BEER & COMPANY—We continue to advocate a trading position, purchasing on setbacks for quick turns.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—With a long week-end reaction and a government crop report next week no one cares to take a too decided position and the locals getting in and out of the market on the various changes account for the erratic price changes.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—Again, as has been our contention for some time, a break below 90 cents for December wheat has proved an attractive buying spot to buy this grain.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—Oats acted very well again Wednesday and any strength in the other grains will allow oats to move upward to a price that will more correctly represent their real value.

SHARES ON CURB RALLY AT CLOSE

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The curb market recovered its balance in the late dealings today after having experienced considerable selling during the forenoon. The close was irregular but represented substantial reduction or elimination of early losses. A number of issues pushed slightly higher, particularly oils.

Gold mining equities led the early sell-off as traders in those shares revised earlier estimates of the benefits to be derived from President Roosevelt's gold embargo modification.

Utilities were narrow. Electric Bond & Share showed scant change while American Gas & Electric slipped a fraction. Alcohols were soggy until the final hour when losses of 1 to around 8 points were sharply reduced in Hiram Walker, Distillers' Corporation-Seagrams and Canadian Industrial Alcohol A.

Transfers approximated 300,000 shares compared with 400,000 yesterday.

CAROLINA LEAF PRICES SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Tobacco prices on the new bright leaf belt today reflected little change from those of yesterday, the opening day. Unofficial averages ranged from 10 to 12 cents a pound.

Offerings were not as heavy as on Tuesday, when sales were blocked generally throughout the belt.

Many growers looked forward with interest to a mass meeting to be held here tomorrow to protest the prices and possibly take steps seeking government aid in boosting the value of the crop.

Sales at Wilson were estimated at around 1,000,000 pounds with little change in prices. Tuesday's average was $10.93 a hundred pounds.

There appeared to be some dissatisfaction among farmers on the Wilson market because of low prices, but there was no organized protests. The market, however, is expected to be represented at the protest meeting here tomorrow.

R. Hunter Pope, of Enfield, was appointed chairman to preside over the meeting of growers from 42 counties. It is planned to send delegates to Washington to confer with administration officials on the price situation.

Prices on all grades were better on the Fairmont market today. The market's high average of $13.96 was gained from the sale of 819,776 pounds.

SOUTH CAROLINA GROWERS SEEK TO CLOSE MARKETS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 30.—(AP) Charles H. Gerald, secretary to Governor Blackwood, today informed a committee representing tobacco growers of the Peedee section that the governor lacks authority to close tobacco markets as a means of forcing prices upward.

The committee, which was chosen at a meeting at Florence yesterday to urge the governor to suspend tobacco sales, differed in opinion as to the course to be pursued.

Senator Emerson L. Ard, of Kingstree, and M. B. Huggins, of Timmonsville, said they believed it would prove inadvisable to close the markets. R. S. Rogers, of Dillon; J. C. Ayers, of Tabor, N. C., and F. D. Gatty, of Dillon, the other three members of the committee, contended the markets should be shut down until prices rice.

REPORT SHOWS PRICES LOWER THAN IN 1932

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics, after a survey, said today that the opening prices at tobacco markets in eastern North Carolina averaged "somewhat lower" yesterday, the first day of sale, than on the opening day last year.

It said that at Farmville, N. C., sales were reported as heavy in volume and made up mostly of second to fourth-quality priming lugs. Straight side of lugs and cutters were scarce and prices ranged from $2 to $21 per 100 pounds.

FURTHER DROP SHOWN IN STEEL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The national average of steel ingot output has declined at 47 per cent of capacity from 50 per cent a week ago, Iron Age said today.

"Both steel releases and mill operations," said the Review, "have undergone a further decline and there is nothing to suggest an early change in trend outside of a contra-seasonal upturn in automobile production."

The Iron Age composite price for the latter has risen from $15.94 to $16.71 a gross ton. Composites for finished steel and scrap are unchanged at 1.979 cents a pound and $12 a gross ton, respectively.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 15 points down, at 9.25. Receipts, 66; shipments, 1,040; stocks, 188,810.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cotton lost some ground today under liquidation and southern selling. December contracts after declining to 9.65 during the forenoon sold up to 9.83 but lost the improvement, closing at 9.66. The general market ended barely steady at net losses of 13 to 19 points.

Initial prices were 7 to 12 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and scattering liquidation. October sold off to 9.45 and May to 10.10 late in the morning, making net losses of about 17 to 18 points. Offerings tapered off at these figures and rallies followed on covering and a scattering demand promoted by improvement in grains and stocks.

For a time the market showed considerable firmness with October selling up to 9.65 and May to 10.27, but this advance brought out increased southern selling and prices eased, closing within 2 or 3 points of the lowest for the day on most of the active positions.

The weekly report of the weather bureau was considered about a standoff according to some of the local traders, and had little apparent effect on the market. Exports today 32,361, making 496,425 so far this season. Port receipts, 29,886. United States port stocks, 2,976,676.

Liverpool cables reported a steady market there on scattered buying and some month-end price fixing, but said business in cotton goods at Manchester was quiet with the turnover restricted by prevailing uncertainties.

The day's detailed weather reports showed rains distributed quite generally over the eastern and central belts, except south Georgia, with none in Oklahoma. In Texas rains were general in the south and scattered in other sections.

Trade houses were reported fairly good buyers of October and December during the early trading, the demand being attributed to price fixing.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON DECLINES 13-14 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cotton fluctuated rather freely today in sympathy with the erratic course of stocks and grains and the close was at net declines of 13 to 14 points. Trading was not very active.

The opening was somewhat easier owing to lower Liverpool cables than due and easier sterling. Manchester said business was still restricted in the cloth and yarn markets.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 2 pennypoints down.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Bonds displayed little interest in generally lifeless trading today and, at the close, prices were mildly mixed.

While a few specialties were fairly active, at times, the majority of listed issues recorded only minimum turnovers. Sales totaled approximately $9,600,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans eased one-tenth of a point.

Fractional losses and declines were the rule in most of the prime investment groups. Owing to a late moderate rally in the speculative categories, the majority of net price changes here were also unimportant. Business and industrial news was a little spotty. Seasonal relaxation was displayed by both steel production and electric power output.

Among the rails, Louisville & Nashville were up a point or more.

Maturities of American & Foreign Power, Armour & Company, Paramount and Phillips Petroleum were a trifle higher.

United States government securities eased and foreign obligations were irregular.

DEVALUATION IS SEEN IN NEW GOLD ORDER

By ELMER C. WALZER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's order modifying the gold embargo changes definitely the gold content of the dollar and could be a forerunner to official devaluation.

Hereafter, under the order, the American dollar will not have a fixed gold content, but its gold content will fluctuate from day to day according to the vagaries of the free gold markets of the world on which the price of gold paid American mining companies shall be based.

The American gold dollar has been fixed by law at 25.8 grains 9-10ths fine. On that basis a fine ounce of gold would be worth $20.67. Today gold sold in London at an American equivalent of $29.23 per fine ounce. At that figure the gold content of the American dollar would be depressed to 18.24 grains 9-10th fine.

Until the present order was promulgated the gold mining companies were forced to sell their gold to the United States treasury at the price of $20.67 per ounce fixed by law. They could not sell in London, where a premium ranging between 25 and 45 per cent over the American pegged price prevailed. Tuesday's premium was 41 per cent and the American dollar in terms of gold was worth about 70 cents, or a discount of 30 per cent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Grains abruptly "about faced" today and turned sharply upward late in the session. Reports that Argentina had signed the London wheat pact helped the advance.

Led by wheat with a rise of more than 6 cents a bushel from early low levels, all grains finished well above the previous close.

Wheat closed strong at gains of 2 3-8 to 2 7-8 cents a bushel, compared with yesterday's finish; corn also strong and 1 7-8 to 2 1-2 cents up, oats 3-4 to 1 7-8 higher, rye 1 3-8 advanced, and provisions ranging from a 25-cent decline to gains of 8 cents.

Liquidation of September corn held prices of the yellow cereal in check for a time, but the upswing in wheat carried corn also sharply higher. Corn displayed more resistance to the selling than did wheat and only declined around 2 cents a bushel, but the rallies were also shorter than in wheat.

Oats idled up and down with the leading cereals. Rye and barley were firmer than wheat early and quickly turned upward with improvement of the leading bread grain.

Provisions were under a pressure of liquidation, but recovered somewhat with grains.

WORLD WHEAT PACT SIGNED BY ARGENTINA

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Argentina's signature to the international wheat agreement today put the finishing touch to a pact which, the negotiators assert, will rehabilitate the wheat industry and thereby do more toward restoring world prosperity than could any other single factor.

Wheat experts here assert that unless the world's impoverished wheat farmer is put on his feet there can be no universal prosperity.

Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher and American representative, is one of those who hold this opinion, but he said today that the agreement need not be expected "to work a miracle overnight."

Argentina became the 22d nation to sign the pact, the general purpose of which is to reduce production by the great wheat nations and stimulate consumption in the importing countries.

The delay in the signature of Argentina, which is one of the major wheat-producing nations, had caused much uneasiness among the negotiators. The other principal nations signed last Friday, but Argentina did not join the pact then because her representative, Thomas Le Breton, was on the continent.

BIG WHEAT CROP REPORTED IN "STARVING" RUSSIA.

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Exceptionally rich wheat crops in both the Ukraine and north Caucasus—regions reported starving in rumors abroad—were reported by the soviet government today.

A formal communique said that collectivized and individual farm peasants in the Ukraine up to August 20 had delivered to the government more that their entire quota set for the harvest month.

The officials pointed to this fact as proof of their claims of a bumper harvest, in refutation of the starvation rumors and declared again that recurrent reports of cannibalism were ridiculous.

Use of Cotton Gains In Foreign Countries

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Foreign countries have materially increased their consumption of American cotton, not only absolutely but relatively to their use of foreign growths during the past two seasons, the New York Cotton Exchange reported today.

"American cotton constituted 43.7 per cent of the total foreign consumption of all growths in the 1932-33 season," said the exchange, "compared with 42.8 per cent in the 1931-32 season, and 35.3 per cent in the 1930-31 season. From 1930-31 to 1932-33 foreign consumption of American cotton increased 2,099,000 bales, while consumption of foreign growths declined 576,000 bales.

CORPORAL CONVICTED UNDER ESPIONAGE ACT

FORT SHERMAN, Canal Zone, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A sentence equivalent to 20 years of hard labor was imposed tonight on Corporal Robert Osman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., following conviction of violating the United States espionage act of 1917 in attempting to transmit secret military documents to America.

The defendant was found guilty after five minutes of deliberation in a court-martial here following testimony by Osman himself that he was acquainted with a number of communists in New York.

The sentence, which was announced by Major General Preston Brown, read as follows:

"You are found guilty of all the charges presented against you. You are to be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States, to forfeit all pay and allowances due or to become due, to be confined at hard labor at such a place as the reviewing authority may direct for a period of two years and to pay the United States government the sum of $10,000.

"If the fine is not paid you shall be confined at hard labor for 18 years, this in addition to the two-year period imposed."

The documents, the contents of which were not revealed, reputedly were to have been sent to a man named Herman Meyers through a third person named Schulman at 1859 East Ninth street, Brooklyn.

ELECTRIC PRODUCTION AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Electric power output last week was 13.5 per cent above that for the same period alst year. This was the smallest gain since the week ended July 1 and compared with the previous week's rise of 15.2 per cent. Production also was down moderately from that reported in the period ended August 19.

The outturn, as announced by the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,630,394,000 kilowatt hours compared with 1,650,205,000 in the previous week, and 1,436,440,000 in the corresponding week last year.

In reporting output for the carious sections of the country the institute said the southern states were up 11.6 agains 18.1 the previous week.

ARMOUR ANNOUNCES REORGANIZATION PLAN

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The management of Armour and Company (Illinois) announced today a plan for reorganizing and simplifying the capital structure of the company had been withdrawn.

At a recent meeting of stockholders, slightly less than the needed stock was voted in favor of the change.

The plan was not made, the company announced, for the purpose of obtaining new capital, but was intended to make operation of the business more efficient. Company officials said the plan would react to the benefit of the stockholders.

T. G. Lee, president of Armour, said today the holders of about 25 per cent of the outstanding stock had not voted on the plan, but that 28,560 out of 45,300 stockholders had favored the plan. Most of those not voting their stock were said to be small stockholders.

FOLLOW THE Bible Game

$1,800 IN CASH PRIZES!

By THE BIBLE GAME EDITOR.

Dame Fortune is likely to walk hand-in-hand with Bible Game readers who overlook the fewest opportunities. Realizing this, many readers are taking advantage of the liberal rule which permits extra sets, with extra answers, to be turned in. Duplicates for making up extra sets can be easily had at The Constitution circulation department or by mail. They are 5 cents each, when bought individually, the same price as the issues of The Constitution in which they were published. Or any eight pictures may be had for 30 cents; 40 pictures (half the series) for $1.25, and the complete set of 80 pictures will be $2. These duplicates are printed on beautiful white paper that will take pen and ink without blurring—and they present a neat and attractive appearance. Mail orders for back pictures should include an extra 3 cents for postage.

This letter, bearing an interesting question, was received today from Miss L. D. W.:

"Let me congratulate The Atlanta Constitution for its initiative in presenting the Bible game. I agree with the distinguished clergymen that it is a conspicuous public service, and I am enjoying it thoroughly.

"May I ask this question: Will a verse that isn't in The Bible Treasury be considered as an appropriate solution?"

First, thank you Miss W. for your kind comment. Your query is answered by rule No. 7. All solutions must come from The Treasury, wherein all of the 80 most appropriate verses for the series of 80 pictures appear. No contest of skill, such as this, could be based upon the unabridged Scriptures, because many verses, nearly alike, are interspersed throughout the various books—and several of these apply equally as well to some of the pictures. In The Treasury, Dr. Keeney has eliminated these similar verses, so that there is no need for guessing. The Treasury is, of course, the "Bible" in the sense that it is an abridgment of the King James or "Authorized" version.

Entrants in the Bible game are under no obligation to buy The Treasury. It may be consulted at the office of The Atlanta Constitution, or at public libraries.

Questions and Answers

Verse Designations.

Q. Are contestants required to name the books and give the chapter and verse numbers of their verse-answers on the answer-blanks?—H. J. B., Atlanta.

A. Yes, this information must be given.

First-Class Postage.

Q. I have mounted my pictures on heavy paper and bound them in a book, which makes my set rather heavy. If I mail this set in with the package unsealed at one end, must I use first-class postage?—W. C. Y., Macon, Ga.

A. When sets are submitted by mail they must be sent under first-class postage, regardless of the manner in which they are wrapped. Sets that do not bear sufficient postage will be returned to the senders.

One Verse.

Q. May two verses be used to describe the action and characters in a picture?—S. L. V., Savannah, Ga.

A. Only one verse may be written on any one answer-blank.

Entirely Different.

Q. What is the difference between the Scriptural history, which is offered free, and The Bible Treasury?—J. J. H., Columbus, Ga.

A. The Scriptural history, edited by Rev. Stacey E. Henderson, has no verses. The Bible Treasury, compiled by Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Keeney, is made-up entirely of verses.

Complete Verses.

Q. Do you mind if just part of a verse is written down as the solutions to a picture?—M. F. T., Atlanta.

A. A complete verse, as it appears in The Bible Treasury, must be supplied for each picture.

Bible Game Information

Anonymous letters from contestants frequently cannot, because of limited space, be answered in this column. Contestants can be assured of a reply only when they sign their names and addresses.

The Bible Treasury is the official Bible Game book. All verse-answers, as provided by the rules, must be selected from this book. Readers are under no obligation to buy it, but, if they desire, a copy may be had for 50 cents at the office of The Constitution—or for 54 cents by mail.

For the convenience of contestants who have lost, mislaid, soiled or mutilated any of their pictures, an ample supply of duplicates is being kept on hand. These duplicates, printed on heavy white paper that will take ink without blurring, are 5 cents apiece, the individual price of the issue of The Constitution in which each picture was published. Any 8 pictures may be had for 30 cents, 40 pictures (half the series) for $1.25, and the complete set of 80 pictures for $2.00. Back pictures are available at The Constitution office—or by mail, when 3 cents extra is included for postage.

Contestants may feel free to consult the Bible Game Editor at any time, by mail, in person, or by telephoning Walnut 6565. Reasonable questions will be answered gladly.

INSTRUCTIONS:

The total prize money to be awarded Bible Game followers is $1,800. The first prize is $1,000. The second, $400; the third, $100; the fourth, $75, and the fifth, $25. There are ten prizes of $10 each and twenty prizes of $5 each.

The prizes will go to readers who submit the eighty most appropriate verse-answers for the series of eighty pictures. No subscriptions need be obtained to qualify for any of the prizes, and non-subscribers are invited to take part. It is not necessary to register. There will be no essays to compose, letters to write, or extra pictures or puzzles to solve.

The Bible Game pictures and verse-answers are NOT to be submitted now. Wait until ALL of the pictures have been published, then bring or mail them in at one time, as a set.

Plan To Buy, Raze Homes Offered To Rehabilitate Realty Market

Federal purchase and destruction of dilapidated homes in order to rehabilitate real estate markets, beautify run-down sections or congested areas and provide adequate parks was proposed Wednesday to the Atlanta city planning commission as that body reorganized, electing Wilbur Kurtz chairman to succeed A. Ten Eyck Brown, resigned.

Walter S. McNeal Jr., chairman of the zoning subcommittee of the commission, made the proposal, citing the fact that the federal government has taken similar steps to stabilize cotton, meat and wheat markets.

A subcommittee of three, headed by McNeal and composed of Robert G. Lose and Dr. A. C. Ayers, was named to consider the matter and report at the next meeting of the commission, about two weeks hence.

"The federal government has taken similar steps to stabilize and rehabilitate cotton, meat and wheat markets," McNeal said in presenting the matter to the board. "I do not insist on any action. I do think, however, it is a matter of far-reaching importance. I have given it much study and believe it feasible and that it would be of great value.

"Many sections of Atlanta are what we might call 'run down.' There is a superfluity of homes and residences. Realty values in Atlanta have dropped many millions in the past three years. Many investments are not paying taxes. Such a move would be a long step in rehabilitation of real estate, it would enable provisions for parks, would react generally to improve properties and insure a fair return for the investments made on them.

"It is just as reasonable to destroy old houses as it is to plow under young and growing cotton. Real estate owners are among the hardest hit persons of the entire nation. I think the federal government would consider seriously such a proposal. It might be more far-reaching than we are able to see at the present time. I know it would be a stimulus to investments and construction generally.

"If such a plan were adopted, owners could be reimbursed on the basis of insurance carried or on a fair appraisal."

Lose was selected as vice chairman of the commission as it was reorganized, and McNeal made chairman of the zoning subcommittee.

When Worlds Collide

By EDWIN BALMER & PHILIP WYLIE

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

As David Ransdell is approaching New York on the liner Europa, he receives a succession of radiograms offering him first $1,000, finally $20,000 from the first bidder, for an exclusive newspaper interview divulging the mission that brings him from South Africa. Ransdell, war flyer and now flying the mails, has been secretly commissioned at Capetown by Lord Rhondin and Professor Bronson, the astronomer, to fly the length of Africa and then across the Mediterranean to the fast liner, with a large traveling case containing photographic plates. He knows only that the plates have been taken by the great telescopes in South Africa of regions of the southern sky never visible in the northern hemisphere. His instructions are to deliver them to Dr. Cole Hendron, celebrated physicist, in New York, and to answer no question on the way. The manner of Lord Rhondin, financier and patron of science, and Professor Bronson, has impressed him with the importance of his mission. When Tony Drake calls at the Hendrons' penthouse apartment, he finds some of Eve Hendron's friends dancing there but gets her alone on the terrace. She says he may kiss her but mustn't propose again, although there is nobody else. Douglas Balcom, senior member of Tony's Wall Street firm, drops in and asks Tony what shot the market to pieces—if he knows anything about the news from South Africa. Ransdell arrives and Eve asks Tony to start her guests home as she has to help her father with some astronomical measurements and checkings. She introduces Tony to Ransdell. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

A contrast to some of those men—among them men who were called the greatest in the nation—whose voices rose loud again behind the closed doors.

Someone—she could not identify him from his voice, which ranted in a strange, shrill rage—evidently was battling her father, shouting him down, denying what had been laid before them all.

The ranting and shouting offended her; she wanted to go to her father's aid; not being able to, she went to Tony.

"Somebody," said Tony, "seems not to like what he has to hear."

"Who is he, Tony?"

"Somebody who isn't very used to hearing what he doesn't like . . . Oh, Eve, Eve! My dear, my dear! For the first time in my life, I'd like to be a poet; I wish for words to say what I feel . . ." The sudden unmuffling of the voices warned them that a door from the study had opened; someone had come out. It was her father. For a few moments he stood regarding them, debating what he should say.

"Father," Eve said, "Tony and I—Tony and I—"

Her father nodded. "I saw you for a few seconds before you realized I was here, Eve—and Tony."

Tony flushed. "We mean what you saw, sir," he said. "We more than mean it. We're going to be married as soon as we can—aren't we, Eve?"

"Can we, father?"

Cole Hendron shook his head. "There can't be marrying or love for either of you. No time to tell you why now; only—there can't."

"Why can't there be, sir?"

"There's going to be altogether too much else. In a few months, you'll know. Meanwhile, don't spoil my plans for you by eloping. And don't go on doing—what I just saw. It'll only make it harder for both of you—as you'll see when you figure out what's before you. Tony, there's nothing personal in that. I like you, and you know it. If the world were going to remain, I'd not say a word; but the world cannot possibly remain. We can talk of this later."

The study door again opened; some one called him, and he returned to the argument in the next room.

"Now," demanded Tony of Eve, "what in the world, which cannot possibly remain, does he mean by that? That we shouldn't love and marry because we're going to die? All the more reason for it—and quicker, too."

"Neither of us can possibly guess what he means, Tony; we'd be months behind him in thinking; for he's done nothing else, really, for a half a year but plan what we—what all the human race—will have to do. He means, I think, that he's put us in some scheme of things that won't let us marry."

The argument in the room broke up and the arguers emerged. In a few minutes they all were gone; and Tony sought Cole Hendron in his big study, where the plates which had come from South Africa were spread upon the table.

There were squares of stars, usually the same square of stars repeated over and over again. There seemed to be a score of exposures of the identical plate of close-clustered stars.

"You were downtown today, Tony?"

"Yes."

"Today they took it, didn't they? They took it and closed the exchange, I hear; and half the businesses in town had a holiday. For they've known for quite some time that something has been hanging over them, hanging over the market. This morning we half told them what it is; and they thought they believed it. Just now I told six men the other half—or most of it—and—and you heard them. Tony; they won't have it. The world won't come to an end; it can't possibly collide with another world, because—well, for one thing, it never has done such a thing before, and for another, they won't have it. Not when you dwell upon the details. They won't have it. Tomorrow there'll be a great swing-back in feeling, Tony. The exchange will open again; business is going on. That's a good thing; I'm glad of it.

"The trouble is, men aren't really educated up to the telescope yet, as they are to the microscope. If a doctor took a bit of cell-tissue from any one of those men who were just here, and put it under the microscope, and said, 'Sorry, but that means you will die,' there isn't a man of them who wouldn't promptly put his affairs in shape.

"None of them would ask to look through the microscope himself; he'd know it would mean nothing to him.

"But they asked for Bronson's plates. I showed them; here they are, Tony. Look here. See this field of stars. All those fixed points, those round specks, every single one of them is a star. But see here; there is a slight—a very slight—streak, but still a streak. There, right beside it, is another one. Something has moved, Tony! Two points of light have moved in a star-field where nothing ought to move! A mistake, perhaps? A flaw in the coating of the plate? Bronson considered this, and other possibilities. He photographed the star-field again and again, night after night; and each time, you see, Tony, the same two points of light make a bit of streak. No chance of mistake; down there, where nothing ought to be moving, two objects have moved. But all we have to show for it are two tiny streaks on a photographic plate.

"What do they mean? 'Gentlemen, the time has come to put your affairs in order!' The affairs of all the world, the affairs of everyone living in the world. Naturally, they can't really believe it.

"Bronson himself, though he watched those planets himself night after night for months, couldn't really believe it; nor could the other men who watched, in other observatories south of the equator.

"But they searched back over old plates of the same patch of the sky; and they found, in that same star-field, what they had missed before—those same two specks always making tiny streaks. Two objects that weren't stars where only stars ought to be; two strange objects that always were moving, where nothing 'ought' to move.

"We need only three good observations of an object to plot the course of a moving body; and already Bronson succeeded in obtaining a score of observations of these. He worked out the result, and it was so sensational that, from the very first, he swore to secrecy every one who worked with him and with whom he corresponded. They obtained, altogether, hundreds of observations; and the result always worked out the same. They all checked . . ."

"Eve says she has told you what that result is to be," Cole Hendron said.

"Yes," said Tony, "she told me."

"And I told these men who demanded—ordered me—to explain to them everything we had. I told them that those specks showing on the Bronson plates were moving so that they would enter our solar system, and one of them would then come into collision with our world. They said, all right. You see, it really meant nothing to them originally.

"Then I told them that, before the encounter, both of these moving bodies—Bronson Alpha and Bronson Beta—would first pass us close by and cause tides that would rise 600 feet over us, from New York to San Francisco—and, of course, London and Paris and all sea coasts everywhere.

"They began to oppose that, because they could understand it. I told them that the passing of the Bronson bodies would cause earthquakes on a scale unimaginable; half the inland cities would be shaken down, and the effect below the crust would set volcanoes into activity everywhere, and as never since the world began. I said, perhaps, a fifth of the people would survive the first passing of the Bronson bodies. I tried to point out some of the areas on the surface of the earth which would be comparatively safe.

"I could not designate New York or Philadelphia or Boston. . . . They told me that tomorrow I must make a more reassuring statement."

Cole Hendron gazed down again at Bronson's plates.

"I suppose, after all, it doesn't make much difference whether or not we succeed in moving a few million more people into the safer areas. They will be safe for only eight months more, in any case. For eight months later, we meet Bronson Alpha on the other side of the sun. And no one on earth will escape.

"But there is a chance that - few individuals may leave the earth and live. I am not a religious man, as you know, Tony; but as Eve said to you, it seems that it cannot be mere chance that there comes to us, out of space, not merely the sphere that will destroy us, but that ahead of it there spins a world like our own which some of us—some of us—may reach and be safe."

Tony took Dave Ransdell home with him. The South African wanted to "see" New York.

When Tony woke his first thought was of Eve.

To have held her close to him, to have caught her against him while she clung to him, her lips on his—and then to be forbidden her! To be finally and completely forbidden to love her!

Her father not only forbade that joy; he denied its further possibility for them. And her father controlled her, not merely as her father, but as a leader of this strange society, the uncanny power of which Tony Drake was just beginning to feel: The League of the Last Days!

A pledged and sworn circle of men, first in science all over the world, who devoted themselves to their purposes with a sternness and a discipline that recalled the steadfastness of the early Christians, who submitted to any martyrdom to found the church. They demanded and commanded a complete allegiance. To this tyrannical society Eve was sworn. . . .

Tony found Ransdell at a window of the living room. The morning paper was spread over a table.

"Hello," said Tony. "Kyto tells me you've been up awhile and have had breakfast. You've altogether too many good habits."

The South African smiled pleasantly. "I'll need more than I have for a starter, if I'm joining the League of the Last Days," he observed.

"Then you've decided to?" asked Tony. It was one of the topics they'd discussed last night.

"Yes. The New York chapter, for choice."

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 136

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

When Tarzan made the astounding declaration that he had never before seen Jean Parker, young Holt stepped angrily forward. "What sort of game is this, fellow?" he exclaimed. Impulsively, Jean put a restraining hand on his arm. "Wait, John," she said.

Tarzan ignored Holt's threatening gesture. He was more puzzled than they were. Who were these two people? He remembered only the avalanche that had halted his journey to regain Lady Jane at their home. It seemed to him that he had just now awakened after a few hours of unconsciousness.

All that had happened in the meantime was erased by this new accident to his brain. Tarzan was himself once more—the Lord Greystoke who had taken part in the winning of the war against the Reds, and not the naive jungle youth whom Jean Parker had found and come to love.

Jean knew instinctively that some tremendous change had taken place in Tarzan. This was not HER Tarzan. She spoke to him gently: "What has happened?" "I don't know exactly," said the ape-man, "but it matters little. Now I must go on to find my wife." Jean gasped. "Your wife!"

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Charges of disorderly conduct against Patrolmen G. W. Richardson and G. M. Haley, which were preferred by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant after the two policemen engaged in a spirited fist fight at Hunter and Forsyth streets Tuesday morning, are scheduled to be tried in recorder's court this morning. The hearing, to have been held Wednesday, was checked over.

Maurice Russell will deliver his weekly astrological lecture at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the rooms of the Azoth library, Marion hotel. His subject will be "Attributes of Gemini." Admission is free and the public is invited.

W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue in Atlanta, Wednesday made public a notice from the internal revenue bureau in Washington pointing out that none of its employes is authorized to indorse or approve any particular accounting or bookkeeping system. The notice called attention to several cases in which business concerns have been solicited to purchase particular forms for the keeping of records for federal tax purposes.

Ben T. Hulet, recently appointed a member of the Georgia public service commission, will be entertained at a watermelon and ice cream party Friday evening at Grant park by his friends in the third ward, which he represented in city council for several years. Governor Talmadge has been invited to speak and numerous state, county and city officials are expected to attend.

Two internationally known Baptist leaders will visit Atlanta in September, it was announced Wednesday by Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church and Georgia member of the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention. Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport, La., president of the Southern Baptist Convention, will preach here September 10 and speak at meetings held on two following days. Dr. Herman Liu, president of Shanghai University, Shanghai, China, will deliver addresses in the Druid Hills Baptist church September 18.

Large delegation of American Legionnaires, headed by the drum and bugle corps of Atlanta post, No. 1, is planning to attend the national convention of the American Legion in Chicago October 2 to 5. The drum and bugle corps will be wearing new uniforms and beating new drums.

Judge Charles W. Worrill, of the Pataula circuit, Cuthbert, will preside over an emergency criminal division of the Fulton county superior court during the week of September 11. He will assist Judge John D. Humphries in disposing of nearly a score of murder cases.

Contempt proceedings against J. W. Vandhitch, barber, charged with violation of an injunction preventing him from cutting hair for 25 cents in violation of the NRA code specifying 40 cents were dropped Wednesday. The injunction, however, was continued against him by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton county superior court.

Atlanta City Employes' Association Wednesday was $1,601.62 richer from a dividend check received from a group insurance policy. Riley F. Elder, president of the organization, anounced the check would be applied to reduce future premiums.

Revival services sponsored by the young people of Nellie Dodd Memorial church are being conducted at the church with Rev. S. Lawrence King, of Emory University, in charge of the preaching. Services begin at 7:45 o'clock every night. The public is invited to attend.

James L. Duncan, of Atlanta, has been elected head of the Episcopal young people of the province of Sewanee for the second consecutive year. Mr. Duncan is a junior at Emory University.

Harry Scott Arnold and Stokes Appling, the former admittedly a fugitive from the Fort Bragg (N. C.) prison, were bound over to federal court under $2,000 and $1,000 bonds, respectively, Wednesday by Commissioner E. S. Griffith on charges of transporting a stolen automobile from Virginia to Palmetto, Ga. The men were taken into custody by I. T. Bentley, chief of police at Palmetto, and G. C. Bentley, of the Fulton county police department.

George Motte Martin, who was removed from Clayton to the Angel Brothers hospital at Franklin, N. C., for an emergency operation for appendicitis, is improving steadily and expects to return to Atlanta soon.

United States civil service commission announced an open competitive examination for the position of loom fixer in the United States penitentiary in Atlanta. Applications for this examination must be on file with the manager of fifth United States civil service district, Postoffice building in Atlanta not later than September 7.

Prison commission announced it would not hold its usual clemency hearing next Monday because of the Labor Day holiday and the closing of the state capitol. During the first week of September, hearings will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Another hearing on an appeal for clemency for Ross Hatcher Jr. and Charles Haden, of Macon, sentenced to death for an attack on a young white woman, is to be held before Governor Talmadge Friday. The governor recently, after a hearing, instructed attorneys to present him briefs. The prison commission has recommended commutation of the death sentences to life imprisonment.

Atlanta Opportunity school announced a change in the registration date to August 31. Hours of registration are from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Class work will begin September 8, with instruction in all commercial subjects as well as in manual training.

Morningside Civic League will meet at 7:45 o'clock Friday night at the Morningside school on Rock Springs road. T. C. Tate, vice president of the organization, will preside over the meeting, the feature of which will be an "open house" for aldermanic candidates. They have been invited to present their views on municipal government to the gathering.

John M. Slaton, former governor of Georgia, and a member of the firm of Slaton & Hopkins, Wednesday was elected a member of the general council of the American Bar Association at the association's annual meeting at Grand Rapids, Mich. One of the council's duties is the nomination of the president of the association.

MACHADO RETURN ORDERED BY CUBA

Former Army Officers Also Summoned Back "For Active Duty."

HAVANA, Aug. 30.—(AP)—An order for former President Gerardo Machado and six other retired Cuban army officers to report back for active duty was issued tonight following a cabinet session at which President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes said he would study the question of effecting immediate constitutional reforms and would do "as the people wish."

The seven former officers either have fled into exile or gone into hiding since the revolution which toppled over the regime of Machado.

"Although the significance of this order was not immediately brought out, it was recalled that plans for the extradition of Machado and of some of his former associates have been discussed in Cuba.

The order was made public by Horacio Ferrer, former army leader, who was appointed today as secretary of war. He explained that should the men fail to return within a reasonable time they will be classed as deserters and charges brought against them.

In political circles this action was interpreted as an answer to demands by all opposition factions that a general shake-up be effected in the army.

Machado served a long time in the army before entering politics, his service dating back to the Cuban war for independence. He later was an inspector of the armed forces.

Officers Named in Order.

The officers named in the order in addition to Machado were General Alberto Herrera, former secretary of war and the navy; Colonel Carlos Machado, former senator and brother of Gerardo Machado; Lieutenant Colonel Ramon Guerra, former senator; Major Generoso Campos Marquetti, former representative; Captain Enrique Machado, former senator and cousin of the former president, and Brigadier Ibrahim Conseugra, former palace major-domo.

Another decree signed by the new secretary recalled to active service four officers retired with the rank of colonel who will comprise a supreme military tribunal which will serve as a court of last appeal in all cases brought against members of the armed forces for alleged offenses during the Machado administration.

They were Julio Morales, Miguel Barona, Eduardo Pujols and Leandro de la Torriente.

The cabinet members interpreted the president's reference to the constitutional reforms as meaning that he will yield to the demands of all the factions supporting the administration and call for the election of delegates to a proposed constitutional assembly in the near future.

Previously it was learned authoritatively that elections to choose delegates to the assembly probably will be held next January 24 coincident with the general elections in which all elective offices will be at stake.

Justices To Get Pensions.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Interior Carlos Saladrigas announced that the eleven justices of the supreme court who resigned last night would be retired on pension.

The supreme court has been under fire for two weeks by revolutionary groups because of what these organizations described as a failure to declare the regime of former President Gerardo Machado unconstitutional.

Juan F. Edelman, appointed chief justice of the court last week, was the only member of that body holding office. A decree postponing the opening of the fall term indefinitely was being prepared.

President De Cespedes appointed Castillo Pokorny secretary of agriculture replacing Rafael Santos Jimenez, who is retiring to accept another post.

Colonel Horacio Ferrer, retired chief of the army medical department, was named secretary of war and the navy replacing Pokorny. Ferrer was one of the leaders in the army uprising which resulted in the downfall of Machado. He was mentioned for the provisional presidency but declined.
